

IMPORTANT READING MATTER SELECTED FROM THIS WEEK'S NEWS FOR THE GUARDIAN'S SATURDAY SUBSCRIBERS

MONDAY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Michael Ladefly, City, took place yesterday morning from her late residence, Sydney St., by road to the Fort Augustus Cemetery where interment was made. The services at the church and grave at the latter place were conducted by Rev. Allan McDonald. The funeral was largely attended.

The death of Earnest Champlain at the early age of 15 years has cast a deep gloom over his home in Barruley. He was a bright active boy, strong and always quite well until late in April when he was suddenly stricken with a severe form of typhoid fever. Despite all that medical skill and nursing could do, he passed away early on Thursday morning of last week, deeply laments by a large circle of relatives and young people. In the absence of Mr. Bute, the funeral service was very impressively conducted on May 12th by Rev. H. J. Fraser of Summerside. By this sudden death of a young man a great blessing is sent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Champlain.

From time to time telegraphic items here have announced devastation and destruction by forest fires in other parts of the world and it has been remarked that this Province has not escaped any of this kind of disaster, especially of a sweeping nature.

On Saturday, however, two distinct fires occurred at Brackley Point and Winslow which have resulted in the destruction of thousands of dollars worth of property, including one house, three barns and much valuable timber.

The blaze started at Winslow about ten o'clock on Saturday morning, raged all day and was not quenched until yesterday at daylight. About eighty men were engaged in the fight, using water and clay in their efforts to wash and beat out the flames. Their work was rendered extremely difficult by the high wind prevailing and by the exceedingly dry condition of the woods which was rapidly consumed. In all about seven acres of woods were destroyed and everything in the path of the blaze was swept away. Tents and buildings being consumed while the most energetic steps were being taken to extinguish the flames and prevent further devastation.

The origin of the fire at Brackley Point is said to have been the dropping of a lighted match in the woods. It ignited some dried leaves and the flames soon reached such proportions that it was impossible to overcome without fire-fighting appliances. About 150 men were engaged in the fight. By 11 o'clock the blaze had been brought under control. The loss was a valuable barn and timber which he values at $1,000. The house was saved. Six or seven acres of timber land was swept clean in the path of the flames. Thirty men fought the fire and finally succeeded in getting it out.

The greatest devastation was on the Portage Road where a fire began there about ten o'clock Saturday morning. There about sixty acres of land was cleaned off a house and two barns belonging to Richard Chandler were burned to the ground. Mr. Chandler saved all his furniture and stock, losing none of the contents except some harness. His loss though is a very heavy one, there being no insurance on the buildings.

The fire burned over the properties of Albert Chouhore, Richard Chandler, Mrs. Ling, Gideon Gallant, Thomas Carr and Neil Robinson and buildings in many instances were in imminent peril, only being saved by the prompt action of the fire department. About fifty men fought the blaze and worked steadily until four o'clock yesterday morning.

The need of rain is keenly felt in the country districts and it is certain that a rainfall a few days previous would have saved the timber and verdure as to afford a measure of protection against an occurrence of this kind.

The fire has had its evil effects and these are some irreparable. Out of evil oft comes good and from this

Baby Nearly Died with Itching Rash

Mrs. M. C. Matland, of Jasper, Ont., tells in the following letter of her child's remarkable cure by the Cuticura Remedies:

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and watery. I tried everything I could but he would not get better. I had to wash his head with Cuticura Soap and put on an application of Cuticura Ointment and he was soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took but one box of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies. He shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago and there has been no return of the trouble."

(Signed) Mrs. M. C. Matland, Jasper, Ont.

No more convincing proof of the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies could be given. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient, and throughout the world, Potter, Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A. severe lesson it should be learned that at all times, and more especially in a period of drought such as is now being experienced in this Province, the utmost care should be exercised to guard against a conflagration. A fire may start from a minor source and may be attended with devastating results—as was the case yesterday.

For the second time this year the Prince Edward Island Railway has suffered loss by fire, this time at a large station at Mount Stewart Junction becoming a prey to the flames when, on Saturday afternoon it was ignited by a spark from a passing engine and was totally destroyed.

