LONDON NEWSPAPERS DEMAND AN ENQUIRY

LONDON, May 30—The London morning papers in commenting editorially on the disaster call for a thorough investigation, as to whether the bulkheads were closed and if so how it was that the most modern system of water tight compartments failed to keep the ship from sinking. The claim for the Empress of Ireland will be the heaviest sustained by Lloyd's underwriters since the sinking of the Titanic. It is expected that the disaster will give a serious check to the scheme of establishing a Canadian Lloyds with a view of reducing the rates charged in London for insuring vessels navigating the St. Lawrence. Statistics show that the underwriters have consistently lost money on such voyages, owing to the dangers of the river and the prevalence of fogs and ice. The morning Post expressing satisfaction that the Canadian government will appoint a committee of inquiry says that the fact that this is the third accident in the same waters, the present season will inevitably quicken the uneasy sense that the St. Lawrence route is one having special perils to navigation at certain times of the year. Much space is devoted in the newspaper columns to Lawrence Irving. His death, if confirmed, will be regarded as the greatest loss the British stage has suffered since his fathers.

Everybody Has Two Brains Centres of Nervous Energy

Enormous Amount of Blood Consumed in Supplying Nerve Force to Mind and Body.

Everybody has two brains, one to think with and the other to control stomach and other vital organs. This the workings of the heart, lungs, mechanical brain is situated low down at the back of the head and is the great centre of the nervous system which, through its ramification of branches, reaches every part of the human body. Any lack of nervous energy is soon apparent in disorders of the bodily organs. Weakness of the nerves which control the digestive fluids means indigestion and similarly other derangements arise. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has fully established its reputation as a means of restoring vitality to the nervous system and thoroughly curing such it is the greatest of nerve restoratives as sleeplessness, irritability, nervous headache and indigestion, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Mrs. Wm. Hay, Spy Hill, Sask., writes: "I am glad of an opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for it restored my nervous system when I was badly run down. So greatly did this treatment benefit me that I have recommended it to friends and know that they obtained good results from the use of the Nerve Food many times. In my opinion there is nothing like it for building up the run-down system." It is said that one-fifth of the blood in the human body is consumed by the brain in the manufacture of nervous energy. Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the ingredients of restoring vitality to the nervous system from which rich, red blood is formed, it is the greatest of nerve restoratives as sleeplessness, irritability, nervous headache and indigestion, partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

SEE CANADA FIRST.

The movement to draw the attention of Canadians to the scenic charms of their own country is worth while. "See Canada First" is a good slogan. The "Canadian Courier" again publishes its Tourist Number. "Tramping to Oka," by T. Harry Smith, in the story of a week's walk in quaint Quebec. Augustus Bridle sees perpetual charm in "A Trip Down the St. Lawrence." A number of good, new pictures cover the country from east to west more graphically than guide books and time-cables. A page of "Celebrated Scenes in Europe" has six representative illustrations. The Monocle Man writes of "The Vaudevillains' Latest Outrage." Norman Patterson contributes a thoughtful article on "A Canadian Naval Reserve, and the usual departments are interesting and instructive and entertaining.
