ROTARY CLUB'S RADIO AUCTION FINE SUCCESS

Entire List of Goods Disposed of—Keen Bidding Produces High Average of Prices.

Disposing of the entire list of some two hundred and ninety articles put up for sale Charlottetown's first radio auction was staged by the Rotary Club last night. The sale began at 7 o'clock over Station CKCK and the last item was sold at five minutes past twelve, an average of approximately a sale a minute.

The keenest competition prevailed throughout the evening, articles frequently being placed on sale for a fourth time on account of the bids and many others being captured by the narrow margin of one cent. An estimated 241 to the auction room in the Provincial Building as many as twenty-five being received on some articles. It was not known at the conclusion of the auction the total amount realized. However it is believed the receipts will be nearly the full value of the articles. A few items were disposed of at prices considerably below their value although the loss on these would be partially made up by the gain on others which were bidding forced to prices above their valuation.

REJECT LABOR

amendment, Mr. Maxton, admitted he "didn't care one brass farthing whether the Empire went to smithereens." Now and again, he said, critics got their geography mixed and confused New Zealand with Newfoundland.

Sir Staffo Cripps, Labor, started the ball rolling with an amendment, which he moved that the bill to limit the suspension of the constitution to the three years.

OBJECTS TO WORDING

He made a point that the wording of the Bill did not exactly conform with either the commission's report or the address from the Newfoundland Legislature. The Bill would "evolve," the report and address were merely "suspend."

The system and despatch with which the bids were received and classified, the result of the proceedings was amazing to witness. Racks had been prepared and numbered to correspond to the numbers on the list of goods. As the bids were received each was technically checked and the result carded in the file and announcing room with the least possible loss of time.

At the completion of the broadcast the entire Rotary staff of workers was invited to Milton's Old Spain for lunch.

CINEMA PORTRAY PAGEANT

LONDON, Dec. 14—Beckenham, Kent, is to see a sacred pageant of the Nativity at Christmas time in a cinema there. It will be given between the ordinary film programmes by Rev. F. W. Boyd, rector of Beckenham, and will be produced by Sir Philip Ben Green, well known Shakespearean actor.

The pageant will have a cast of more than 100, and a choir of picked voices. Performances will be given on three successive days, and the Lord Chamberlain has been asked to sanction a performance on Christmas Eve. The rector stated in an interview similar pageant had been given in his church but he had never known anything of the kind attempted on such a large scale as his present effort.

"I consider that the average person will learn far more by seeing a representation of the story than by reading it, or hearing it told. Far too many people do not know the Bible story. I hope to use all the advantages modern stagecraft can give us," he added. "That is not to say it will only have an aesthetic appeal. I am ensuring a religious atmosphere."

Timber Interests Incensed At Can. Complaint

LONDON, Dec. 14—There is hardly a member of the British timber trade, no matter how imperially-minded, whose patience has not been strained by this campaign of intervention in the business of this country which is surely without precedent," declared a statement issued tonight by Timber Distributors Limited. This is the association which handles practically all Russian timber imported to Britain—imports long protested by the Canadian Government as a breach of the Ottawa Trade Pact.

The Canadian government holds the Russian timber imports constitute a breach of the safeguard against dumping. At the present moment the British government is taking up with the Soviet authorities the Canadian complaint. In the House of Commons earlier this week a government spokesman stated there was nothing to report as yet. Regarding the present ground the Canadian complaint, that Russia since 1928 has been selling timber at prices far below those of her principal competitors, the statement said: "Timber, like many other commodities, was over-produced, for which Russia was not mainly responsible, and timber prices fell year by year, but to a less extent than those of many other commodities which were over-produced. It was not until about March of 1933 that the bottom of the market was reached.

That present European prices are amply remunerative to first grade and Finland cannot be contested. Sweden actually had a maximum selling price in force recently in order to prevent production being unduly stimulated by the attraction of excessive profits. The market is, however, liable to become unsettled owing to the much lower level of Canadian prices."

More Miles Per Gallon—More Power, Speed and Efficiency with Dual Carburetion—Greater Oil Economy

Added engine refinements—get the details about all of them from the nearest Ford dealer—reduce oil consumption and further reduce operating and maintenance costs.

2 Clear-Vision Ventilation—and the Windshield Opens

There's nothing to obstruct the view in the new Ford system of Clear-Vision Ventilation. It's built-in—simplicity itself. The same handle that raises the window glass also slides it back horizontally to the ventilating position, and then the forward motion of the car draws the air out of the body. Drafts are eliminated, passenger comfort is assured, and windshield will not fog in cold weather. Another interesting feature of the Ford system—the windshield can be opened! This, and the cowl ventilator, provides the additional air needed for hot-weather comfort.

