

Edwin Johnstone
SAYS:
Life Insurance is one of the earliest of social co-operative movements; social because it protects the individual and his immediate dependents; co-operative because the science of Life Insurance can function only when it is co-operative, by using the combined resources of the many. Life Insurance is soundly based. When you are insured your dependents are soundly protected.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

FALLING OF THE LEAVES
By Henry J. King
Falling, falling, the flying leaves swirl down,
From the spreading boughs of the porphyra trees;
Their glory shorn from limb and lofty crown,
They bow and sway before the Autumn breeze.
Year after year alike, they clothe the trees
In myriad green and yellow, gold and red;
They cling their source of life in the warm sun,
Then withered, fall to earth bereft and dead.
"If a man die shall he ever live again?"
Cried a great soul, besieged with death and fear;
To all mankind, there comes the Lord's refrain;
"I am the Resurrection and the Life."

LINCOLN'S SECRET
(November 19th will be the 80th anniversary of Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address. In connection with the observance of this occasion it may be well for us to recall also this other important hour in Lincoln's career—Ed.)
One of Lincoln's biographers tells us that the hardest experience in his public career was the delivery of the famous inaugural address of the Civil War. He was about to break, and there was nothing that could avert the conflict. The hall of the Senate was packed, and one of her sons lying dead in the White House, and the other a death's head with the greatest crisis in the history of the nation upon him, he arose and spoke with a distinctness, a calmness and a fearlessness, which made the men and the women who heard him feel that they were in the presence of a miracle.
They do not know that before leaving home that morning Lincoln had taken down the Bible, and with the awful shadow of the darkest period resting on his heart had conducted family worship as usual, and had then asked to be alone. In the silence of his room he fell upon his knees (pleaded with God, that He whose rule sustains the world should guide and strengthen him that day, and overrule his worst and his own glory. That was the secret of Lincoln's power. He had taken time to seek the Lord, and the heart of God. He believed and did not make haste.
The Presbyterian HEALTH

We would not tolerate a plague of snail-pots, etc. We would bring all our powers to bear to stamp it out at once.
However, there is one grave evil that is being done, and that is the destruction of mankind possessing powers that destroy man—body and soul—The Liquor.
Dr. Haven Emerson, Professor Emeritus of Columbia University, and Dr. Emil E. Rign of California, who both declared that "No poison either initiates or aggravates so many diseases as does alcohol in the vast majority of cases, and that it is a major tragedy, and sink against the kingdom of God."
This thing must be recognized and that is that Alcohol is a Narcotic Drug more dangerous than opium. The British Medical Research Committee, the highest scientific authority, states: "The evidence supports the conclusion that the direct effect of alcohol upon the human system in all stages and upon all parts of the system, to depress or suspend functions, is from first to last, a Narcotic Drug. All other narcotic drugs are sold under the strictest supervision, while this flows forth like water from a factory in England, 4,800 employees are total abstinents with a remarkable record of less sickness per 1,000 than others as the following will show: "Per 1,000 drinkers there were 183 cases of sickness compared with 6.9 per 1,000 abstainers."
Careful social studies in England reveal that the most frequent sufferers from alcoholic diseases are found in the upper and middle classes.
However, in society generally a considerable toll of sickness is traceable to drink. There are chronic diseases, there are debilitated conditions, to which it ministers.
Both the experience and attitude of our insurance companies point to an intimate relation between indulgence in alcohol and disease, and even the shortening of life.
Then, when we consider that a portion of the occupants of our asylums for the insane is due to drink.
CENTRAL UNION
"Important Things" was the title of an address by Rev. P. J. Thacker at the home of Mrs. L. Bratt Tracing the Temperance Movement to the present time, Mr. Thacker said: "We must always fight for a worthwhile cause. "We were in danger of forgetting the hard battle to get the ballot, and should therefore use it effectively. Women have equal rights with men, but they had not claimed their rights. The speaker wished there were more Carrie Nations, and urged the W. C. T. U. to put women candidates in the field for library, church, school boards, and city councils, etc. "When we got prohibition we went to sleep while the brewers worked and then burned the tide of public opinion." This was being one now by beautiful pictures in magazines with brewers name attached.
Mrs. W. Lowborough gave a reading and the Misses Shirley and Ina Grain, prize winners in the Sunday School Temperance Course played piano duets. Thirty-five dollars were paid towards the budget, and an annual subscription for placing the tidings in the Y.M.C.A. Business Men's Research Foundation of U. S. funds 400,000 saloons and 300,000 other establishments selling legal liquor. There are 2 drinking places to every church, 3 to every school, 7 to every family. Do we need to look further for the cause of the increase in juvenile delinquency, venereal diseases and crime? Are we much better in Canada? Is it not time Christians began to do some serious thinking?

BOSTON, England—(CP)—Mrs. Mary Smith, 85, received instructions to report for work of national importance but it was just a mistake. The papers were meant for the wife of an army officer by the same name who lodged in her home long ago.

British Delegation to Pay Visit to Canada

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP)—Envisaging a post-war world of stability and security for primary producers, a six-man delegation from the National Farmer's Union of England and Wales Scotland and Ulster will visit Canada late this month to talk over with the Dominion Agricultural leaders just how this object may be obtained. Practical farmers all, these six already have set out on their mission which they hope will promote co-ordination and co-operation among the agriculturists of the empire. Their first stop will be New Zealand, then Australia, with Canada their final port of call before they return to Britain to report to the N.F.U. on what steps must be taken to realize their post-war aims.
At a meeting here just before they left the delegates explained what their trip was about. It would be they said, a personal mission with the object of exploring means of co-ordinating the efforts of farmers in Britain and in the Dominions.

Leading the delegation to the Dominions is James Turner, at 36, the youngest vice-president in the history of the N.F.U. His primary interest is mixed farming and on his 320-acre Suffolk farm he grows sugar beet, potatoes, cereals and is also a milk producer and grower of prize hogs.
S.O. Ratcliff, one-time president of the N.F.U., will be investigating the seed situation as this branch of farming has long been his foremost concern. Chairman of the seeds committee of the N.F.U. since 1941, he has 14 farms in Essex comprising 3,000 acres.
Horticultural representative of the group is Giles Tucker, chairman of the Essex Associated Fruit Growers, the highest fruit co-operative in Britain. He began his career at the age of 15 when, helped by his father, he started a eight-acre fruit farm. It now covers 200 acres.
The three remaining delegates are Geoffrey S. Brown, vice-reconomics officer of the N.F.U., and will look into the financial end of the dealings. William Young, senior vice-president of the Scottish Farmer's Union and George Irvine, deputy president of the Ulster farmers' Union.
