—LET HIM ALONE

The mistake that most young wives make, says a married man, is not to recognize that a man is never so happy as when he is left alone.

It is when he feels that someone is doing the utmost to make him happy "fussing over him," as he calls it, that he becomes unhappy. It takes the average girl who gets married a long time to realize this, and that is why the first year or two of wedded life is often so trying.

She naturally thinks, in her innocence, that her loving inquiries and advice, her never-failing solicitude and attention should be appreciated at their true worth.

She feels that the way she worships over his wants would send him into the seventh heaven of delight to think there should be anyone in the world who cares so much for his well-being.

But that only shows her inexperience in the handling of men. Instead of making a man happy by such thought for his welfare the young wife is really doing her inconstant utmost to promote his misery.

So the girl who wants an untroubled, harmonious existence with her life-partner should as quickly as she can learn the gentle art of letting him alone.

ANOTHER CUT IN RAILWAY PAY?

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—There are important rumors in railway circles to the effect that officials of the major companies are contemplating another 12 per cent reduction in wages, which, if put into effect would entirely abolish the increase of 25 per cent awarded them in 1920.

A meeting of officials concerning this proposal is reported to have taken place last night.

Nothing definite can be learned from the companies. Union heads have not yet been approached.

COMPULSORY SALES POOL

WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND, Jan. 14.—The New Zealand meat pool conference presided over by Premier Massey, today adopted a resolution supporting the principle of compulsory pooling of sales. A commission was appointed to bring this proposal either wholly or in part into operation during the present season.

Formerly it was the rule that if there was a well on the premises the fact had to be proclaimed by a square board market with a sign 'do' meaning a well. This was in order to show where people could obtain water in case of fire. Such a regulation is still in force in country places but as water is now being laid on in pipes it is no longer necessary in the cities.

GLENGANNING SCHOOL

Christmas closing at Glenganning School was held on Dec. 23rd. The large attendance of the ladies and gentlemen testified to the interest taken in the children and school, also to show gratitude and appreciation to Miss Kathleen McGeie, who is without doubt one of the most painstaking teachers of P. E. Island.

The pupils were examined in the various subjects by their teacher, Miss McGeie, assisted by Daniel Campbell and Mrs. John Reville, and showed wonderful talent from the oldest to the youngest child in school, giving the parents the pleasing impression that their children were being careful and painstaking teaching. Special mention may be made concerning the reading in all classes. This was exceptionally well done, and much credit is due both teacher and pupils for their splendid work.

After the examination there followed a programme. The opening song by a number of pupils, "Oh Canada" followed by some beautiful recitations, drills and a well acted dialogue entitled "The Marvellous Doctor", which caused a great deal of laughter from start to finish.

Viola music was furnished by Mr. Wilfred Roach and Messrs Angus, Mike and Roy McGilivray, accompanied with the music to perfection.

This was followed by a visit from Santa Claus, who unloaded the Christmas tree of its gifts, candies, etc. A very abundant supply of homemade candy was distributed to all present by the teacher.

Remarks were then made by Messrs. Daniel Campbell and Patrick Fogarty, who congratulated the teacher on her success, and were well pleased to see that the pupils were advancing so well.

Mr. McGeie of Sturgeon was glad to see that keen interest was taken in the school work by the parents, which was shown by the large number present.

The examination was then brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

SOLDIERS' SETTLEMENT BOARD

Agnes C. Laul, writer in the "Veteran" of the favorable impression held in United States Government circles of Canada's efforts to re-establish ex-service men, especially on the land. The article is headed "Pointing the Way to Uncle Sam's Milk Lane says:—

"As I reached the hotel, I ran into that dear old American citizen among women, Ida Tarbell, who had just finished serving as President Harding's Unemployment Conference under Mr. Hoover. And to my sister, who asked me to go to the world to rob him of his job on his return, I would commend the report of that Conference, and the chart I have worked out from it, as his bearing on Canada. The job was not here for him because, in many cases, his former employer had had to shut down to escape bankruptcy, or the banks were carrying him and the banks in Canada at least has laid off 20 to 30 per cent of their staffs.

"Miss Tarbell and I had hardly got our keys to go up to our rooms when there literally rushed down on her a young officer, who had charge of unemployment among soldiers. 'Miss Tarbell' he burst out, 'in heaven's name can't you do anything for us? I have found these fellows with broken service buttons homeless on the park benches, hungry, last night, four hundred returned men in New York State alone have suicided! And so on and on, and on.

"I went up to my room very proud of my native land's record, yet terribly sad. We sat talking late into the night. We could see Washington's Monument peering through the river mists into the sky pointing to dim, far stars, like our hopes dimmed after the war.

"For the young officer's sorrow was on us like a cloud. Somehow, this was has been too damnable for tears.

"We shall not live to see the end of it all," Miss Tarbell said. "No; but we shall see the beginning of a New Day."

"This was through a crucifixion and thought there was to be an immediate resurrection to a millennium."

"But don't forget between the crucifixion and the resurrection, the temple was rent in twain and darkness fell on the earth. Don't you think we are passing through that period now before the dawn?"

"Of course! And she asked me the details of how the Soldier Settlements were working out as to women; and it was because of what I had seen in Soldier Settlements from the Hinderlands of Ontario to the Pacific Coast that I wanted to endorse Canada's policy to the returned man as the best and most generous in the world, the best and most generous in spite of kicks, in spite of errors made in the launching of any new project. If Canada could do these things, then the financiers and the diplomats must do these other things necessary to put the world back on a stable basis."

"When I contemplate the financial state of the world today, I feel as if we were all looking over and holding the trembling edge of a precipice into a black Peace. I haven't a fear in my pit. When I contemplate how Can-only we hold in Peace and the aid went 'over the top' in the war what we gained in War."
