"AWAKENED WOMAN"—The Guardian's new serial story is a little different, intensely human, and good summer reading. Don't miss the opening chapter starting later in the week.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.—Mrs. George H. Bell, Desha, wishes to announce the engagement of her daughter, Viola Grace, to William Harold, son of Mrs. Robert C. Bunting and the late Mr. E. H. Bunting, Wheatley River. Marriage to be placed early in August. L-169-7-31-11.

GAZETTED—Included in the list of appointments, promotions and retirements issued by the Defence Headquarters July 15, are the names of the following officers serving in No. 6 Military District: John P. Hillen, P.E.I. Light Horse, appointed to rank of Second Lieutenant (Supp.). Local military headquarters announces the following promotions pending N. D. H. Q. confirmation and publication in the Canada Gazette: D. E. Gallant, P.E.I. Light Horse promoted to rank of Captain (P.M.).

A VISITOR GETS THREE YOKED EGG—An interesting visitor to the province at present is Mr. Charles H. Rodd, retired building contractor, of Belmont, Mass., who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coles, North Main. Mr. Rodd is a native born son of Charlottetown, which he left fifty-five years ago, at the age of seventeen, to make his way in the world, beginning at the very bottom of the ladder in the city of Boston. Through hard work and by perseverance and determination, he rose to the top rung as a successful contractor, having erected many fine and costly residences in and around Boston. Mr. Rodd is the third Charles in direct succession, and as a son and grandson are also named Charles. There is now a Charles Rodd V in direct succession with the prospect of a Charles Rodd VI. So far as health is concerned, Mr. Rodd is in the pink of condition, evidenced by the fact that, since coming here he has cut 25 acres of heavy hay on the Coles home, and he loves the island, and has made not infrequent visits here where he has many friends. On one occasion he crossed from Montreal by airplane, taking 40 minutes. Alas, returning by rail and car ferry, the same journey occupied nine hours. He is a widower with four of a family, two of whom fought in the last Great War. Mr. Rodd had an interesting if not unique experience on his present visit. His hostess served him one morning with two eggs at breakfast, both of which contained three yokes. Two are not uncommon but three exceptional.

They enjoyed the few days in Summerside and Charlottetown and also visited the National Park and the Ann of Green Gables Museum at Cavendish. En route home they visited Mr. MacKay's brother, Mr. George MacKay and his sister, Mrs. Fred MacKay at Tatamagouche.—New Glasgow News.

health for a number of years, she was up and about as usual until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when she suddenly became ill. A doctor was called immediately and her condition was not regarded serious, but a few hours later she quietly and peacefully passed away.

She was a lady of sterling qualities, of kindly disposition and hospitable. Her valuable contribution to life is inestimable, yes, she will live on in the hearts of all those who knew her, because no one could meet and know her and not be very much benefited by the tranquil peace which radiated her life. She was an ardent lover of nature. The memory of her beautiful flower garden where she so loved to toil, will ever live in the hearts of all who knew her. She was 71 years of age, and a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church from early youth.

The passing of her husband only four months ago, her devoted companion for over fifty years, was a grief great for her frail constitution to bear. An only son, George, 21 years old, predeceased her 22 years ago. The sorrow for this cherished son at that time was so great that her recovery was very doubtful. Surviving is her only daughter, Gertrude, Mrs. Norman M. Oliver, who stood by her all through life, never leaving her, and doing all that loving hands could do to cheer and bless and comfort her. And her sudden passing was a very severe shock to Mrs. Oliver, who was with her to the last.

On the afternoon of June 3rd, a Use Minard's for dandruff.

short service was held at the home of the deceased which was concluded in the Alberton Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. Dr. John Keir Fraser, and was largely attended. The casket and church was profusely banked with flowers, which was so befitting for one so fond of them. Interment was in the family plot, Alberton, beside her husband and son. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Oliver in her double bereavement. L-168-7-31-11.

Island Lady Is Heroine of Hospital

She saved the lives of four babies who were born in the hospital during a recent epidemic.

Mrs. Katherine North, graduate nurse of the Brockton Hospital in the class of 1924, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prizell of New Haven, P.E.I., and who has been on duty at the maternity hospital for four years, made a valiant attempt to save the life of Mrs. Mattinson by the use of oxygen before the arrival of the fire and police departments with inhalators, but her efforts were unavailing. She did, however, take the four babies with the aid of Mrs. Mary Singleton, to Mrs. Singleton's home at 24 Centre street.

Discovery of the sulpho-dioxide gas escaping from the refrigerator in the kitchen on the first floor was made by Mrs. Florence Eaton, 79, mother of Mrs. Mattinson, who does the cooking in the hospital.

Mrs. North and Mrs. Mattinson were bathing mothers and babies on the second floor when they were summoned downstairs by the sound of a bell rung by Mrs. Eaton. Mrs. North noticed the peculiar odor of the gas as she was going down the stairs and when she entered the kitchen it was so strong she put her apron up across her mouth.

She guided Mrs. Eaton from the kitchen out a side door off that room as Mrs. Mattinson entered the room. She shouted to Mrs. North to telephone the refrigerator company and she pushed the large refrigerator to one side to pull out the plug of the electricity, thereby shutting it off.

Mrs. North telephoned the refrigerator company from the home of Mrs. Singleton and saw Mrs. Mattinson go out of the kitchen, around to the front door and upstairs to shut the doors of the rooms where the patients and babies were.

been fatal, permeated portions of the second floor of the hospital from where the four babies were being bathed and also in the room of one of the mothers, Mrs. Raymond B. Hatch, 160 Boksie avenue, who was also given oxygen but remained in bed.

Mrs. Mattinson Collapses

Mrs. North found Mrs. Mattinson in a state of near collapse when she went to the nursery and asked her if she cared for a stimulant. Mrs. Mattinson said that she thought she should have a physician and just after saying that she collapsed.

An emergency call was made to the police department and Officers Anderson and E. Barry responded with the ambulance. When the officers noticed the gaseous odor, they called police headquarters and Capt. Guerrier, Sgt. Newman and Officer Toomey responded with masks, inhalator and oxygen tanks. A call was also made to the fire department and Chief Dickinson, Deputy Chief Lynch, Squad A and Comb. 1 responded with inhalators and oxygen.

Before the arrival of firemen Mrs. North gave all the oxygen in the hospital to Mrs. Mattinson, but she was pronounced dead on arrival of a physician. Medical Examiner Budski said death was due to heart trouble.

Revived by Firemen

Mrs. Raymond B. Hatch, 160 Boksie avenue, who had a daughter born at 2 o'clock in the morning, the first girl in a family of seven, was in bed in a front room where the gas seeped in. It was discovered she was coughing, firemen applied the inhalator and gave her oxygen. She recovered quickly.

The four babies taken to the next home were those of Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. George Pratt, 688 Montello street; Mrs. Robert Carlin, 190 West Centre Street, West Bridgewater; Mrs. Carlton Hedlin, 201 Hillberg avenue. The oldest of the four babies was under a week old.

Although the oldest person to inhale the gas, Mrs. Florence Eaton, 79-year-old mother of Mrs. Mattinson, felt no ill effects of the gas although she probably inhaled more than anyone else.

A service man from the refrigerator company was quickly on the scene and he was repairing the machine while firemen were making every effort to bring back a spark of life to Mrs. Mattinson.
