Ability To See Comfortably

The object of a modern eye service is to enable patients to see comfortably. That means seeing without strain on the eyes. And also the avoidance of many bodily results of eye strain. That thought deserves the consideration of all who are not certain of the condition of their eyes.

Fom India to Washington by Bicycle

The only sure way to get to the Boy Scout jamboree to be held in Washington, August 21, this year, is to ride there on your bicycle, as any boy would do. This is the philosophy of Jimmy Rustomgi Moody, 19, of Bombay, India, who arrived in San Francisco aboard the liner President Pierce on the last leg of a journey that started from his native town, May 6, 1934. Jimmy rode his bicycle to the seaport, then went to Australia, earning his way, then to New Guiana, the Philippines, Japan and finally to San Francisco. He will pedal across the continent to Washington.

Honor Contracts Investors Demand

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON, Aug. 2—Recent Ontario legislation authorizing cancellation of the power contracts with four Quebec waterpower companies and the effort of Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver to obtain a reduction of interest on that city's outstanding bonds, were adversely criticized by Chairman J. Davidson of the British Empire Trust Company at the company's annual meeting held recently.

Vanvouver's request for legislation permitting a reduction by half of the interest rate drew from Mr. Davidson the comment: "It is a pleasure to place upon record that the government of British Columbia, after full deliberation, refused to grant such power to the city of Vancouver. As at present advised I see neither reason nor justice in the attempt on the part of the city to shift its burdens from the shoulders of its own citizens, who have had the benefit of the money lent, on the shoulders of the bondholders."

Dealing with Ontario Mr. Davidson said in part: "The waterpower undertakings are public companies, whose shares and debentures are held by the investing public. The contracts in question were made by the Hydro-Electric Commission in anticipation of its further requirements for electricity; but it is immaterial to investors in Great Britain holding the securities of those companies in what circumstances or for what purpose these contracts were made. The province having made these contracts and money have been raised on the strength of such contracts from innocent third parties, it was the duty of the province to honor these contracts."

FATAL GRIEF FOR GOLFER

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Depressed at having to give up sport on account of ill-health, Frederick Charles Huxham, 74, retired civil servant, committed suicide. He was particularly depressed the day he sold his golf clubs.

A picnic party stopped at an orchard and filled their luncheon baskets with fruit. As they passed the farmer's house they slowed up while one of them called out.

We thought we ought to tell you we helped ourselves to your apples.

Oh, that's all right, answered the farmer cheerfully. I helped myself to your tools and spare tire while you were in the orchard.

Successful C.G.I.T. Camp At Canoe Cove

The largest and most successful Canadian Girls In Training camp ever held in Prince Edward Island came to a close last Saturday.

Seventy-eight campers and fourteen leaders spent ten glorious days at Canoe Cove under the direction of Miss Margaret Dobson, Physical Instructor at Mount Allison University.

The campers this year chose to be Indian Braves, and six tribes were formed for Bible Study and camp activities. The leaders or "Big Chiefs" were:—

Miss Alice Partridge, Charlottetown.

Miss Audrey Taylor, Summerside.

Miss Marion McLennan, Charlottetown.

Miss Isabel Brown, York.

Miss Claire Brehaut, Murray Harbor.

Miss Margaret Webster, Charlottetown.

At camp council Edith Whitlock was voted "Big Little Chief" of camp and Sally Walters "Tally Keeper". There were four successful issues of the camp "Tally" with amusing skits on both campers and leaders.

Interest groups were held by the following leaders:—

Camp Craft, Miss Alice Partridge.

Handicraft, Mrs. H. Cudmore, City.

Home Nursing, Miss N. Jamieson, City.

Sports, Miss Helen McKie, City.

Stars, Miss Audrey Taylor.

Music, Mrs. A. Roper, City, Miss Mary Ramsay, City.

Dramatics, Mrs. A. Roper, Miss Betty Rogers, City.

The commissariat of the camp was under the capable direction of Mrs. A. H. Duvar, City.

Substantial and attractive meals were prepared by our efficient cook Mrs. Mathews, ably assisted by Miss Mary Andrews.

The camp directors and campers wish to express their gratitude to Dr. E. S. Giddings who kindly volunteered to examine all the girls before, or early during camp. This is a precaution taken to insure the health and safety of all the campers.

The outstanding event of camp was visitors day when a special program was prepared for the benefit of the friends and relatives of the campers.

The program began with the introduction of the leaders, followed by group singing under the direction of Mrs. Roper. An excellent practical demonstration of bed making was carried out by Ada McLeod under the direction of the nurse, Miss Norma Jamieson. A special singing group, directed by Mrs. Roper, contributed two folk songs "The Skye Boat Song," and "Golden Slumbers." Two amusing playettes, "The Fatal Quest," and "The Lady of Shalott" were performed by the campers directed by Mrs. Roper and Miss Betty Rogers. Miss Helen McKie, sports officer, then took charge of the program, commencing with very effective pyramids and group displays followed by excellent competition in running and jumping. Owing to lack of time the water sports were postponed. All the girls did very well in their athletics and showed the result of careful training.

During the program, exhibitions of handicraft were on display in the dining tent. This interesting work was under the direction of Mrs. H. Cudmore.

Other special features of camp were the Initiation Ceremony when all new campers were given a warm welcome; the treasure hunt when all campers went to seek the treasure of the campers of 1934, the bacon bat, a pleasant picnic supper held on the shore, topsy turvy day, when certain campers were chosen by their followers to impersonate the leaders, who in turn took the places of the girls with amusing results; the treasure burying for the campers of 1936; and the closing ceremony when symbolic fires were lit from the central fire, representing the camp spirit which the girls carry back to their groups at home.

