GERMANY'S LATEST NOTE TO THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Germany's latest note to the United States on the sinking of the American sailing ship William P. Frye by the Prinz Eifel, Friedrich received here today makes the far-reaching claim of a right to destroy any American vessel carrying contraband while agreeing to pay damages for the act.

Two points made by the United States are rejected by Germany. One was the statement of the American government in its note of April 23, that prize court proceedings meant unnecessary delay, and matters concerning being susceptible of prompt settlement through diplomatic channels and the other was that the destruction of the Frye was "unquestionably a violation of the obligations imposed upon the imperial government under existing treaty stipulations between the United States and Prussia."

The effect of Germany's answer today, if its assertions are accepted by the United States, would be to throw into the prize courts for decision all cases of whether destruction of an American vessel constituted an extreme case of military necessity.

The German answer insists that the stopping of supplies to an enemy belligerent may be effected by the destruction of the ship carrying the contraband, without violation of treaty obligations. It contends that a prize court is necessary to fix the amount of compensation and that there is no occasion for direct diplomatic negotiations on the case unless the prize court should fail to award compensation.

The obligations of a belligerent to pay compensation remains, regardless of the action of the prize court, the German note contends. It should the prize court fail to award compensation, Germany would undertake to arrange equitable indemnity. As a precaution and a preliminary procedure Germany suggests that the American claimants enter their claims on record.

SHEEP DIPPING.—Mr. Leo McDonald has had excellent success in sheep dipping these last few days. On Monday and Tuesday he dipped upwards of five hundred and fifty sheep, and the prospect is that before the week is completed he will have pretty well on to 1,500 through the vat. He also reports an increased interest in sheep through the section through which he is travelling, due, no doubt, to the excellent prices of lamb and wool and to the value of sheep as weaned stock. Mr. McDonald uses every opportunity to explain to the public the provisions of the Act of the Sheep Breeders' Association, particularly in reference to the insuring of sheep. Grade sheep can be insured at one cent a piece and Pure Bred sheep at three cents each. The result is that pleasant truths which would be unpleasing to the districts that dipping is being done, are insuring their sheep. On Saturday Mr. McDonald will give a demonstration at the farmstead of Mr. E. C. Holm, DeSable.

We, the undersigned merchants of Hunter River, have agreed to close our respective places of business at 7.30 each evening except Saturday, commencing Monday, June 21st, until further notice.—D. M. McLeod, G.H. McGuigan, Noy Holman and Gillis. Dated June 14, 1915. 1450-6-17MEII.

GERMANY'S JOY HAS FADED; SHORT WAR EXPECTED BY THE ENEMY

AMSTERDAM, June 15.—Instructive glimpses into the condition of feeling among the people of Southern Germany are provided in an article contributed to the "Handelsblatt," of Amsterdam by a special correspondent who appears to have been favored with special opportunities for observation. It seems hardly likely that the article has passed the German Censor, for it contains some plain truths which would be unpleasant in Berlin. "Possibly it was written when the writer was safely back in his own country. He points out how very deceptive is the "window-dressing" which is universally practiced nowadays in the hearts of things as they are in the ranks of the shopkeeper and business people of the middle class.

"A GOOD TIME COMING."

When the war broke out he was told, these people had been convinced that in a very short time the trouble would end and a solid golden age would dawn from them. Now all such anticipations have been given up, and a listlessness, indifference, has taken possession of very many. With deep bitterness one such tradesman remarked that "only Army contractors and parasites" were having the good time that was promised to all. The comparative success of the first German war loan, floated when the spirits of the people were still high, was secured by the aid of a vast newspaper campaign in which the subscriptions were looked on as loans soon to be conquered and "squeezed." The same argument has lost its power long ago. Instead, it is now shouted from the house-tops that Germany has not needed a moratorium. But as no money process can be taken against men under arms of men doing military work of any kind, and as practically every able-bodied man is so engaged, the whole population is, in effect, under cover of the strongest possible moratorium.

SOMEBODY'S OPPORTUNITY.

Only the Army contractor flourishes. He appears in many forms, often only as middleman anxious to bet his profit out of the State. Indeed, the profits that the people are beginning to scent some pretty high scandal in this direction. Goods often pass through several hands, each time at an enhanced price, before they actually become the property of the notion—at the highest price of all.

The famous "machine" jams now and then, it would seem, when profits and commissions replace the oil of patriotism. The suppression of critical voices is becoming almost impossible, intense indignation is felt by very large bodies of men who, on returning home for short periods of rest, have been disgusted at the scanty provision allowed by the State to their wives and families.

FEARFUL OF FUTURE.

Lastly, there are many who are looking forward and are trying to picture the condition of the widows, orphans and incapacitated men when the fighting is done. There are plenty of people who have some knowledge of the conditions in which such people existed after the war of 1870, and many are quietly expressing their fearful anticipations. If people in these circumstances were badly neglected after 1871 when comparatively small numbers were involved, what will be the fate of hundreds of thousands when this vast struggle is finished.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions, and are responsible for the readiness with which many people contract disease. For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. Get Hood's. No other medicine acts like it.

THE PRINCE EDWARD

There is always a strong appeal in a child's acting, especially if it is carried through in a natural manner. The leading role in "The Angel of Canyon Creek," the big five-part Vitagraph Broadway Star Feature shown at The Prince Edward last night was enacted by a child of tender years and carried through in a manner that would have been a credit to the greatest screen star.

The play is most entertaining, as the title would indicate, morally uplifting. It is a story of an orphan who drifts into a mining camp among rough characters of all descriptions. He is adopted by one "Parson Bill" and when Bill will not coincide with his religious views he decides to become a tough. He treads the downward path in his tender years. The Morrisons, who have befriended the waif after his mother died arrive at Canyon Creek, take the "Angel" in hand and with his regeneration practically the whole camp turn over a new leaf. The acting in the play is most excellent. The many different characters are represented remarkably true to type. The scenery is a special feature, being beautiful and further embellished by splendid photography.

It is a play that both old and young will enjoy and remember alike. It is bound to have a strong moral uplift. An excellent picture play "When the Spider Tore Loose" was also on the programme at the Billie Ritchie in a howling burlesque entitled "The Death of Simon Legree." The popular ballad "Sympathy" was excellently rendered by Mr. Edwards and enthusiastically received. The same programme will be repeated to-day at all three shows, afternoon and evening.

NEW AEROPLANE DESTROYER

ROME, May 25. (Correspondent of The Associated Press.)—An Aeroplane destroyer designed for attacking dirigible airships has been perfected in Italian Government workshops during the past few months. It is an enormous machine, with three separate engines, and with a total energy of over 250 horse power. The aeroplane combines the tractor and pusher type of machine—that is, those which are drawn along by an air screw in front, and those which are pushed by an air screw behind.

It consists of the bodies of two ordinary tractor biplanes, placed side by side and as much apart so that there is room between them for the propeller of a third engine. Each of the two main bodies has its own engine and tractor screw in front, so that it looks at first like two ordinary tractor biplanes flying hand in hand.

On the section of wing which joins the two bodies is placed the body work of an ordinary pusher biplane, with the engine and propeller behind. In this way the body projects well forward in front of the screws of the other two engines, so that it can carry a gun of considerable size and still have a clear field of fire forward, backward, and on both sides without danger of hitting its own screws or wings.

The tail ends of the two bodies are joined together by a very large tail stretching from one end to the other, so that actually all parts of the machine are in proportion. The big machine is capable of lifting a huge cargo of bombs large enough to be certain to destroy a Zeppelin if they hit it, and even capable of doing serious damage to a battleship.
