Scathing Criticism On Prohibition Enforcement

The Premier's Amazing "Confession" Analyzed By Dr. W. J. P. McMillan And The Whole Prohibition Situation Reviewed In Eloquent And Convincing Speech.

Speech on the Draft Address by Dr. W. J. P. McMillan, senior Conservative member for Charlottetown, in the Provincial Legislature, March 13-14. Continued from yesterday's Guardian:

There is another matter in connection with public health which I want particularly to draw to the attention of this Government, and it is one in which they have been grossly negligent of their duty. We have functioning in this Province a Children's Aid Society, a voluntary organization which is doing the work of the Government, because if they were not in existence the Government would have to carry on the work. This Society's special duty is to care for negligent, dependent, delinquent or criminal children. They are properly organized and function under both a Provincial and a Dominion statute, and their powers are very great; just as great as the powers of the Government, because they have to deal with conditions where families or children are neglected, where they are delinquent, where there is trouble either with the father or the mother. And I want to emphasize this fact very strongly: The duties of the Children's Aid Society have been doubled and trebled, due to your administration of the Prohibition Act, Mr. Premier! I shall refer to that again. The point I wish to make is this: When those delinquent or neglected children get into trouble, when they land in the Police Court for stealing or for some other crime, when they drift into the criminal class as they do sometimes despite the efforts of the society, of the clergymen and public spirited citizens of all denominations who interest themselves in welfare work of this kind, there is only one option left to the Judge of the Juvenile Court, and that is to sentence these children to a Reformatory. That has been done on many occasions. As you are aware, Mr. Speaker, we have no Reformatory in this Province; we have to depend on the Reformatories in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, or in Quebec. There are splendid homes in these provinces for wayward girls, for delinquent and criminally inclined boys, established on non-sectarian lines. On several occasions, as a last resort, we have had to send children to the Reformatories of our sister Maritime Provinces. These children are the wards of this Government, and the responsibility is upon the Government for their maintenance. During the past year it remained for this Government, headed by the Hon. Premier Saunders, to do the most iniquitous thing in the history of child welfare in this Province when they refused to have anything further to do with the delinquents of either Charlottetown or Summerside. What do you think of that, Mr. Speaker. They say they have been devoting special attention to public health. They should have said also

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES LTD. HAVE BRIGHT OUTLOOK

"The Annual Reports for 1929 of numerous important Canadian industrial concerns indicate a continuation of the steady progress made in the Dominion during recent years," said Mr. Arthur B. Purvis, of Canadian Industries Limited, in a recent interview. "Confidence in the future prosperity of Canada is illustrated," he continued, "not only by financial reports and statistics, but by the trend of institutional and general advertising. In the case of our own Company, we are attempting, by means of our 1930 institutional campaign, to explain to the public the wide activities carried on by us in the Chemical field and the progress which is being made."

Mr. Purvis outlined the scope of Canadian Industries Limited, which has linked together nine important Companies, each one of which is manufacturing different products from the same basic chemicals. He stressed its important affiliation with Imperial Chemical Industries of Great Britain and E. I. DuPont de Nemours of the United States, which places at the Company's disposal a world-wide chemical knowledge that is second to none.

Among the facts dealt with in the campaign which is at present appearing in the leading dailies from coast to coast, the most important deals with the chemical correlation of one Division to the other. Many of the products of the Company, as widely divergent as Pyralin Toilet Ware and Explosives, have for their raw material similar basic chemicals. To such an extent is this true regarding the Company's products that two of them—Dominion Ammunition and Duco—after going through all the stages of manufacture from raw material to finished article, are joined together in the perfecting of Dominion Duco-Finish Waterproof Shot Shells.

"This campaign," concluded Mr. Purvis, "contains a good deal of interesting information as to how chemistry, or rather science generally, is benefiting the Dominion in its progressive commercial trend."

HELEN L. HAMILTON

On March 17th, at an early hour, Helen L. Hamilton passed to her eternal rest at the age of 19 years. She was the beloved and only daughter of Mrs. P. H. Lane, 183 Euston St., Charlottetown.

Miss Hamilton was in poor health for several months but her suffering was borne with patience and trust in her Saviour. She was of a quiet and affectionate disposition loved by all who knew her.

The funeral was held from the home of her mother on March 18th. The remains were taken to Montague, where a service was held in the United Church on Wednesday the 19th, after which she was laid to rest beside her grandfather and uncle in the Peardon plot at Lower Montague.

At Charlottetown the services were conducted by the Rev. C. N. Brown, and at Montague by Rev. Mr. Sterling, where high tributes were paid to the deceased, and comforting words spoken to the bereaved relatives and friends.

The hymns sung were those chosen by the deceased at Charlottetown: "Abide With Me," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and at Montague, "Asleep in Jesus" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

The funeral was largely attended, many and beautiful were the floral tributes which bore silent testimony of the place she held in the hearts of her friends.

