National Hockey Is Speeded Up

Forward Pass and General Anti-Defence Rules Promise Fifty Percent Increase In Goals In New Season.

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 12—Increased speed of play, a fifty per cent in the halts due to whistling for off-sides, and the much-sought-for increase in the number of goals, look the logical outcome as a result of the changed playing rules which go into effect when the National Hockey League opens its playing season on Nov. 14th.

Increased speed will come from various sources. The fact that each of the three areas has been thrown open for forward passing, and that players of attacking teams can cross the blue lines into enemy territory ahead of the puck make it certain that forwards will be able to travel at a faster clip than ever seen before, while defence players, in order to cope with the threat of the forward pass, must discard former methods of stopping play by body-checking alone, and train to wheel and dash back from their blue lines to the vicinity of the net at top speed.

Adoption of the forward passing rule in the defensive areas makes the increased number of goals a natural and even a mathematical certainty. If only the goals recalled in previous seasons are scored in addition to those which regularly accrue, there will be a ten per cent increase, but the new rules make it certain that this percentage will increase largely through the more open nature of the play, and the tightening of anti-defensive rules all along the line.

The adoption of the forward pass in all sections of the ice is the most revolutionary move towards opening up the game and achieving the long-desired millennium which would bring about relief from the scoreless draws and the low-scoring contests in which defensive play was certain to be stressed. It may be that the new rules will bring about a new angle on the game. Careful defensive play was so easily possible under former rules, and attacking power so nullified at close range by the rule that limited the forward pass in a defence area only to the defending team, that the new legislation may bring about a complete reaction in the matter of opening up the play, and set a vigorous trend in hockey fashion towards wide-open, devil-may-care play. At least, this is what the fans are hoping.

Complete simplicity, and elimination of puzzling technicalities, mark the rules under which the National League games will be played in the coming season. The forward pass is permissible in any section of the ice though it is not permissible to pass the puck ahead, across any blue-line to any team-mate. The only reason for recall of a goal will be if it is tossed or kicked or bodied into the net. So long as it is legally scored with a stick, there can be no reason for recalling it. Thus there is wiped out one of the most fruitful causes of protests, ill-feeling and annoyance.

The rule in itself is completely simple. Forward passing is permitted in all three sections of the ice, as it is divided for playing purposes. A player can cross into any one area ahead of his teammate who is carrying the puck. In the opposing team's defence area, the attacking forward can precede his puck-carrying team-mate over the line, and so long as he does not interfere with defence players of the opposing team, can get into position to take a forward pass, so long as this pass is made after the puck-carrier has also passed over the blue line. This eliminates off-sides in all three areas. It eliminates the possibility of re-called goals.

The new forward-passing even eliminates the technicalities which abounded in the vicinity of the blue line. Naturally, it is not allowed to pass forwardly from one area to another, but that is practically the only restriction. The player carrying the puck can be preceded across the line by a team-mate so long as the latter does not interfere with the opposing defence. This must necessarily result in the diminution of whistle-blowing at the blue lines, and the injection of greater speed into the game, together with elimination of causes for protest and dissatisfaction.

The new rules also remove another contentious and annoying point from the play. There is the aggravating habit developed by goalers of holding the puck after catching the shot, and then deliberately tossing it to a team-mate. It is now provided that the goaler must get rid of the puck instantly, by tossing it to either side, which will give him little chance to pick his spots if pressure on his nets happens to be keen at the time. The penalty for violation of this rule is a face-off directly in front of the nets, with a clear lane from the face-off to the nets, and defending players forced to keep ten feet back from this lane, all of which enhances the chance of a goal being scored.

The anti-defence rule is made further effective by a ruling which prohibits forwards of the defending team from backing over the blue line into their own territory in advance of the play. This ensures that but three players will occupy the defence area at such time as the play is elsewhere. Forwards of the defending team can enter their own defending area only with the play. They cannot precede it—a point which gives the attacking team a valuable advantage.

THE GOOD OLD GAME TO ACADIA 15-6

The sports department is pleased to publish the following letter which speaks for itself.

