Miss Bessie Tremaine, City, returned Saturday from a visit to Halifax.

There were no Chicago Market Quotations in this morning's despatches to The Guardian.

The western train outward Saturday afternoon was delayed over an hour in reaching Summerside. Shortly after passing Hunter River one of the freight cars left the track and ran about a quarter of a mile off the rails. The car was replaced on the tracks without great difficulty.

Rev. J. F. Floyd, City, preached last evening in the Central Christian Church on "Apostolic Succession and Christian Unity." Mr. Floyd's remarks were listened to with attention. During the course of his sermon he took exception to some remarks in Canon Simpson's sermon recently published in The Guardian.

Hon. F. L. Haszard, Premier of Prince Edward Island, and Hon. J. D. Hazen, Premier of New Brunswick, are in Montreal today on their way to attend a conference of the Attorneys-General of the eastern provinces in connection with the dispute with the federal authorities over the incorporation of companies. "This conference," explained Premier Haszard to The Star at the Windsor Hotel this morning, "is the result of the decision of the Supreme Court that it has authority to hear the application of the Dominion for an opinion on the questions at issue. That decision was not unanimous." "P. E. Island," he declared, "would never have come into Confederation if she had thought her representation was going to be cut down, and I do not think the other Maritime Provinces would have either. What we want is a guarantee that our representation will not fall below what it was when we came into Confederation. Now it is proposed to add territory to Quebec, and that will in turn further depress the representation of the Maritime Provinces and Ontario. We think that if Quebec gets more territory, the other provinces, which cannot obtain territory, should be compensated by the increase of the money grants made to them by the Dominion.—Montreal Star.

The Steamer Northumberland arrived in port Saturday night at 8.15.

Tickets for the Knights of Pythias dance tonight can be had at Taylors book store or from the committee.

In St. James' church yesterday morning Rev. G. E. Ross preached and in the evening Rev. T. F. Fullerton took as his topic the parable of the lost sheep. J. W. Berry sang beautifully the solo "There Were Ninety and Nine," which was thoroughly enjoyed.

At the evening services at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, Canon Simpson was assisted by Rev. W. H. Goudge, Chaplain of H. M. S. Cornwall, whose sermon was from St. Luke, 5:36. "And he spake also a parable unto them, no man putteth a piece of new garment upon an old; if otherwise, then both the new maketh a rent, and the piece that was taken out of the new agreeth not with the old." He said that often a person might patch up the garment of his character by going to church once a week and earning a certain amount of his earnings to charity, but at the same time he might not be thoroughly imbued with the spirit of righteousness, and if not, he would be merely placing a patch upon the old garment, which too often is the cloak of hypocrisy. Again a man might pray long and earnestly for freedom from a certain besetting sin, and find that his prayer is not being answered. But he is asking only for a new piece upon the old garment—he wants to patch up some sin which seems to be continually growing upon him, while God wishes us to discard altogether the old garment, which is torn and rent by sin, and take up instead the new and unspotted cloak of righteousness. Then in the reception of the Holy Communion the Priest says to them about to partake of it: "Ye that do truly and earnestly repent of your sins, and intend to lead a new life; not in life in which the old garment of the character is patched up by solitary acts of worship, but in which it is entirely discarded, and the new taken up, walking from thenceforth in His holy ways."

good combination plays. Their quarters played sharp and succeeded in making some nice gains. The forwards, although not conditioned as well as their opponents, put up a good game.

In the first half the Cornwalls kicked off with the sun in their faces and forced the ball well into the Abegweit territory, where they kept it for some time. The Abbies fought but the quick passes and good fast runs of the Cornwalls' backs soon got within striking distance and with a good run Tillard went over for a try. The Cornwalls failed to convert. For the remainder of the half the ship's men held the ball continually in the Abegweit front and after some exciting plays Goudge kicked the ball, followed and caught his own kick on the Abbies' line and scored the second try. The first half ended without further scoring. Cornwall 6, Abbies 0.

The second half opened with a kick by the Abbies and the ball went in touch to the Cornwalls' thirty yard line. Here one of the best plays of the day occurred. The ship's halves secured the ball and by magnificent passing carried the ball to within ten yards of the Abbies' line. In this half the Abbies played a much better game, forcing the Cornwalls to rouse up and add any more to their credit.

CORNWALL VS CH'TOWN

A very exciting and closely contested match was played Saturday afternoon on Belvidere Links between the officers of H. M. S. Cornwall and the Charlottetown Club—twelve men on a side.

The score was counted by points and the game resulted in the ship's team winning by 1 point, the score being 12 to 11.

FORMER MAYOR DEAD

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 21—Hon. Charles L. Snow, a former Mayor of Bangor, and prominent merchant, died suddenly of heart disease at 5.35 this afternoon, in the office of Dr. T. J. Murphy, where he had called for medical treatment. He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

A GOOD POSITION

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Radiotelegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance for advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutions in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Memphis, Tenn., Davenport, Ia., Columbia, S. C. or Portland, Ore., 9-214261w61.

