Election Spotlight Turns To Ontario

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 3 — (AP) —The election spotlight has turned to Ontario, where the province-wide voting Monday has eclipsed for the moment the campaign for the Dominion election a week later.

The Ontario vote, which may provide a clue to the national poll June 11, will be watched with keen interest because all three national parties have been as active there as they have been in the federal campaign, although the platform issues have differed widely.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King will spend the last week of his campaign in Eastern Canada, speaking at Saint John, N.B. Tuesday and in Ottawa next Friday night. There is a possibility he will address a meeting at Quebec Wednesday.

John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, is heading east for more speeches in Quebec and Ontario after his western tour while M. J. Coldwell, national C.C.F. leader, is moving into the west for his campaign there.

Mr. King spoke only once during the week, at London, Ont., where he called the Opposition parties to produce their programs for the future and to indicate the men they would place in the cabinet.

In reply Mr. Bracken said in a platform address his difficulty would not be to find men but to select from the wealth of cabinet material he would have in the Progressive Conservative ranks.

Mr. Bracken charged that Mr. King, through his trade policies, had "contributed materially" to Japan's war preparations by selling base metals, lumber and other Canadian equipment to the Japanese even up to the time of Pearl Harbor.

85TH ANNIVERSARY OF ZION CHURCH

Zion Congregation celebrated its eighty-fifth Anniversary Services yesterday with large and enthusiastic congregations present. Members and friends from both city and country districts joined heartily in the services of thanksgiving to God for his never-failing presence and His continued blessings throughout the many years of ministering to the spiritual needs of the parish.

Messages of greetings and goodwishes were read by the minister, from Rev. T.J. Ibbott, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church on behalf of himself and the congregation and from Mr. James R. Compton on behalf of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Charlottetown. The congregation deeply appreciated these gestures of good will.

The minister, Rev. G. Carlyle Webster conducted the services for the day and preached appropriate sermons. In the morning he spoke on the theme "The Witness of the Church", taking as his text the words of Timothy 3:15. "The Church of the living God, the pillar and ground of truth."

He paid tribute to the faithful and noble pioneers of the congregation and spoke of the great heritage they had handed down to the present generation. They had builded better than they knew and had given us a real challenge to carry on the work of Christ today. "It must be recognized as a fact that many people in modern times", he said, "have little or no concern for the Church of Christ. But this is not the atmosphere of the New Testament. There must be a new awakening to the significance and function of the Church", he continued. "It is the church of the living God. God himself has brought it into being. It is a community divinely created by God and He himself is the source of its sustaining power. However, He calls men and women into its fold that they may bear witness to the saving, guiding and keeping love of Christ."

To this end the Church is called upon to bear witness first to the spiritual realities, second, in the life and character of its members. At the heart of Christainity lies the great truth that God through the life, passion and abiding presence of Christ, can recreate men and give them new hope and desires. And in the third place to the self-sacrificing service of its members. In closing his remarks the minister called upon all members and friends of the congregation to re-consecrate themselves in the service of Christ's church.

In the evening the theme was "The Voice of the Son of God". The sermon was based on the text John 5:25. "Verily, verily, I say unto you, the hour cometh, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and they that hear shall live."

The music for the day was under the direction of Mrs. Edwin C. Jinstone, organist and choir director. It included a solo. "My Task" capably sung by Mr. Roy Smallman. The young ladies' ensemble rendered effectively, Malottes, "The Lords' Prayer". In the evening Mrs. Arthur Roper sang in her usual fine manner Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" and the choir gave a splendid rendition of the anthem, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" Gounod.

It was with regret that the minister announced the resignation of Mrs. Johnstone as organist and choir director. He paid tribute to the splendid service given by Mrs. Johnstone during her eight years as leader of music and spoke of the fine relations that had always existed in the choir under her capable leadership.

A pleasing feature at the close of the evening service was the presentation of a beautiful basket of flowers to Mrs. Jane Gillis, who is in her 96 year and who has been a loyal member of the congregation for seventy-one years. Mrs. Gillis was present at both morning and evening diets of worship.
