LULLAY, THOU LITTLE TINY CHILD

"Lullay, Thou little tiny Child,
By, by, lully, lullay . . .
Herod hath charged his men of might
All children young to slay . . ."

This is the famous Coventry Carol, first used in 15th century Mystery Plays dealing with the life of Christ. It was sung by women of Bethlehem in the play, just before Herod's soldiers came in to slaughter their children.

Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem the cradle of world fame,
The birth place of the promised child to all mankind proclaimed;
That ancient rare and complex scene held naught for pompus eyes,
The swaddling bands and stable crib were born of sacrifice,
A sacrifice unequaled through the ages that are gone,
A glory that shall never dim in all the years to come;
The binding power that holds the world from hopeless grim despair,
And points the soul to peace and joy — to Christ — His Heaven — and care.

O little town of Bethlehem, when quiet was astir
Where Wise Men brought their gifts of Gold of Frankincense and Myrrh,
Where Shepherds quailed with human awe and marveled at the sight,
Until they learned that Christ had come and filled their plains with light;
And then came Angels bearing their golden harps and song,
And raised their heavenly voices o'er a keen exultant throng.
A time indeed when Heaven and Earth touched closely in accord,
To banish all remaining doubt and trust the promised Lord!

The chosen star of brilliance sped through the night-bound sky,
And vested in an unseen power it scaled the heights on high,
Until at last its race was run, its signal flashed to earth
Amid the scene of Triumph, the place of Jesus birth!

WE THINK IT TIME to put an end to the practice of giving "attic" gifts, those well meant trinkets that all too soon find their way to the attic or rubbish heap. We think it time to give instead—useful gifts — that serve as ever present reminders of your thoughtfulness and good taste. Holman's store on Grafton Street is full of just such practical gifts, and the Holman Home Plan of small monthly payments with no interest makes it easy to get the most for your money in sensible gifts. Less Than One Per Cent Turned Down

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP)—Less than one per cent of Canadian Soldiers whose chests have been X-rayed have so far been found unfit for service, according to a statement released tonight by the Department of National Defence.

The chest X-ray forms part of the re-examination given all members of the Canadian active service force following their enlistment and is one of many precautions taken to safeguard health of the troops and keep unfit men out of the service.

Up to the end of last week 54,120 X-ray examinations were carried out and from these, 31,010 plates were reviewed at defence headquarters in Ottawa. Some 308 men, less than one per cent were found unfit on the basis of the 31,010 plates reviewed.