The fire started after the departure of the last train from that station at about four thirty and was not noticed until about five o'clock when station master E. J. McTearne discovered that the platform near the waiting room was on fire. On going into the office he found the place filled with smoke. He immediately gave the alarm and sent a message through to the Charlottetown office asking for an engine to be sent out to save the cars lying on the sidings. When discovered the fire had made great headway and its location, under the platform and the station itself, made it a decidedly difficult blaze to fight. Despite the difficulties encountered, however, large numbers from the village as well as some of the steammen who happened to be around set to work with a will and assisted Mr. McTearne in saving the property of the railway and his household goods as well as fighting the fire. This proved quite a task, facilities for the work being of the very poorest kind as is usual in country stations. Water had to be hauled to the scene and the supply in this case could not have been as large as was to be desired. A fresh south westerly wind fanned the flames and in one and a half hours the large station and freight shed was a mass of ruins.

Mr. McTearne is to be congratulated on his success in saving all the baggage, freight, cash, books, working records, tickets, etc., belonging to the railway, nothing but the building itself and some old books being destroyed. His personal loss consists chiefly of a valuable piano and a large kitchen range, these two articles being of such size that it was impossible to remove them before the flames reached the second floor. With the assistance of those who so kindly helped in the emergency the balance of the household goods was saved. It is not known whether there was any insurance on the furniture destroyed but there was none on the station.

The building destroyed was a large station and freight shed with a residence for the station agent on the second floor. The original station was composed of the present gentleman's waiting room, the offices on the first floor and the residence on the second. The ladies waiting room was comparatively new as also was the freight shed.

This morning a baggage car will be sent out to Mr. McTearne and will be fitted up for Mr. McTearne to be used as a ticket, freight and telegraph office temporarily. The telegraph service between Charlottetown and Souris and Georgetown is out for the present but this trouble will be remedied in a very short space of time when the men get at work.

Death under any circumstances is attended with pain of sorrow to the bereaved ones for their departed friends. Its decrees, stern and immutable, are difficult to bear more especially when it marks as victims those still in the prime of life. Such was the case in the death of Mrs. J. L. Domless, which took place at the P. E. Hospital on Sabbath, May 7th. When the sudden tidings of her departure from life became known to her many friends throughout the province, every person sympathized with the tender hearts so sorely tried, in this, their hour of no ordinary bereavement.

Deceased, who was the third daughter of the late Hon. Peter Sinclair, of Summerside, was twenty-one years of age, and a bride of but seven months. She was in her usual robust health up till ten days before her death, when she was seized with a serious illness. Medical aid was immediately summoned, when she was removed to the P. E. Hospital where all attention was given her, and although apparently recovering, she died on the morning of the seventh inst she quietly passed from this world to the Great Beyond.

Three years ago she attended Charlottetown Business College, from which she duly graduated with honours. While at her studies there, and during her sojourn in Charlottetown as a bride, she gained the affection of a number of friends, many of whom so kindly called to enquire of her during her last illness. It was her pleasing countenance, her cheerful disposition, constantly making those around her feel that life, although won for her the system of all with whom she became acquainted; and which caused her to be looked upon with a deep and tender love by her husband and the different members of her family, who will deeply mourn the loss of a devoted wife, a dutiful daughter, and a kind and affectionate sister. When in her youth, she became a member of Summerside Presbyterian Church, and her daily life has always testified to the depth of her faith. Not only on the bed of sickness the light began to shine, but it had long burned with a clear and steady flame. Those who were most intimately acquainted with her were the most assured that to her "to live was Christ, and to die was gain." The patience with which she bore her brief illness exhibited in no ordinary degree the loveliness of her Christian character. Her's was the first break in a family of eight, besides her heart-broken husband and mother she leaves to share their irreparable loss three sisters—Mrs. Major Lowther, Searletown; Mary and Amy at home; also three brothers—John of Summerside; Archie of Calgary, Alta.; and Norris and Peter at home.

On Monday a short service conducted by her pastor (Rev. R. G. Strathie) was held at her home, 120 Cumberland St., after which the remains, followed by a large concourse of people, were forwarded to Summerside. The interment took place on the following day at two p. m., the service being led by her former pastor (Rev. John Murray) who very tenderly and touchingly referred to the beautiful life, consistent example and victorious death of the departed. After the solemn service the procession slowly marched to the cemetery, and the silent tears of relatives and friends, and the silent compassion of an assemblage, comprising all denominations, the remains were laid to rest aside those of her sainted father, who had gone before.—Com.