Besides other relatives she leaves to mourn a sorrowing mother, who nursed her tenderly to the end; one brother, Peardon, residing in Charlottetown, and grandmother, Mrs. Helen Peardon, 221 Water St., with whom she lived during her childhood.

NEWSY FARM NOTES

By Agricola

Field and Farm Yard

It may not be generally known that the Imperial Oil Company, of Toronto has issued for gratis distribution, a book of 226 pages, bearing the above title. Although primarily written for the farmers of Western Canada, there is much that is equally applicable to the Eastern provinces. It opens with a consideration of soil, its texture and handling, and goes on to give the various methods of dealing with weeds. As the head of the list are three of the worst,—as had here as there—namely Sow Thistle, Canada Thistle, and Couch grass, weeds which cause untold loss to the farmer everywhere.

Under "succulent feeds" is given the plan of a 400, of two by four spanning, cheaply constructed and proven satisfactory for years.

All the varieties of pasture grasses with their qualities and limitations are touched on in another chapter.

Poultry, pure bred live stock, the choosing of the herd sire of various breeds of cattle; sheep and pigs and their selection in conformity to type; are all noticed in contributions by men who are outstanding in their own particular lines. The book goes further: pictures of the best of each class of animal show exactly what the beginner should look for. The eye is the great gateway of knowledge, and here it is gratified in every respect.

I understand the Oil Company intend to issue another volume on kindred subject, somewhere round the first of May, and it also will be for free distribution. A most praiseworthy intention.

Trimming Evergreens.

With the advent of brighter days one's thoughts naturally turn to the tidying up of the home grounds and if they are bounded by a hedge it seems a good time to trim it. Now here is where care is to be exercised. Any hedge or shrubbery of deciduous plants (that is, those which shed their leaves in autumn) may safely be trimmed whilst in the dormant state, in fact that is the best time, since if they are pruned whilst in leaf, the trimmed branches are always noticeable. Such a course if followed in the case of evergreens would leave the hedge in a demoralized condition from which it is not likely to recover.

Pruning, then, of evergreens such as spruce and cedar, should not be done till the new growth has commenced. When this growth is about two inches long, it is safe to prune, since an axil of buds will form at the point of cutting, to carry on the growth. An evergreen hedge showing brown in summer, indicates that it has been pruned too closely and too early. Every woodman is aware that if a deciduous tree is cut down to the root it will sprout again, but when an evergreen is subjected to the same treatment it is "done." This gives the hint; don't prune evergreen "to the quick."

Mrs. George Heffel has returned home after spending a few days pleasantly in Tryon the guest of her mother, Mrs. Sarah MacKenzie.

On Thursday evening the Albany St. Pats were the guests of the Kensington hockey team. The game ended in a victory for the St. Pats. The score being 6-2 in their favor.

Among those who motored to Kensington Thursday last week were Messrs Reginald Thomas, Keith Thomas, Otto Curtis, Claud and Michael Delaney.

The flying field was crowded at the finish of the air race, and great was the astonishment when the winning plane descended and out of it stepped an unknown amateur. The representatives of the press surged forward.

"Wonderful achievement!" the spokesman shouted. "You've broken all records for a non-stop flight. How did you do it?"

"Well, to tell you the truth," the rank outsider answered, modestly, "I think luck had something to do with it. I didn't find out until about five minutes ago how to stop the darned thing."—Aviation.

REVIEW—(TAKE IN) ...

PRETTY PARTY HELD AT TAFT

The following is taken from the Revelstoke Review of March 19. Mr. Harold Riggs referred to in the article is a son of Mr. Frank Riggs of this city.

A white party and dance held in the community hall at Taft, on Saturday last will long be remembered as one of the most successful and merriest of social events at that place during the winter. The affair was given as a surprise to Mr. F. W. Baxter, genial officer in charge of the Biological Station at that point, and Mr. H. Patterson, popular C. P. R. operator in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary.

The hall, tastefully decorated, and brilliantly lighted, with supper table loaded with good things to eat, presented an alluring appearance, which was greatly enhanced by the pretty dresses of the ladies, who with their escorts danced to the strains of excellent music until the early morning hours.

After supper Mr. Harold Riggs, acting as toastmaster presented Mr. Baxter with a handsome smoking stand, a gift of appreciation from his many friends in the district.

Mr. Baxter responded, with a speech in his usual good style.

Mr. Riggs then presented Mr. Patterson with a gold masonic emblem, a birthday remembrance from his admirers and friends at Taft. Mr. Patterson, though taken back, finally arose and thanked the people for the party and presentation. The forty assembled guests then arose and gave three rousing cheers and a tiger for the two guests of honor.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are purgatives which cramp and grip and leave a depressed, after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lax.

A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move freely, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed and constipation poisons pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and the system enjoys a real tonic effect.
