

Clans to Carry Fiery Cross at Banff

When the Highland Gathering and Scottish Music Festival is held at the Banff Springs Hotel, August 29 to September 1, under the patronage of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales and the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, one of the high lights of this great annual gathering of the clans will be the Fiery Cross race, reminiscent of the days when the clansmen were summoned to war by runners carrying a burning torch through the glens. Seventeen Highland regiments in Canada have entered their best pipers to compete for valuable trophies. Lads and lassies dressed in the flashing kilts will perform reels, sword dances and Highland flings. Leading Scottish athletes of the Dominion have been rounded up for the traditional Caledonian games, such as putting the "stone," and tossing the caber, as well as the more usual track and field events. The musical programme this year will be concentrated on the songs of Robert Burns and two ballad operas incorporating these songs will be presented—one entitled "The Ayrshire Ploughman," written by J. E. Middleton, with arrangements by Healey Willan, distinguished Canadian composer, and the other, Burns' own cantata of "The Jolly Beggars." The Alfred Heather Light Opera Company, now presenting a two-month season of Canadian and Old English operas at the Banff Springs Hotel, will supply the artists for these productions.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McLachlin of Edmonton, Alberta, have motored to the Island and are visiting Mrs. McLachlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lowe, Murray River.

Mrs. James G. McLaren and Miss Ada MacDonald, Dundas, have returned from a motor trip to Quebec and Montreal. They were accompanied as far as Quebec by Mr. and Mrs. Brent Matthew, Souris, who are making an extended motor trip to Seattle.

A business man was delivering a lecture on a shady firm with which he had been employed. "Of course as soon as I realized there were possibilities of dishonest profit being made I got out of it," he said. "How much?" a student in the rear asked.

SHANTUNG HOGS GIVE BRISTLES TO AID SCALES

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17—Probably nobody doesn't know that the bristles in that high grade hair-brush or toothbrush bought for her husband probably came from the Province of Shantung in far-away China. Besides being noted as the home of Confucius and the place where the best Chinese silk comes from, Shantung is also known for its hogs and the bristles produced from the Shantung variety of this common barnyard animal.

It is a fact that this district exports less than ten per cent of the total bales of bristles shipped out of China. That, however, has nothing to do with quality, and a brush made of Shantung bristles is generally expensive. The manufacture of bristles is one of the oldest industries of China and although in recent years it has given grounds to other lines of endeavor it is still held in its own, especially in the coastal provinces where hog-raising is profitable. The process employed by the Shantungese farmer in the manufacture of bristles remains practically the same as it was ten centuries ago. All work is done by hand.

The hairs are removed from the hog with the aid of pinchers and then after being dried are sent to a work shop for treatment. In the workshop the bristles are sorted, cleaned and polished. Sorting is a tedious job and for this phase of the work women are employed. The price paid for this type of labor is only a few cents a day plus three bowls of rice. The working week is seven days long. With the application of bristles to industrial uses, the demand for Chinese bristles has grown in instances and there are visible signs of shortage.

"Only fools are certain. Wise men hesitate." "Are you sure of that?" "Yes—certain of it!"
