Vicar Refurnishes His Church

Rev. J. H. Toogood, Vicar of Plemtall Church, Mickie Trafford, Chester, England, is refitting the whole of his church, doing the work alone. He has a complete workshop attached to his vicarage where he carves images and ornamental designs of the Gothic period from oak beams. He has been doing the work for the last 12 years. The picture shows him in his church alongside the pews he has made of oak.

RABBIT INDUSTRY GROWING —Mr. John A. Coulson of Coulson & Co., Sea View, was in the city yesterday with a fine shipment of Chinchilla rabbits consigned to buyers in Montague. Mr. Coulson knows his business, knows good rabbits and is finding a ready market for his output, shipping consignments to all parts of Canada and as far as California. Last week he received a splendid shipment direct from England including a number of Angoras, the first of this breed to reach this Province. These little animals are an interesting study and the breeding of them has already brought considerable wealth to their owners and promise to rival over the fox industry if pushed to its full extent by those interested.

In Memoriam

MR. HUGH A. MACKINNON

Hugh A. MacKinnon of Attleboro, Mass., formerly of Sturgeon, P. E. I. died recently after an illness of two years. He was prominent in social and fraternal circles. He was a member of the Elks order, also a graduate of the Prince of Wales College and the Charlestown Business College, P. E. I. He came to Attleboro in 1903 and was employed several years as accountant in Watson and Newell Company. Later he took a course in pharmacy and owned several drug stores. When his health failed he sold out his business and went to Florida. After his return he contracted pneumonia and lingered for a few days. He leaves two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Norman McLeod, of the Dufferin Apartments here, is a sister. She attended the funeral. Burial was made at North Purchase cemetery at Attleboro, Mass.—St. John Telegraph Journal.

MR. PROSPER BLACQUIER

At North Rustico on June 19, at the early age of 20 years Prosper Blacquier, passed away. Although in failing health for almost a year, death came unexpected. True piety, Christian fortitude, earnest charity, and sincere devotion to his faith were marked evidence of his beautiful character. His high intellect, kindness and genuine hospitality won for him the esteem and respect of his many friends and acquaintances. His short useful life was one spent in preparation for eternity. Consoled by the Sacraments of the Holy Catholic Church and surrounded by all the members of his family, he peacefully passed to his eternal reward. He leaves to mourn besides his sorrowful parents, two brothers and four sisters, Mrs. James Dolron, Milton, Mrs. Lawrence Peters, Royalty, Mrs. Edgar Doiron, Rustico, Joe, North Rustico and Elsie, and Emma at home. His funeral which was largely attended took place on Sunday afternoon, June 20th. The pall bearers being James Doiron, Bernard Gallant, Amos Blacquiere, Edmond Blacquier, Emilie Gauthier, and the Ladies of Highland Park Church. Mrs. C. Ferris, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Mr. and Mrs. Wickens; Mrs. McManis; Mrs. Baldwin; Mrs. G. MRS. CHARLES DOCKENDORFF

The death occurred at Passmore, British Columbia, on June 15th, 1926, of Mrs. Charles Dockendorff, formerly of North River, Prince Edward Island, in her 75th year.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stewart of Southport, P. E. I. and had spent almost all her life in Umbria to visit her daughters there some four years ago. In the fall of 1924, she suffered from a paralytic stroke, and since that time has gradually failed.

She leaves behind three daughters, Mrs. George A. Forbes, of Passmore, B. C., Mrs. Heath MacLean of Allston, Mass., who was also with her mother at the time of her death, and Mrs. Edgar Jameson of Passmore; also one son, Harold of St. Boswell, Saskatchewan. Another son, Garfield, predeceased her nearly four years ago.

She is also survived by one sister, Miss Jessie of Southport, P. E. I., and two brothers, James H. of Whittier, Calif., and George of Southport.

Interment took place in the cemetery at Nelson, British Columbia.

MR. JOSEPH STEWART

The sudden death of Mr. Joseph Stewart, of Sea View, on Tuesday, June 15th, saddened all the community. Apparently he was quite well until the evening before, when he was suddenly stricken with paralysis. The doctor was immediately called, but he was unable to do for him and on the following morning he died.

The deceased was in his sixtieth year, and was a son of the late Spencer Stewart. He was a consistent follower of the Presbyterian Church, and his funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Genge, assisted by the Rev. G. T. Spriggs. Mr. Genge spoke very fittingly and sympathetically on the victory over death, quoting:—"Thanks be to God Who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Life. What is our life? Life is transient, passing through worry, sin, and many evolutions. Death is the inevitable result of a broken law. Resurrection promised in Jesus Christ. Death is an incident in life. Life continues into the future. Death is not the bondage of humanity, but the rear of death holds us in bondage. Why is this? Because there is not the clear conception of God's Law. The spirit which is God's gift of God, is the promised gift of God. We do not inherit immortality. Corruption cannot inherit incorruption. Immortality is the mystery unsolved by human thought. The solution is found only in Jesus Christ. He is the life of the just. When we die, our dearest friends do not want us long in their presence. Then mother earth, whence we came, opens her arms and takes us back as a sacred trust, awaiting the moon when the mortal shall put on immortality. In death the dust returns to the earth as it was; the Spirit, the great principle of life, goes out to God Who gave. The preparatory stage of the fuller existence of immortal life, have no eulogies today. He who has died is a stranger to me. I have a message for the living. In his sudden call, I hear again the master's calling: "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of Man cometh."

The eloquent and gentlemanly funeral message to the bereaved ones. The work of the deceased here stopped, but not finished. All our material work stops with death, but death does not terminate the soul's activities. We will catch the broken threads again, and finish the mysteries explain. And then some time, some day, somewhere we will understand."

