Woodstock, Ont. In this story R.J. Fraser, who is engaged on the Hydrographic Survey, relates interesting incidents of the eight months' stay of the party engaged in survey work in the neighborhood of Hudson's Bay and tells of an attack upon the Camp of Polar bears. He gives particulars of the fine trapping in which the party engaged and the excellent results of this portion of their work. The strenuous outward journey from Fort Nelson to Winnipeg supplies excellent reading. There is much variety in the other stories, both fishermen and hunters receiving due attention and stories and experiences from the far East as well as from the far West are included. They hunt on horseback in British Columbia showing the difference in the conditions between those prevailing in that Province and those existing in Eastern and Central Canada. There is much more of interest to every sportsman in this number. It could be found in every summer camp, no pleasanter companion for whiling away a pleasant hour is needed.