Sir: As a lover of good clean sport I ask the privilege of writing a few words respecting the football game played on Thanksgiving day between Acadia and the Abegweits. One must view the whole rugby situation with pleasure for there is indeed a genuine revival of the good old game. The splendid interscholastic games and the contests in Intermediate and Senior leagues surely mean much for the future of football in Charlottetown. In common with hundreds of spectators I was impressed with the power of the Acadia fifteen and was likewise delighted with the splendid efforts of the local team. One must agree with the expressed policy of the Abegweit directors to purge their ranks. And on Monday citizens were proud of the endeavors of the Abegweit team for their determined, gritty and courageous efforts against an admittedly better team. It speaks volumes for the clean and honorable manner of living of the members of the fifteen and to them and the Football Committee come the sincere appreciation of the public. I believe this expresses the opinion of all lovers of sport.

Coach Kelly Appreciative

Fred Kelly was at Monday night's Armistice dance along with many of his football charges. The boys enjoyed themselves immensely and were very grateful for the fine time given them while in Charlottetown. Buckley expressed it thus: "We have had a very splendid trip. I had often heard of Island hospitality but to appreciate it a fellow must spend a few days here as we have done. We like Charlottetown." Coach Kelly asked that the citizens of Charlottetown, Saint Dunstan's University, the referees, the Canadian Legion, be thanked most sincerely for the sportsmanship, kindness and general treatment extended to himself and his boys.

Tonight at 8.15 Spuds and Victorias meet. Councilor T. W. L. Prowse has kindly donated a five dollar gold piece for special prize. The boys extend their hearty thanks. Following is balance of schedule for the first section of tournament.

Movie fans in Porto Rico are demanding the showing of all-talking pictures, with the character speaking English.

Acadia footballists have come, they conquered and have taken their departure with two well earned victories under their belts. They defeated the Saint Dunstan's 23 to nil on Saturday last and on Monday, took the Abegweits into camp to the tune of 15 to 6. This fast scintillating and heady squad of ruggers from the Nova Scotia valley demonstrated to the king's taste just what good sound coaching does for a football team—and truly a great tribute to Fred Kelly, their sterling instructor.

It has been a goodly number of years since a backfield, the like of Acadia's has performed here. The three-quarters and halves worked with machine-like precision, every try made being executed with speed and grace. As one fan remarked, "It's a pleasure to watch this team in action," and indeed it was a great pleasure. The forwards, although not measuring up as brilliantly as the backfield, were none the less sparkling, especially in the scrum, where they heeled beautifully to get the ball out on almost every scrum up.

The Abegweits made a great showing against a team of the Acadia calibre. They made 'em work every minute of the game, in fact forced the Nova Scotians to the limit for almost two thirds of the playing time. As Jack Buckley remarked, "gee, those fellows tackle hard." Furthermore, the locals were successful in beating a wonderful defence, only once it is true, but that in itself is enough to prove the wearers of the red and black had the punch and were game to the core, and not until the closing whistle sounded, did they give up trying.

THE SCORES

Acadia kicked off; the Abegweits turned the kick, with the forwards all on the ball. Eville, Acadia three-quarter scooped a dribbling kick on his own 25 yard line to can them while in Charlottetown. Buckley expressed it thus: "We have had a very splendid trip. I had often heard of Island hospitality but to appreciate it a fellow must spend a few days here as we have done. We like Charlottetown."

At the opening of hostilities the Abegweits forced the play, and for a time had their opponents kicking to safe territory. This offence was continued, and after a heart-breaking struggle the local fans were given a chance to cheer when Jack Connolly crossed over on a pass from Bob Shaw, who was playing a whale of a game, and following like a trooper. Larter failed to convert. On the completion of this play, Acadia began to show first period life and within five minutes, Matthews counted for the third try; Buckley, Eville and Ryan horning in on the deal.

The Abegweits, for the next ten minutes fought like tigers and had Acadia battling on their ten yard line; Howie Ryan finally relieving the situation by a well placed kick. At this juncture Glen Partridge suffered an injury to his already weak ankle and was forced to leave the game. He was replaced by Bill McDonald, who soon made his presence felt in a great exhibition of kicking.

Acadia, however, were travelling fast and soon scored again. Wilson crossing on passes from Buckley to Eville. The Abegweits added another three points on a penalty kick, Bill McDonald doing the job from the twenty-five yard line. It was one of the prettiest drop-kicks ever seen on the Abegweit gridiron—and the Acadia boys were not slow in applauding McDonald.

The last try of the set-to was negotiated by Wilson, who bounded a loose ball over the Abbs line. The play looked off-side from the grand stand.

It was a splendid game and Acadia should well feel proud of her splendid aggregation of players. The Abegweits too, are to be highly congratulated on the excellent and gritty battle waged against a far superior foe.
