Rev. William Harrison of Dorchester, N. B. has accepted the invitation extended to him by the Corwall Circuit, subject to the action of the Conference.

The Christmas services at St. Peter's Cathedral will be Holy Communion (plain) at 7.15 a. m. and 8 a. m. Holy communion (fully choral) with processional at 11 a. m.

Owing to the persistent agitation of Reddin Bros., the popular Victoria Row druggists, the Post Office authorities have placed a letter box in front of their drug store.

In the list of officers of Court Avondale, I. O. F. yesterday morning the names of S. E. Hodgson, Paat Chief Ranger and Fred Renouf, Recy. Secy. were inadvertently omitted.

ANY musicians who would like to assist in making the dinner for the poor on Christmas Day a success are asked to furnish music during the afternoon on the piano at Armour's parlors where the dinner is held.

LAST night Miss O'Grady of Gauvin, Genzel and Co received a telegram announcing that her father Thomas H. O'Grady had been injured in an accident at Kentville and was sinking rapidly. There were no further particulars. Miss O'Grady left last night by the special for Summerside en route to Kentville.

The Kindergarten at St. Paul's School-room conducted by Misses Barrett and Dutcher was a bright picture yesterday morning, the occasion being the closing exercises for the Christmas holidays. The program given by the little ones was thoroughly enjoyed by those present and very creditable to those in charge. At the close the presents on a heavy laden Christmas tree were distributed among the children.

At West Kent yesterday appropriate closing exercises were held in the primary rooms. Recitations were given and candy was distributed by Santa Claus. In the higher grades the pupils were given a gramophone concert and a barrel of apples given the whole school. Principal Newton was presented with a writing desk; Ira J. Yeo with a toilet set and watch chain; A. D. McArthur with a chair; V. Crockett with perfume, books, etc. The other teachers were also remembered.

A BAR-KEEPER now conducting the saloon on the premises of Andrew Doyle and named William McGann, was summarily "yauked" yesterday afternoon for violation of the Prohibition Act. On Tuesday afternoon a few drunken men were seen on the streets and the enquiry naturally arose as to who was dispensing the liquor so openly. At one o'clock yesterday officers Doyle and Walker captured McGann at the bar. He came up for trial at half-past two. He was represented by A. J. B. Mellish. The evidence of Mark Horton and Vincent Mahar clearly established his guilt and he was fined $100 and costs.

The St. James S. S. Xmas tree and entertainment last night was a decided success under the chairmanship of David Small and was largely attended. The choruses and recitations were worthy of special mention and reflected great credit on Mrs Morrison and Miss McKennie and while it would be invidious to particularise special mention must be made of the piano solo by Miss Fannie Gill who displayed great talent for one so young while the song by Master Jack Gordon brought down the house. Santa Claus distributed a liberal supply of candy, oranges and apples and after a hearty vote of thanks the children dismissed with usual good order.

MOORE & McLEOD.

IN THE SOB OF A LITTLE CHILD.

Peel out, glad chimes of Christmas,
Ring clear and loud and wild,
That none may know the utter woe
In the sob of a little child—
A child that was born to sorrow,
A child that is pinched and lame,
Who watched through the flight of a desolate night
For the Christmas that never came.

Dreaming his griefs fell from him
The hunger and aching pain
Left never a trace on the little face,
And the smile came back again
For the vision of new-found treasures,
The joy and the glad surprise
He had longed to know, and yearned for so
Went dancing before his eyes.

But dreams are brief, and the waking
Brought only the chamber bare,
And a little form in a cruel storm
Of grief, lay tossing there,
The beautiful visions were shattered
And the beautiful hope lay dead
And never a light from Heaven that night
Shone down on that little bed.

Oh, mothers, with laughing children,
And fathers with glad-faced boys,
Each year add more to their goodly store
Of wonderful, costly toys.
Can you not spare just a moment
On this picture of grief and pain,
And give your mite ere Christmas night
That this child may smile again?
