IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JOHN McLURE

There passed away on April 23rd at her home, North Rustico, Mrs. John McLure, who before her marriage was Carolyn Amelia Woolner, daughter of the late Chester Woolner, who although cut off in the prime of life was regarded in his day as a man of exceptional ability. Her husband who pre-deceased her thirty-three years ago is still remembered by many as a man of most kindly disposition and high sense of honor. He served in the American Civil War, being one of the Guard chosen for General Grant when General Lee surrendered to the former. Although attaining unto the age of 87 years, Mrs. McLure had retained her faculties to the end and her passing was symbolic of her life lived here on earth, serene and beautiful, speaking of the meeting with her husband and friends. To the many who visited the home was extended the kindest of hospitality and one was ever sure of a most gracious welcome. Her interest in Canada's political life which she had followed closely for long years was very marked and Canadian literature and periodicals were very dear to her being a great reader all her life.

Early in life she united with the Cavendish Presbyterian Church and all down through the "ears remaining" a faithful and staunch supporter of the church in all its activities. All those who knew her revered and loved her and to those left it is a grand tradition to carry on that their lives may be as noble and unselfish as hers. During her declining years her constant companion and devoted nurse was her daughter Miss Lucy McLure who gave up her profession as school teacher in Western Canada to be with her Mother.

Those of her family left to cherish her memory are Mrs. John A. MacMillan, Charlottetown; Mrs. Colin C. McLure, Brackley Point; Mr. W. Chester S. McLure, M. P., and at home Mr. Russell A. McLure and Miss Lucy. Also one sister Mrs. Wesley Paynter, North Rustico and one brother Mr. Conrobert Woolner, Boston. The funeral which was held on Thursday, April 28th, was very largely attended by relatives and friends of the family.

Included in the messages of sympathy sent to her home were those from—The Prime Minister of Canada, the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, The Rt. Hon. McKenzie King, Hon. Dr. R. J. and Mrs. Manion, Hon. H. A. and Mrs. Stewart, Hon. Mr. Alfred and Mrs. Duralau, Mr. J. T. Simpson, Ontario.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. R. Stavert, assisted by Rev. H. Bishop. The body was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the family plot in the old Cavendish Cemetery borne to its last resting place by the following pall-bearers. Messrs. Oliver Bernard, Chester Woolner, Phillip McLure, Everett McLure, Oliver LePage and James L. LePage.

The floral offerings included a Pillow—Family, Wreath — McLure Grandchildren, Crescent—Lottie and Lena. Cross—George D. and Mrs. DeBiols. Sprays—Jean and Jim, Mildred and Claude, Helen and Earle, Charlie McKenzie and boys. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. LePage, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mina Ling.

My fingers were swollen and out of shape, and tormented me."
