

THE KING'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Offices in Montague, Capt. W. A. Johnstone, Agent, and in Souris, A. J. McDonald, Agent.

The latest news, first of all. L. Kelley of the Telephone Co. has just finished putting in four phones on the Bear River line.

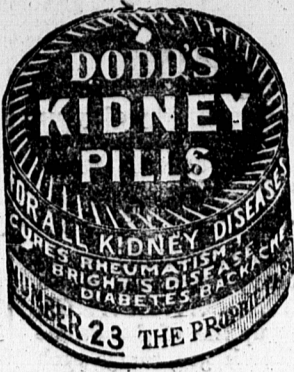

The following are the Souris market prices: Potatoes per bus, 28 cents, oats per bus 42 cents, pork per lb 104 cents, beef per lb 6 cents, butter per lb 27 cents, eggs per doz, 30 cents, hides per lb, 34 cents and hay per ton, $12 to $14.

All amounts for Guardian advertising and subscriptions in Montague and vicinity should be paid to W. A. Johnstone agent, and in Souris and vicinity to A. J. McDonald, agent.

Rev. J. F. Floyd, Charlottetown, will deliver his popular lecture on "Getting Married and Staying Married," in the Christian Church, Montague, Tuesday, March 22nd, at 7.30 p. m. Admission fifteen cents.

In Montague yesterday dealers were paying forty-two cents a bus for oats, twenty-two to twenty-five cents a bus for potatoes, twenty-one cents a doz for eggs, eleven cents a lb for pork, twenty-two cents a lb for butter and ten cents a lb for hides.

A grand musical and literary entertainment under the auspices of the B. I. Society which was held in the Court House at Souris on Thursday evening was a grand success. The musical program assisted by the West End Orchestra rendered some very choice music, which was much enjoyed, also the entertaining and instructive lecture by Rev. Dr. Campbell of St. Dunstan's College on the Irish Monks on the Continent during early ages. At the close of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the reverend lecturer by Jas McQuaid, President of the B. I. Society. The entertainment was brought to a close by singing of the National Anthem.

BAD TEETH OF EMPRESS

Origin of the Lace Handkerchief Ascribed to Vanity of First Napoleon's Consort.

One of the strangest facts illustrating the vanity of woman is that the lace handkerchief owed its introduction to the Empress Josephine's bad teeth. Josephine's vanity is no new subject with historians, who as a group, however, neglect the cure with which she kept the world from observing that her teeth were neither ornamental nor useful. It is with Josephine's vanity as it was manifested toward Napoleon that historians are concerned, not with her instinctive care for her own appearance. She never laughed except from behind the cover of a lace handkerchief. It was a trick the meaning of which was known to every woman in France, yet so contradictory is feminine nature that it took short time for women of all degrees to give themselves to imitation. Whether possessed of good teeth or bad, the French woman in Josephine's golden days always pressed a handkerchief to her lips when she laughed, and because lace handkerchiefs were Josephine's pride they came into general use. There has been a change since Josephine's time, however, for now the rule is to show a handkerchief as little as possible. Even the daintiest linen and lace specimens are to be held from view.

PENS VALUED BY COLLECTORS

Those Used by Great Writers and Statesmen Bring High Prices at Public Sales.

The pen used by Charles Dickens just before his death, which has been sold at Messrs. Sotheby's rooms for £19 10s, must yield the palm of costliness to the well-worn gold pen, used by "Boz" for many years, which found a purchaser some time ago for over £40.

At the sale of the Dalhousie collection a quill pen used by Wellington when writing to Queen Victoria in 1844 brought only 5 1/2 guineas; while one of Sir Walter Scott's pens, selected by Lord Dalhousie in 1829 from Scott's writing table at Abbotsford, only realized three guineas more.

Among the most valuable pens in the world are one owned by Mr. Isaac Reed of New York, carved from a portion of George Washington's lenshorn, and used by Lincoln when president, and the quill of a golden-eagle's wing, the property of the Empress Eugenie, with which the treaty of Paris was signed in 1856—London Tit-Bits.