CORNWALL WINS

The game of football Saturday afternoon between the team from H. M. S. Cornwall and the Abbies was without doubt the best game of the season and one of the best seen here for some time.

The day was all that could be desired by spectators and players alike, except that the bright sun in the players' eyes interfered with the catching of high kicks and passing, to some extent.

The attendance was large, there being quite a number of ladies present to witness the game. The game was fast, being featured by much open play, many good runs, and splendid passing by the ship's back field, whose judgment, in handling and kicking the ball, was superb.

The sharp tackling of their halves, particularly in the last half, held the ship's men back and broke up many

SEEKING TREASURE ON COCOS ISLAND.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 20.—Capt. Fred Hackett, who commanded the treasure hunting expeditions on the schooner Aurora and brigantine Blakey to Cocos Island, has arrived in Victoria to arrange for the appointment of local agents for the sale of stock in the company now being organized at Vancouver to dispatch a steam schooner to Cocos Island to delve for the buried millions of gold, silver and precious stones buried there by Capt. Thompson of the bark Mary Dier, when the sailing vessel put to sea from Lima with the treasures placed on board to save them from the invading Chilians who were at war with Peru at the time.

Capt Hackett says a steam schooner has been secured and is being made ready for the expedition. She will be re-christened the Mary Dier, being named after the vessel which carried the treasure to Cocos Island. The Mary Dier will carry a hydraulic lifting plant which will work 4,000 yards a day, and the treasure-seekers will wash and wash until they hydrolic away the hiding place where pieces of eight are supposed to be hidden away in their iron bound boxes. As a side line, a moving picture camera is being taken to the island and while the treasure hunters delve they will be photographed and the films will be taken to places of amusement about the world when the expedition returns.

RENFREW HOCKEY CLUB IN TROUBLE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 19—Renfrew's hockey troubles for last season are not over yet, and it looks as if the Creamery Town club will have to face a lawsuit to settle one of the difficulties arising out of the National League schedule of last year.

When the Renfrew management, having secured the best players that money could buy, started into their regular schedule they met with several slipups at first that threw them out of the championship running. Shamrocks ties them on the Arena, and this match appeared to be a stieckler for the Renfrew backers. Therefore, when Ottawa lost to the Wanderer team the Renfrews saw their chance to beat the former Stanley Cuppers out of second place, arranging a match at Ottawa with the Shamrock seven as a replay of the game, a win for Renfrew being all that was necessary to give them undisputed possession of the second berth. Arrangements went so far as to engage the rink, but when March 10th came around the spring had made it impossible to pull off the game. The fixture was called off, but to date there has been no settlement with the rink proprietors. Ted Dey, owner of the Arena, thinks that he should be paid, game or no game, and he threatens to take legal steps if he is not paid $100 for the use of the rink. The Renfrew Club refuses to pay that price, declaring the sum prohibitive, but state that they will offer Mr. Dey a reasonable amount for reserving the rink for the Renfrew-Shamrock game, even though the match did not come off.

GALLANT OFFICER DEAD.

TORONTO, Oct. 22—Major Bruce Carruthers, died here last night. He was ex-President of the Young Liberals Club, and was a South African war veteran. With a small company of Canadians at Harts River he refused to surrender although almost surrounded by Boers. This was regarded as one of the most gallant acts of the campaign.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

LONDON, Oct. 19—A curious story was told at Wood Green police court, when Thomas Roy, a draper, of Shacklewell lane, Dalston, was charged with stealing a sable fur necklet, the property of Mrs. Stevenson, of Truro road, Wood Green, and damaging a glass-pannelled door at her house.

Mrs. Stevenson stated that on Sept. 19th Roy called at her residence and wanted to borrow $25. She had known the prisoner previously, he having lodged with her. She told him to go away, but he declined to do so, and whilst her daughter went for a policeman, he ran upstairs, took the necklet from her bedroom, and threw it out of a window. She said that she would keep him until a policeman arrived, but he pushed her down and escaped.

On the 22nd inst he called again, broke a panel of the door with his stick, and threatened to kill her. When he repeated his threat she threw some pepper over him, and, through this going into his eyes, she was able to keep him until a messenger brought a policeman. The necklet was given to her by the prisoner's mother as a reward for her kindness to him.

The prisoner said that he gave the necklet to Mrs. Stevenson. Roy refused to give evidence concerning himself, and was remanded for inquiries.

The Country Store Needs a Telephone just as well as the large city stores. The phone is modern merchant's aid and business builder that cannot be dispensed with if profits are to be secured. The phone will place the country store on an equal footing with the city stores as far as buying is concerned and the very sight of a telephone in a country store is a mark of energy and industry that will prompt neighbors who give their trade to others to transfer their patronage to yours. A phone will keep you aware of live market quotations, will aid you in keeping just enough supplies to meet the demand, to keep all late, novel and well advertised lines, and in fact to give your customers a service equalled only by the larger city stores.
