Sport Echoes From Prince County

The Woodside Combines have defeated the Windsor Maple Leafs for the intermediate championship of the Nova Scotia mainland and are now playing an intermediate team from Inverness, Cape Breton, for the provincial championship. The winners of this series will play our Summerside All-Stars for the Maritime championship. Local fans would naturally like to see at least one game in this final series, but it may be necessary, on account of the lateness of the season, to play a sudden death game at a neutral centre. We should know something definite about this by the latter part of this week.

While we are waiting for this final series, perhaps we'd better talk about other phases of local sports. It has been quite a long time since we said anything about the town's purchasing a block of land large enough to accommodate a baseball park. In the last two summers our young athletes have lifted the name of Summerside to a proud position in the baseball realm. They have taken the Island championship for two straight years, and are now the champions of Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. We think they deserve some little consideration from the town fathers. It is our opinion that something tangible should be done to show the boys that the people of Summerside are proud of their achievements, and nothing better can be done at present than to make sure that they will have a suitable ball park in which to play their games in future years. If this is to be done, it must be done without too much delay, as the town is building up very rapidly and in a few years all available areas will have been taken up.

Then there is the problem of the other Canadian sport, hockey. Is it possible that the people of Summerside are going to stand quietly on the sidelines and let this great national game disappear from our town because there is no fit place in which to play the game? Is this town, whose taxpayers who have recently won the distinction of having the highest average income in Canada, going to enter the plea that we can't afford a hockey and skating rink here, when smaller and less prosperous centres all around us have provided this very necessary sports facility for its youth?

Provision has been made for sports facilities for the older people of our town. We have an excellent golf course, and a magnificent curling rink is now in process of erection. But what of our youth? Should they not be provided for also? Do they not rate the common, ordinary sports necessities that can be found in every town of our size and standing to coach? But to hear somebody say the children have their open-air rink and that will look after them. But will it? We think not. For the simple reason that the youngsters need more than just ice and skates and a stick and puck to make them want to play hockey. Most important of all, they need the inspiration that the older players give. The kids see Johnny Smith, their hockey hero, perform some neat play during a game with another team and the youngsters are all out on the patch of ice in the backyard that morning trying to do the same thing. Take away the senior or intermediate hockey matches and many of the youngsters will have lost their desire to play the game. The burning ambition to play someday on the town team will have disappeared.

That distinction we have regarding our average income is one to feel proud about, isn't it? But we are in danger of losing it. Let us be able to feel so proud. A Canadian town of over 8000 population without an ice hockey rink! Ripley will be calling on us to get all the particulars.

Local hockey fans, let's get together and prevent this from happening. Let's get organized and lay plans for a new rink in Summerside, a community rink such as other progressive centres have built. It may take a year or two, or even more time than that, but at least we will be working for the cause. We won't be letting the rights and privileges of our youth go under by default.

BOSTON, Oct. 7 — (AP) — The business-like athletes who compose Cleveland's Indians enthused briefly and in restrained fashion today after their 4-1 triumph which evened their World Series with Boston Braves at one victory each.

"Right," said Indian chief Lou Boudreau, "It was a good win but don't forget we need three more and that's what we're after." This guy pitched a great ball game when the chips were down," said Boudreau as he rubbed pitcher Bob Lemon's head.

Lemon, who wasn't too sharp at the start of the game, admitted: "I couldn't control my breaking stuff in the early innings but it turned out all right because after I got men on base my control seemed to return."

"My sinker ball pulled me through with men on base and as the game went on I seemed to get better control...."

Boudreau, who doubled and scored the Indians' first run and drove in another, complimented Warren Spahn, losing Boston pitcher, as "a good man with lots of stuff."

BOSTON, Oct. 7 — (AP) — By attitude, rather than words, manager Billy Southworth expressed his keen disappointment over his Boston Braves' performance today in their second World Series start against the Cleveland Indians.

"We had a couple of chances to go two games up but we didn't get the hits when the chips were down," Southworth explained.

"We are capable of much more timely hitting. Frankly, I'm very glad this series is being moved to Cleveland. It will be a good thing to get our players away from hometown distractions. They will be able to concentrate harder on the road."

Southworth dismissed Bob Lemon's winning pitching performance with "look at the fine job he did. He must have something."

But several of the Tribesmen gave highly flattering reports on Lemon.

"He never gives you anything 'fat,' even when you're ahead of him," Eddie Stanky, who got the only Boston extra-base, explained. "He throws his sinker when he's behind and it's mighty tough. Lemon didn't give me one good ball in four trips."

Bruins Experimenting

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 7 — (CP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, sweating out the last days of their training grind here, have termed the coming season the year of the "great experiment."

It's all because Mill Schmidt, one of hockey's greatest centres, has been shifted to the left side of the defence.