Rev. G. T. Spriggs led in the first prayer and pronounced the Benediction. The hymns sung were "Forever with the Lord," "Oh, think of Home Over There," and "Asleep in Jesus." There was also a quartette "Face to Face."

He leaves to mourn a wife and nine children, Mrs. Ann Adams, Sea View; Mrs. Wadell, Arthur, Sea View; and George, of Medford, Mass., and Horace, Blanche, Alice and Hattie, at home. He also leaves three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Glover, Mrs. Hartwell, Agnes and George, all of Boston. Mrs. Wadell, Arthur and George came home to the funeral which took place on Thursday, June 17.

The floral tributes were: Pillow from family; crescent, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cousins; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Lea Moase.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Edward Stewart, Allen Stewart, Dan Stewart, William Stewart, Edward McKay and Everett McLeod. Long will the memory of the deceased endure in the grateful minds of his many friends.

MR. AUGUSTINE WALKER

The restitutions of Johnstone's River and shortly were shocked to hear of the death of Augustine Walker, a highly respected citizen of that place, which occurred on May 14th, at the age of 79 years.

The deceased had been in excellent health all winter and until had been about as usual, when he was stricken with an attack of indigestion and in spite of all that medical skill and tender care could do, his spirit took its flight.

He was attended during his brief illness by Rev. Father Sinnott, the Catholic Church of which he was a faithful member.

Mr. Walker was a man of cheerful disposition, a much beloved father and will be greatly missed in the neighborhood where his kindness and pleasant greeting to all made him a great favorite but it is in the home where his kind and gentle manner predominated and where the gentle voice is still missed forever that he will be missed the most.

His funeral took place on Sunday the 16th to Fort Augustus Cemetery and was largely attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Wm. McCabe and all that was mortal of a kind and loving father was laid to rest beside his wife who predeceased him two years ago.

He leaves to mourn three sons and six daughters namely: Wm. in Alta; Charles and Walter at home; Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Fort Augustus; Mrs. Patrick Clarkin, Ruskin; Mrs. Chas. Cummiskey, Rochester, N. H.; Lavina at home; Margaret in Boston, Mass.; and Florence, teaching in Hebron, New York. Sister, Mrs. Robert Griffin, Charlottetown.

The pall bearers were Wm. Trainor, Patrick Halloran, James McKenna, Alex. McAulay, James Dalton, Joseph Smith.

The following were the Spiritual Bouquets and Mass Offerings received.

Mass Offerings—Daughter Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Walker, and Lottie, Daughter Margaret, Mrs. Chas. Cummiskey, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Mrs. M. Trainor and Mrs. A. Walker, Everett Boag, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ostridge and family, The Johnstone's River Dramatic Club.

Spiritual Bouquets—The Family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trainor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Halloran and family, Mary Smith, Antia and Isabel MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McDonald.—R.I.P. (Patriot Please Copy.)

Founders' Day at Chelsea Hospital

A proud moment for Pensioner Piner, aged 93, and the oldest member of Chelsea Hospital, came when the Duke of Connaught shook his hand on "Oak Apple Day."

Southern Queens And King's

Her many friends are much pleased to welcome back Miss Margaret A. MacNeill formerly of Little Sands but now of Boston. She is at present visiting her old home in Little Sands where she remains a week or two before returning to the country of her adoption.

That the weather is variable is evident to the most obtuse, but to ascribe facetiously it would be to indulge in the wildest fancy yet. Its storms and its calm, its biting coldness, its frigid apathies very similar indeed to the caprices, the whims and changeable moods of a sentient human being.

Mrs. Catherine MacKeen, a native of Charlottetown in this province has returned from British Columbia lately and is now visiting her many friends and relatives in various parts of the Island. At present she is in Georgetown. She proposes to return to B. C. in the course of a month or six weeks.

The lobster season is rapidly drawing to a close. The fishing off the shore of Wood Islands is vastly better than last year perhaps 100 per cent better. A number of the fishermen have already landed more than the total of last year's catch.

And they have sworn a solemn oath "John Barleycorn should die." Well here they all swore falsely because John Barleycorn is alive and hearty let me tell you. He has been much buffeted about and kicked and jumped upon and mangled sorely and most unmercifully but he seems no whit the worse. He is as big as broad as long and as vigorous as ever he was in his life. And he is a citizen of the whole wide world equally at home in the palace of the prince or the hovel of the pauper. Now in a sumptuous palatial now in a lumbering tumble down freight, now in luxury on a splendid ocean liner, now on a battered old sea tub. Go where you will John Barleycorn is there a head of you or on his way. Love is equally jovial when he meets a beriberi. Walls he overleaps, mountains he overpasses laws and lawmakers he flouts openly, prisons he blandly smiles at and when he meets a prohibition law he emits his laziest snigger. A toddy portion of him now sits pretty on the waters between East Point and Cape Bear there to remain until, dissected bit by bit, every last ounce of him is landed on terra firma and when that is done there's plenty more to follow for Johnny is nothing if not filimitable.

From the standpoint of high ethics, regard for a moment the heroic mental mould of the party or parties who indulged in the sweet pleasure of laying across the highway a stretch of barbed wire from side to side.

Can you conceive, gentle reader, anything more clever, more noble, more beneficent than that kind of mischief, particularly when it puts a car or cars out of action, as indeed was the case. Personally I was in no way a victim as I neither drive or own a car and was not riding in the car or cars that were affected still I hope I can perceive the equality of the deed to the fullest extent of its merit. There are some who would be willing to designate the act as that of a contemptible, and malignant rascal and with them I am not disposed to disagree.

Seeding operations are about while running.