JUST ONE CURE FOR ANAEMIA

It is Through the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make

There is just one cure for anaemia—more rich red blood. Anaemia is simply a bloodless, run down condition. Then the body becomes weak from overwork, worry or illness, an examination of the blood will show it to be weak and watery. The common symptoms are paleness of lips, gums and cheeks, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, dull eyes and a loss of appetite. Anaemia itself is a dangerous trouble and may pass into consumption. It can only be cured by making the blood rich and red, thereby enabling it to carry the necessary nourishment to every part of the body.

It is a proved fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands and thousands of cases of anaemia. They are really intended to make new rich blood and are compounded in the most scientific manner with the finest ingredients for the blood known to medical science. These are not a cure-all. They are intended to cure only those diseases that have their origin in poor, watery blood, and starved weakened nerves, and the record of their success in doing this is their constantly increasing popularity in every part of the world.

"As a matter of duty I wish to say a word in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for what they have done for my daughters, one 16 and the other 18 years of age. Both were pale and bloodless and suffered from many of the symptoms of anaemia. They would tire easily, suffered from frequent headaches, were easily discouraged, and often fretful. I saw in our home paper the story of a young girl who had similarly suffered and was cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought three boxes of the pills, my daughters started to take them. Before they were done they began to feel better and look better, and I got half dozen more boxes, and by the time these were used, they were enjoying the best of health, with rosy cheeks and not like the same girls at all. I also gave the pills to my little boy who had rheumatism, and they completely cured him." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

On May 16th the bay trotting mare owned by James A. Campbell, Pisiquid East, foaled a very large and well made foal got by the American bred trotting stallion Kinross. Mr Campbell is very proud of his new arrival, and says it "can't be beaten." Needless to say Mr Campbell is breeding her again this season to Kinross the coming sire of P. E. Island. For size, style, activity and breeding this horse cannot be excelled.

Last evening in St. Peter's Cathedral Canon Simpson read the pastoral letter from the House of Bishops on the No. Tenure Decree and offered explanations of the letter.

The letter from the House of Bishops is as follows:

"We the Archbishops and Bishops of that branch of the Roman Church known as the Church of England in Canada, do hereby greet the faithful in Christ Jesus."

"Whereas, the minds of many have been greatly disturbed by a decision in the courts of the Province of Quebec annulling a marriage between two members of the Roman Church, solemnized by one authorized by the Solemnized Office at marriages and by enforcement of the decree known as the 'no-remar' decree by the Bishop of Rome;

GRAVE-CIVIL INJUSTICE

"Whereas we believe the said decision to be contrary to the Christian ideal of marriage and to be in its consequences destructive to the home life of the people:

"We deem it our duty to address you upon this subject,

"We desire to remind you that the Anglican Church in Canada has ever taken the strictest view regarding the sanctity of marriage. It is a holy ordinance, instituted by God and is the formation of our social and family life. The Church and State must unite to guard the marriage bond, and to preserve its indissolubility. To this end our General Synod has decreed that no clergyman of our Church shall officiate at the marriage of any divorced person during the lifetime of the former partner in the marriage.

SOLEMNITY OF MARRIAGE.

"It is most desirable that those who enter the holy estate of matrimony should realize its solemnity and have due regard to its blessings and mutual responsibilities. We greatly deplore the lowering of the ideal and purposes of many quarters. It is of the greatest moment that those who enter into this estate should be married by a clergyman of the Church before proper witnesses, and, wherever possible, in the church building, and that they should be in agreement concerning their religious convictions. Mixed marriages are ever to be deprecated, as they deprive husband and wife of that mutual help which the one should be to the other in life, and make the religious training of the children in the home most difficult.

"Nevertheless, we emphatically assert the validity of such marriages when duly solemnized, and we maintain that once consummated they are indissoluble.

