—HE SUCCEEDED.—Not having much faith in the ability of the town detective, one of the residents of Summerside started out on the hunt for a sleigh of his the other day, which had been stolen overnight from his back yard. Using powers of deduction that would have shamed Sherlock Holmes, the resident traced the vehicle to the yard of another Summerside and arrived just in time to see his sleigh being changed over into a style noticeably different from that to which the other residents of the town have become accustomed to seeing. It is understood that there will not be any prosecution in this case, as the police court blotter is being kept clean for the innumerable thefts which the police are industriously investigating.

Canada Beats German Prices

(Special to The Guardian.) LONDON, Dec. 2.—In some things Canada can beat Germany at her own game of cheap production, according to the Mercantile Guardian, after going the rounds of the world's markets, buyers for the first time in many months find Canadian Aluminum the cheapest, selling at 29 cents per pound, while the German products despite the depreciation of the mark is four cents dearer than the Canadian product, which is often called American because it is shipped from New York and is said to be of exceptional quality.

BLACK REMAINS SUPREME IN PARIS

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Black remains supreme in the fashion world of Paris. Despite a severe onslaught by advocates of color, the supreme council of style has been forced to retain the conventional black as the dominant motif of all fall and winter modes and there is every indication that colors, except in minor trimming effects, will not be able to challenge black until late spring.

Adopted at a time when economy was the guiding idea of all feminine purchases, black has become regarded as the most becoming color. French women say it is alone in lending itself to striking effects.

Dressmakers quietly gathered together before fall and winter models were given to the world and tacitly agreed that colors should have a chance. The adoption of black was hurting their financial life. One black gown, carefully selected, took the place of two or three dresses of different colors.

But the French women, who are indicators of the newest developments in style, said a very emphatic "No" to the demand for color for black, and the big dressmakers bowed to the inevitable. Crepe, Moroccan, velvet and perline are the most popular materials.

The dressmakers, however, have been slightly more successful in their efforts to bring the corset back into its own. Dressmakers are insisting that corsets are now necessary to give the "uncorseted look." This propaganda has succeeded in some instances, but French women, having fought and won their freedom, are loath, in the language of a famous French actress, "to jail their bodies again."

There are four definite features of the fall and winter modes: a very long waist line, longer circular skirts with full sides, eccentric sleeves of gay colors and the famous bateau neck line.

Black red has been used extensively as trimming and some green steel ornaments for hats, purses, dresses and even shoes are the newest thing in novelties.

Decor knobs and nail head effects are used in making girdles. In the case of shoes the usual order of things has been reversed and the smartest shoes in Paris are "knickerbocker" shoes, with large steel buckles.

These shoes look more like American shoes than anything ever before worn by French women, although the French last is retained. The short, stubby toe has disappeared in stylish French footwear.

Black again dominates in hats, felt being the best liked material. Crowns are much higher and the fall hats are so big that they interfere with dancing. Smaller hats will be worn with fur coats later in the season.

Circular earrings, usually a circle of jet or ebony, within a larger circle, are worn by the best-dressed women this fall. Novelty shops cannot make them fast enough. Some women wear very large ones, almost cannibalistic in effect.

Gay color has its only opportunity in evening gowns for young girls. These are made in the brightest of colors but the evening dresses worn by their mothers and older relatives are black. The empire period has given the inspiration for the youthful evening dresses this year, making wearers look like venerated ancestors. The skirts are large, full with hips extended.

Lip Sticks And Powder Puffs At Montreal Booths

Star Discovers Great Coup Planned by Liberals—Would You Believe it?

MONTREAL, Dec. 2.—The Montreal Star says today: "Lipsticks powder puffs, rouge, hairpins, and possibly chewing gum are to vie in importance with the official ballot forms at most of the city polls on December 6 to meet, the requirements of the 1921 general elections. The first whisper of a plot to intrigue the women's vote trickled down this morning from Liberal offices, where a battery of clerks were reported engaged in completing the details of the impending coup. While the scheme had not yet been fully developed, the organizers have already appointed a large number of chic young girls who will officiate as scrutineers.

"You see," said one official in explanation, "even our most ardent supporters could hardly forgive us if we permitted the ladies to leave the polls with shiny shoes, dry lips or one cheek slightly paler than the other."