3 Transverse Springs—Comfort with Stability and Safety

Ford transverse springs provide the utmost stability and safety. Placed crosswise, they tend to prevent the body from tilting on uneven roads, and turns can be taken safely at relatively high speeds. Free and easy action of all four wheels is permitted because the outer flexible tips of the springs are attached to the axles. Thus the most sensitive parts of the springs receive road shocks first and absorb them before they reach the body. The advantages of the solid axle are retained.

about the New Ford V-8 for 1934

Greater power at still lower cost through new Dual Carburetion—Increased motoring comfort because of simplified Clear-vision Ventilation—Easier riding through flexible springs, deeper seat cushions and softer cushion springs—Distinctive new appearance—Many other features

1 More Miles Per Gallon—More Power, Speed and Efficiency with Dual Carburetion—Greater Oil Economy

The performance and economy of the 1933 Ford V-8 have been the talk of thousands of motorists. Owners said: "Leave it alone, don't change it!" Dealers said: "Impossible to improve it!" But we have improved it—in every direction. We started with the engine. The Ford V-8 for 1934 is more powerful, more efficient, easier to start in cold weather, yet it is the most economical Ford to operate ever built—largely because of the new Dual Carburetor and Dual Intake Manifold. Furthermore, even in the coldest weather the V-8 engine warms up quickly and maintains an efficient operating temperature because of new thermostats in the waterline and the thermostatic intake manifold heat control.

Boy of 15 Boasts Of 40 Robberies

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Four boys, one of whom is said to be an inveterate delinquent according to the police, were arrested last night in an apartment at 371 West 116th street, where they were shouting and dancing with three girls while a radio was going full force.

The delinquent, Christian Hansen, also known as Handome Hansen, said he had robbed forty agents in Greenwich Village and said also that he could identify them. He was vainglorious in all his statements to the police and when asked what he did with the $1,500 to $2,000 he made during the last month, he said: "I spent it on women. I was a good sport. When I took a girl out I gave her everything. I used to spend $75 a night sometimes."

Hansen is 15 years old. With him at the time of arrest were Rich H. Keys, 16, Arthur Davis, 21, and Albert Himmelman, 17. The three girls were sent home to their mothers, and although they were booked in the police station their names were not divulged.

The apartment was raided at 11 p. m. by Patrol Officer William Simmons of the Children's Village State correctional institution at Cobbs Ferry, and Detective Joseph Cohen of the West 152nd street station. They found considerable loot, consisting of fourteen empty suitcases, two portable typewriters, two midget radios, dresser for beds and an assortment of small articles.

GREAT NEED FOR MEDICAL EXAMINATION

(Canadian Press) MONTREAL, Dec. 14—Medical examination of children before being placed in a reformatory to which they have been committed, in order to discover whether they are in need of treatment was urged in a resolution addressed to the Provincial Secretary which was adopted by the Canadian Alliance for Women's Vote in Quebec. A case in which it was alleged a boy had contracted a permanent disability through lack of treatment was cited.

Permission for representatives appointed by the alliance to visit the Catholic Women's Jail every two weeks in order to discover whether any prisoners required legal assistance was asked of the Attorney-General of Quebec in another resolution adopted by the meeting. It was pointed out that permission to visit the Protestant Women's Jail had been accorded to a woman's committee of the Prisoners' Aid and Welfare Association.

Huge Telescope 90 Years Old

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14—One cold night in February, 1945, a small group of persons here took turns looking at the heavens through the first major telescope in the United States and the second largest in the world.

Almost a century later, although it is a pigmy among the large telescopes today, the old glass still is in use. Through it, according to estimates, more than 100,000 persons have looked at the starry universe.

The telescope, believed to be the oldest now in use in this country, has outlasted four sets of clockwork used to turn it against the earth's motion so that an astronomical object will not wobble from its field of vision.

The Cincinnati Observatory, where the telescope is housed, just observed its 90th anniversary. The cornerstone of the original observatory was laid Nov. 9, 1845, by John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States.

The 11-inch telescope was purchased in Munich, Germany, for $9,500. At that time the only larger telescope was located at Poulkova, Russia. In 1873 the observatory was taken over by the University of Cincinnati.

ARRESTED FOR STEALING SOCKS

(Canadian Press) MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 14—An ingenious theft was described to the Doncaster magistrates when James Fletcher, a salesman, was fined 10 shillings for stealing 10 dozen pairs of socks valued at $20, from Basil Trem and Company of Doncaster.

It was learned he went to a house and booked lodgings. He then walked out of the house to a kiosk and telephoned the company, telling them he was in the mail order business and had run out of socks. A partner of the firm delivered the 10 dozen pair of socks to his lodgings. Fletcher asked the man into the front room, shut the door on him, picked up the parcel from the hall and walked out.

Two detectives who had been watching Fletcher in consequence of other suspicious movements were waiting outside, however, and arrested him.