"No marriage should be annulled because of the divergent religious convictions of the party; nor because of the ecclesiastical connection of the one solemnizing the marriage. CHURCH AND STATE MUST UNITE

"The Church and State, though separated by law, must unite in protecting those who have been married by a duly competent officer, authorized by the State for the solemnization of marriages, and in upholding their civil status and rights. Nor should the State permit marriage to be anulled for an ecclesiastical offence, or because it is a contract to the Canon law of the church of Rome, or contrary to the laws, rules, and regulations of any religious organization whatsoever.

"At the same time, we fully admit the right of any ecclesiastical or religious body to make and enforce such spiritual penalties as may be in accordance with its own rules; but without impeding or interfering with the civil status of the parties concerned.

OPINION ON CIVIL LAW.

"We do not desire to express any opinion upon the civil law. We leave that to our final court of justice. But we would remind you that decisions of various judges have differed upon this question in the Province of Quebec. It is in the interest of all our citizens to have the law clearly defined.

"Whatever may be the proper interpretation of the existing law, it is of the greatest importance that there should be one uniform marriage law for the whole Dominion.

"In conclusion, we urge upon all the duty of safeguarding in every way the sanctity of marriage, and we deprecate and deplore all interference with legally sanctioned family life, as well as with justice, impartiality, and suffering to the parties concerned, but as impeding the fundamental basis of our social system.

"We commend you to the grace of God, and pray that His Holy Spirit may in all things direct and rule your hearts.

"Signed on behalf of the House of Bishops of Canada.

former merchant of the Islands, who was suffering from an internal abscess. Mr. Turbide passed away Saturday, his condition on the Doctor's arrival having been beyond relief. Dr. Conroy reports that splendid catches of herring are being made at the Madgalen Islands, and there are a great many American vessels at the Islands looking for bait. The Lady Sybil was detained 48 hours on her return trip owing to fog and was forced to lay at anchor at Grand entry. She arrived in Souris about noon yesterday.

The inquest at Murray River before Coroner Dr. Barnes touching the death of Mrs. William Molyneux occupied the most of the day on Saturday.

Mrs. Molyneux died on May 4th. She was thirty-five years of age. At first it was considered that an inquest was unnecessary and a permit for her burial was granted to Rev. B. O. Hartman, Methodist clergyman of Montague by Hon. Mr. Hazard, then Attorney General, pending an investigation. Certain rumors of foul play having reached the authorities Premier Palmer, at once ordered the body to be examined, an autopsy performed, and an inquest held.

The autopsy was performed on Friday by Dr. Brehaut, and the inquest held with the above result.

At the conclusion of the jury brought a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Molyneux came to her death by hanging or strangling but whether by her own hands or by another's is not known.

The jury was composed of the following:

Thomas Cook, (foreman); Charles Dufney, John Stymest, Fred Brehaut, Roderick Egan, William Grant, William Kearney.

It appears that the deceased and her husband did not get along very well together and there seems to have been constant bickerings.

According to the evidence of Saturday on the day of her death Mrs. Molyneux had gone to the house of Henry Campbell a neighbor who is a Justice of the Peace to apply for protection. Mr. Campbell was not at home at the time. In the evening Mr. Campbell went over to the Molyneux house to see what was the trouble. He found the house in darkness and the children crying. One of them told him that their mother was hanging to a rope in the closet.

Mr. Campbell decided to go over to the house of the nearest neighbor, Finley Melbeth, in order to have another witness and together they returned in a few minutes. They found the woman's body hanging as stated by the children, the baby clinging to her mother's skirt.

They cut down the body which had been suspended from a rope made fast to a roller over the door.

Mr. Melbeth had started to send for the coroner but it seems that this was not done as it was stated by some person or persons afterwards that this was unnecessary.

Several rumors in circulation since the sad affair occurred caused the authorities to take action and have the body exhumed.

An autopsy was performed and Dr. Brehaut, in his evidence at the inquest, testified that he found insignificant bruises on the forehead, cheek, nose and chin. The skin was slightly bruised under the left ear. The only serious bruises were about the neck. The uppermost one extended from ear and was evidently made by the rope. There was one below this, which started three inches below the right ear, passing in front of the neck, and terminating two inches to it is hard to say what caused this lower mark. It was decidedly the more distinct of the two. He didn't think any rope could have caused it.

Just below the lower mark was a bruise about 1 1/2 inch on the right side of the neck. It looked as if it might be made by a medium sized hand.