The Bruins apparently got the defence idea back in the 1944-47 season when Schmidt shifted to defence in an emergency, and made a creditable showing. Last year he was out of the game for about half the season.

The shift has made a hard-to-fill hole in Boston planning. The great, the club's turned to Jack Quilty to fill a pivot position on one of the lines. He has shown well in training and early guessers are saying the "big experiment" will pay off in victories.

Sport Briefs

LONDON, Oct. 7 — (AP) — Promoter Jack Solomons announced today that he is putting three British champions on his Oct. 19 card in the Royal Albert Hall.

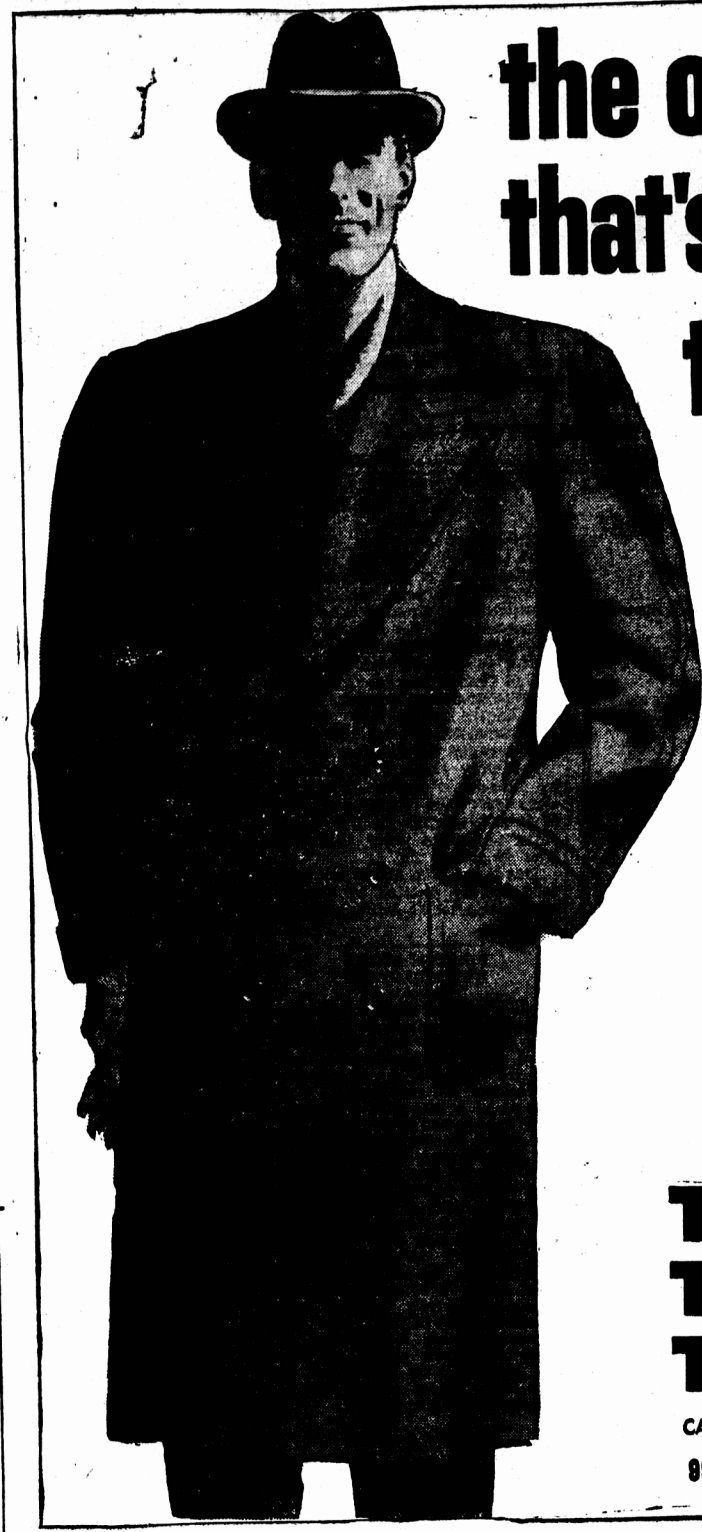

World flyweight champion Rinty Monaghan will fight Dickie O'Sullivan, bantamweight champion Jackie Paterson will meet Dickie's brother, Danny O'Sullivan, and the Negro middleweight champion, Dick Turpin, will go in against Jean Stock of France.

LONDON, Oct. 7 — (AP) — Fred Armstrong, trainer of the Gacwar of Barda's My Babu, said today the colt would not be sent to New York for the Empire City Gold Cup race at Belmont Park Oct. 19.

Britain will be represented in the race by the Aga Khan's Nathon, winner of the Irish Derby.