One special part of the program was the camp fire, when all campers gathered around the bonfire at dusk to sing together old and new songs. The camp was very fortunate in having Mrs. A. Roper to direct the singing and all will carry away memories of the gay songs learned at camp. Other contributions to the camp fire were the camp paper, short skits by the different groups, marshmallow toasts, and a letter written by Mrs. R. H. Rogers, President of the Provincial C. G. I. T. Board, who was at that time in England, telling the girls of her impressions of England and Scotland. As Mrs. Rogers was there for part of the Jubilee celebration, the letter was of special interest to all.

If one can judge by the tones of regret heard on all sides as camp broke up and the vows "to return again next year," then we may judge the camp was a very happy and successful one

P.W.C. Reunion At Canoe Cove

The occasion long dreamed of, yet scarcely hoped to be realized, came to fruition Wednseday, July 31, 1935, at Canoe Cove, when a goodly representation of the illustrious II Year P. W. C., Class of '31 met for its first re-union. (A number of students of other years were warmly received by the "elect", and participated in the day's performance.)

The first on the progamme was a "Mock School." A furious knocking with the pointer on the side of the school-house (a dilapidated old cook-house, fitted up with lobster traps for double desks) brought back pleasant (?) memories of former days,—and soon was seen approaching "children", dolled up in their best bib and tucker, for it was examination day.

With an emphatic tramp of her foot, and a heart piercing sonorous command "Order" which made the very rafters of the school-house tremble, a silence prevailed within the classroom comparable to King Tut's tomb, as the teacher, Miss Marge MacCallum, turned the examination of her ossified, petrified, and horrified pupils over to the Inspector, Mr. Norman C. MacLean. The inspector then drilled the pupils thoroughly in reading, 'riting and 'ritmetic,—the program being as follows:

1—Readin' (from College Times, 1931), Adele and Emma MacLennan and Margaret Woolner.

2—Spellin' — Ada and Kathryn Nicholson.

3—Analysis, Evelyn Woolner (College Times).

4—Duet, "Jack and Jill", Ada MacDougall and the teacher.

5—Bag Pipe Selection, Roy MacDougall.

6—Boy's Quartet, "Three Little Kittins", Jack Baker, Vernon MacQuarrie, Clarence Sample and Lewis Woolner.

7—Geography, Christina and Louis MacNevin and Stella Inman.

Special mention should be made of the Geography class, who by means of a "Knowometer," (an invention of the manual-training department) were able to answer instinctively and accurately the directions of the winds, the altitude, and the rise and fall of the tides.

The "Inspector" highly complimented Miss MacCallum upon the introduction of bag-pipe music into the school curriculum. The district was represented by Miss Isabell MacKinnon, Dannie MacKinnon, Jim Hall and Bus MacCannell, and all agreed that never before was there such an examination within the old school-house. Alistair MacLeod and Florence MacPherson arrived too late for the examination, and were severely chastised by their teacher, but by their agreeing to learn by heart, all of "Hiawatha" before next session, punishment was withheld.

School being now dismissed, games were participated in, and then all repaired to the open-air diner, where the "lobster trap-table," groaned 'neath its wait of delicacies.

After dinner came the boat sails, piloted by captains Dan MacKinnon and James Hall. For two hours we went rolling, bowling, over the bounding main, while the cod and haddock, enraptured and hypnotized, by the strains of the bag-pipes, arose frequently to the surface in hopes of beholding some of their kin from the olde countrie.

Following the boat-sail, for the next hour or so, the waters of Canoe Cove became a human aquarium. A "whoop" from the "cock" reminded us it was again time to refuel.

Following lunch, games were again indulged in, while a huge camp-fire was being built upon the beach. Here in the twilight, and by the light of the camp fire, we enjoyed a fellowship of story and song. The notable artist, Miss Adele MacLennan, by the swing of her baton, capably directed the great choir, and discouraged the intrusion of any presumptuous mosquito.

Mr. Vernon MacQuarrie held the rock-bound audience in a stage of admiration, awe and pathos, as he related his experience with the baby. Deeds of college day martyrdom, were related, by several present while others attributed what they now are and ever hope to be, to the moulding and livening influence of the faculty of good old P. W. C.

The singing of Auld Lang Syne, God be with you till me meet again, and a benediction by Mr. Norman C. MacLean, brought to a close a day of friendship and fellowship which shall not soon be forgotten.

We were glad to have as our guests during part of the day Dr. and Mrs. Lowry of Canoe Cove.

Next year we are planning on meeting at Cavendish and we hope that a greater representation of our class will find it convenient to attend.

CLOVE ORANGES

These are supposed to be a preventative of moths when hung in dress cupboards.

Tie the ribbon or cord which is to act as hanger firmly round the orange to get 8 even sized sections. You will find this easier if you flatten the orange slightly. Choose large even sized cloves and press them into the exposed rind as far as the stems will go and so closely together that their heads touch. Hang the oranges up and allow them to dry in the process of time. Or bake the clove-studded oranges before tying up.

LACY ITEMS

Collars are delightfully varied this year, both those of the frilly type and those of the plainer sort. White pleated lace makes a dainty neck trimming for an afternoon dress. Gloves to fit in with the same scheme have gauntlets of lace starched to stand out stiffly away from the wrists.

Linen collars that follow the lines of the revers of a coat and others that resemble a schoolboy's are youthful in appearance. Then there are sets of glazed chintz collars and cuffs, patterned if they are to trim a plain dress, and plain if they are to adorn a printed frock.

Wide collars of cape shape, made of soft georgette and edged with pleated frills can be added to a cotton washing frock and a sash of the same fabric can be substituted for a wide belt of patent leather.
