Foxmen Hold Enjoyable Dinner

Trophies are presented to winners at fourth annual Pelt Show.

About fifty foxmen, including ranchers and men interested in the industry attended the dinner last night at the Queen Hotel at Summerside. It was one of the highlights of the fourth annual Pelt Show. Mr. L. W. Hancock, Summerside, presided. Principal speaker was Mr. George Mayers of New York who did the honors. He told foxmen their exhibition this year was of a very high quality—better than they were a year ago when he also was judge in the fur market in the United States was not due to that country's entry into the war so much as it was to a 10 per cent sales tax which went into effect November 1. Prior to that date there was a heavy buying and a full market available. However, as soon as present stocks became depleted demand for fresh pelts was increasing.

The general outlook for pelt prices this year was "very bright," Mr. Mayers said. Probably there will be no further advance in price but demand would be good. Already there had been a 10 per cent advance over last year's prices at this time.

Mr. L. D. A. MacKinnon of Charlottetown, who was the next speaker, received a great welcome from the foxmen.

In a brief address Col. MacKinnon congratulated the winners of prizes and trophies on their success. He said he considered the display of pelts this year outstanding. Dr. C. K. Gunn, superintendent of the Experimental Fox Farm at Summerside described some of the experiments undertaken to improve the quality of the fur and to aid the fox ranching industry generally.

He said he received good co-operation from the Prince Edward Island Fox Breeders and Exporters Association.

Ranchers should do their part in keeping down the cost of production wherever possible, Mr. W. R. Shaw, deputy minister of agriculture for the province said in an address.

He considered this province should produce the best pelts in the world since so many men engaged in fox ranching here had grown up with the industry and knew it from top to bottom.

The trophies were presented by Mr. Hancock who then called for some of the winners and others for brief talks. Those speaking included: Andrew Perry, winner of the grand championship and reserve grand championship award.

It was pointed out by Mr. Perry was exhibiting for the first time at a pelt show. He had never exhibited at a live fox exhibition.

Other speakers included Messrs. Graham Rogers and H. G. Muttart, both of Summerside, Wilfrid Todd, Boston, Mass., D. O. Stewart, Summerside, and others.

Guests of Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John MacWilliams.

Mrs. Bertha Howatt, Cape Traverse with her daughter, Mildred and Greta, spent the New Year's holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Halliwell Stanchev.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, their little daughters, Helen and Kathleen, and Miss Marion Bell, all of Charlottetown, spent New Year's Day in Carleton.

O. S. Hensley MacDonald of Carleton, left Saturday morning for Charlottetown where he was in Canada. Before his departure he was presented with a handsome military ring, bearing the crest of the R. C. N. V. R. The ring was a parting gift from his friends and neighbors in Carleton, with best wishes for good luck and a safe return.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Stevenson of Carleton, have as their guests Mr. Melburn MacDowell of Carleton. Mr. Hayward Burrage, theological student at Mount Allison University, these young men, who had a trying experience during the recent Mount Allison fire, are thoroughly enjoying their stay in Carleton and are being warmly welcomed by the people of Carleton and Cape Traverse. On Sunday afternoon they took charge of the service in the United Baptist Church. Mr. Burrage conducted the service and Mr. MacDowell delivered an address on Home Missions taking as his text Thy Kingdom Come. This will be done. British ships, Planes raid Hellefjord

LONDON, Jan. 7.—(CP Cable)—Continuing flying Blenheim bombers rigged as long distance fighters took part in a naval and aerial raid on Hellefjord on the Norwegian west coast on Tuesday. The bombers pounded at targets in Germany, occupied France and on the Hellefjord coast.

A joint navy and Royal Air Force communiqué described the Hellefjord raid, the purpose of which was to intercept enemy shipping.

British forces entered the Hellefjord during the night and for some hours worked close inshore in the inner channels looking for prey. Officers and crew were seen in the ship of medium weight was sunk and two trawlers alongside a cannery factory also were sunk.

Shipping and air attacks were reported to have been restricted to avoid damage to the power in the Hellefjord area.

The raid was about 100 miles south of Vaagso Island where on Dec. 27 a commando force landed and destroyed a number of ships, oil tanks, ammunition stores and an industrial plant.

Three British bombers were missing in action during the last 24 hours on the coast of Norway, France, and German shipping off the Netherlands and Norway, Canadian bomber crews joined with the R. A. F., one of the navigators, PO. L. G. Burgoyne of Mahone Bay, N. S. in the attack on Cherbourg and returning aircraft were seen to drop colored fires—green, yellow and red—started in that great port.

Big Wellingtons were used by the Canadians as they plunged through cloud formations to hit at their targets. Anti-aircraft was reported to be light although there was some damage to the coast.

Activity was reported also by a Canadian Hudson squadron of the coastal command. The Air Ministry said that in an aerial raid on Monday two vessels were bombed by the squadron.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mill of Summerside spent Sunday in Kensington the guest of Mr. Mill's mother, Mrs. Henry Mill.

Mr. Ernest Robertson of Summerside spent a few days in Kensington the guest of Mr. Ingham McNeill.

The Charlottetown Sub-division of the League considered this a most worthy and patriotic project and ten dollars was voted as its initial contribution to the cause.

The latest communication received from the boys overseas expressed the pleasure they experienced in receiving our home newspapers which at read "from cover to cover—even the ads". A new list has been added to the "best" books in the Library, listed in the Basilea for the benefit of all desiring good literature—as reported by the Convener Miss Hilda W. Gillis.

Ways and means of providing funds to finance the various works of the League were discussed. It was decided that the Sub-division sponsor a dance the date of which will be announced through the press and radio. Mrs. J. E. Cullen is convener.

It seems he went buying, Spent all his time trying To keep from losing his roll—

But the story is sad— He spent all he had— And landed himself in the hole!

But the Guardian came to the rescue— With bargains worth looking into,

So the ending is gay We're happy to say, And MacDuff no longer gets gruff!