Mr. Molyneux the husband of the deceased testified that he had that day been speaking to his wife about the funeral of a neighbor, Angus McPherson, and she said to him that she would soon be with him, the deceased. Coming home from work that evening he put the children to bed and then went away on horseback about eight o'clock and did not return till eleven when he learned of his wife's death.

FISHERMAN TELLS INTERESTING STORY

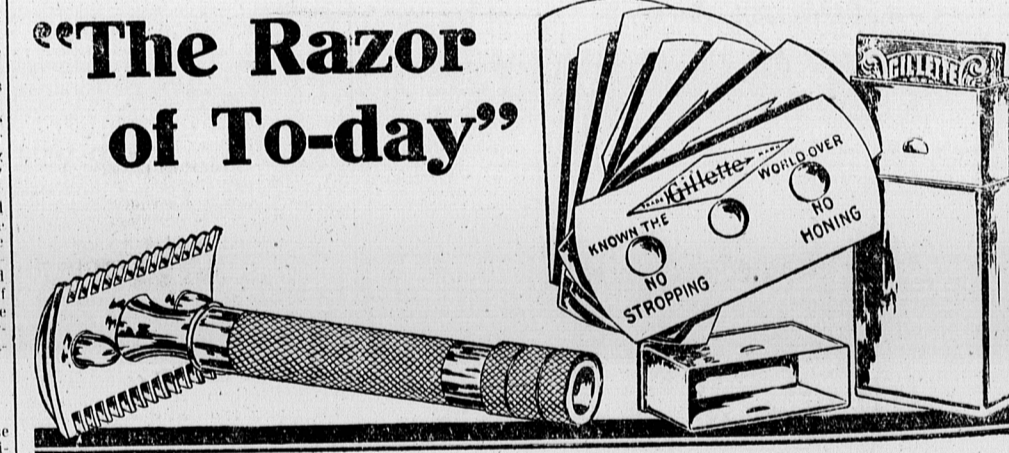

Fodd's Kidney Pills cured His Rheumatism and J. -bago

Strain and Exposure, Eight on Troubles That Caused Five Years Suffering, but Fodd's Kidney Pills Fixed Him Up.

Clam Bank Cove, Bay St. George, Nfld., May 26 (Special).—Among the fishermen here Fodd's Kidney Pills are making a name for themselves as a remedy for those ills that the cold and exposure bring to these hardy people. The kidneys are always first to feel the effects of continued strain on the body, and as Fodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys they are gaining a wonderful popularity. An example is the case of Mr. J. C. Greene.

"My trouble," Mr. Greene states, "was caused by strain and cold. For five years I suffered from rheumatism and lumbago. I was always tired and nervous. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and the pains of neuralgia added to my distress. "I was in a very bad shape indeed when I started to use Fodd's Kidney Pills, but I am thankful to say that they gave me relief. It is because I found in them a cure that I recommend Fodd's Kidney Pills to my friends."

"Others here give the same experience. They were racked with pain and feeling that life generally was a burden. Fodd's Kidney Pills made new men and women of them."

"The Razor of To-day" GILLETTE Blades Are Harder—Keener—Smoother—Than Forged Razor Blades

Before the GILLETTE was invented razor blades were all forged. That is, a piece of mild steel was heated and hammered out till it took the form of a razor blade. Every heating, every hammering, changed the hardness of the steel a little—how much, no man could tell, but more in some parts than others, because these parts were hammered out more.

Naturally, to temper perfectly a blade of such uncertain and uneven hardness is impossible.

In making GILLETTE blades we start with an ingot of steel, too fine in quality to stand forging, whose composition we know by analysis. We roll this out to the thinness of the finished blade, then stamp out the blades ready for tempering. The composition of the steel is not altered by the rolling and stamping as it is by forging, so that each blade comes out not only even in texture throughout, but of the same quality as every other blade. As our patented automatic tempering process tempers each blade through and through in precisely the same way, the finished blades have an even, uniform hardness which cannot possibly be equalled in forged blades.

Two of the hardest, keenest, smoothest shaving edges the world has ever seen are found on each and every GILLETTE blade. Not only is the GILLETTE the safest, quickest, most convenient and only adjustable razor, but it carries the best edge. That is what interests the shaver most.
