BRAZIL REBELS HAVE NOW BEEN SUBDUED

Insurrectionists Had Planned to Secede From Brazilian Federation and Set up new Government

(Canadian Press)

BUENOS AIRES, July 7.—A Havas depatch from Rio Janeiro this morning says that a telegram has been received there from Sao Paulo to the effect that the insurrection has been suppressed and order restored.

Sao Paulo the second largest city in Brazil and the capital of the country's wealthiest state was reported early today to be still in the hands of insurrectionary forces which took possession of the government buildings during Friday night and Saturday morning in a sudden uprising marked by sanguinary street fighting. Owing to the strict censorship imposed by the federal government in Rio Janeiro and the lack of any communication whatever with Sao Paulo the causes of the insurrection are thus far unknown here but it appears to be sufficiently formidable to cause the federal government at Rio Janeiro to dispatch troops by land and sea as well as air forces to attempt its suppression.

According to official statements by the Brazilian government, the insurrectionists consist of a small garrison of federal troops, but rumors circulating here are to the effect that the Sao Paulo police military organized and French trained have joined in the movement. Among explanations of the uprising given here is one to the effect that it represents an effort by certain political elements in Sao Paulo state to secede from the Brazilian federation declaring its independence and inviting other states to join it in establishng a new government with the city of Sao Paulo as the capital. The coup d'etat is reported to have begun about 10 o'clock Friday night. It reached its climax at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and was completed by noon. The revolutionists gained control of all federal buildings after considerable fighting.

POLITICAL AIR IN PARIS SOMEWHAT CLEARER

(British United Press)

LONDON, July 7.—The unfortunate misunderstanding which swept through Paris Saturday and caused such grave alarm through the sudden publication of the British memorandum which accompanied the British invitation to the powers to attend a conference in London to take the first steps to put the Dawe's report into force is gradually disappearing today. While it is generally believed it was the result of Poincaire's intrigue in an effort to undermine Herriot there is considerable criticism of the procedure adopted by MacDonald.

The British Foreign Office is seriously considering the recommendation that the place of conference should be changed believing that French supicion of attempts at British domination of the meeting should be allayed. This would be effected if the conference was sent to Brussels instead of to London but it is regarded as extremely unlikely that MacDonald will accept any such suggestion. A Consultation with the Dominion's High Commissioners is being arranged in order to discuss the form which representations should take. It is believed that in most cases Dominions' commissioners will agree to the British proposal.
