

The SUMMERSIDE GUARDIAN

AND PRINCE COUNTY CHRONICLE

WESTERN GUARDIAN

AGENT—Mrs. John Pond, 44 Water Street East—Phone 289-1
SUMMERSIDE AND PRINCE COUNTY

News, Subscriptions, Advertising should be left with Mrs. Pond
The Guardian may be bought daily at any of the following stores in Summerside:
Bookstore, Water St. Goulries Drugstore, Water St.
Toronto Bakery, Water St. Mark Gaudet, 67 Granville St.

The Guardian will be delivered to any home in Summerside by carrier Boy at 2c per day or 10c per week. Phone 289-1 for this service or by order to the boy responsible for deliveries on your route.

This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a newsy nature may be inserted at 4 cents a word strictly payable in advance.

PROFESSIONAL Hockey Pucks in Guards, Sticks and Tape sold at 50c. L-586-2-25-21.

USE ARTHUR'S Private Formula, Eczema Ointment. L-490-2-22-41.

ENTERTAINED GUILD—Mrs. M. J. Harrison, president of the Ladies of the Baptist Guild at the Parsons' on Tuesday evening. There was a most enjoyable evening.

RETURNED HOME—Miss Dorothy returned on Friday morning from Fredericton, N. B. She had been taking a hair-raising course. It is pleasing to report that Miss Dods was successful in her undertaking and received her diploma.

CELEBRATE 52ND ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dods, Summerside caterers, entertained a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Vianah Milligan on the occasion of their 52nd wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Milligan, who were formerly of Brookville, received many congratulations on the happy occasion.

YOUNG MEN HOLD MEETING—A regular weekly meeting of the Young Men was held in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening.

By ALAN RANDAL, Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 24—Now that Montreal Canadiens are back in the National Hockey League fight the Habits' morale has taken a big jump. Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks rate assists on the play because the Habits' slump that needed the Habits'...

AL WEILL says Lou Ambers would be twice the hitter he is were it not for Tony Scarpa. Tony, it may be remembered, was the Brooklyn boy Lou hit back in 1936...

Here's a new monicker... Captain Will Young of San Diego, Calif., who tells all about shark fishing at the National Sportsmen's Show, is billed as a "sharkologist"...

Hal Trosky, Cleveland Indians' slugging first baseman, is on the market if an attractive deal can be made... First of the New York Yankees head south for St. Petersburg, Fla., training base tomorrow...

Washington Senators' pitcher, had to get Judge's O.K. to leave for jury duty in Harrisburg, Pa.

Sooner or later, all fighters in New York go to Lou Shillman's Eighth Avenue gym to train... It's a barn of a place, with two rings, and Lou doesn't charge the boys much...

LEICESTER, England—Knocked down three times in the first round by Raoul Degryse, Belgian flyweight champion, Peter Kane, world title-holder, recovered to take a decision in a 10-round bout here.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

Carleton and Vicinity

Mrs. Fred Bell of Carleton was a recent visitor to Charlottetown.

Miss Jean McEwan, Prince of Wales student, spent the week-end at her home in Borden.

Miss Mary Hunt, B. A., principal of Cape Traverse school, was a week-end visitor to her home in St. Eleanors.

Among those who attended the recent Golden Wedding celebration at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doull's of Carleton, were Capt. James Stright and Mrs. Stright of Summerside.

Miss Mildred Murtart returned of Charlottetown Monday after a pleasant week-end spent at her home in Carleton.

Mrs. David Murphy and little daughter, Betty, have returned from K... where they spent the week-end with Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. P. Yeo.

Miss Evelyn Woolner, B.A., principal of Borden school, and Miss Margaret Woolner, principal of Carleton school, spent the week-end in Summerside.

Mrs. John F. Campbell of Cape Traverse has returned from a five-weeks' visit with relatives in Boston and Concord, N. H. She was met at Sackville by her son Frank, and her grandson, Jackie.

Mr. H. Stewart MacKinnon of Carletoncroft Dairy Farm, Carleton, is spending a few days in Charlottetown, taking in the meetings of the Central Farmer's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stright of Shemogue, N.B., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doull of Carleton.

The February meeting of the Cape Traverse Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Nathan Bell on Thursday, with the president in the chair. The meeting opened by singing O Canada, followed by responsive reading "Our Lord's Summary of the Law," after which the president led in prayer. A program based on this subject was carried out by the different members. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Bell served refreshments in her usual kindly and hospitable manner.

Surrounded by a happy group of their children, grandchildren, and other near relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Doull of Carleton, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage on February 18th. Among those present were their daughters, Mrs. Fred McQuarrie and Mrs. Fred Clark of Onelton with their husbands and children, two sons, Leto and Edgar of Chelton, with their wives and families, also Mrs. Doull's sisters, Mrs. Edith Pickering and Mrs. Gertrude Murray, and her brother, Mr. Leslie Stright and his wife of Shemogue, N.B., who are looking forward to the fiftieth anniversary of their own marriage in April. Loving greetings and felicitations were received from the absent daughter, Mrs. Norma Bears of Brudenell, and three sons, William of Boston, Austin of North Carolina, and Waldo of New York, who were unable to be present for the happy occasion.

Mrs. Doull's brother, Mr. William Stright and his wife of Bayfield, N. B., who had expected to attend were prevented by illness in their home, and her groom, Mr. Leslie Stright, who was born in Hampton, and they were married on February 18th, 1888, at the Methodist Parsonage in Tryon, Rev. D. C. Cowperthwaite officiating. Throughout their long and useful married life they have constantly upheld the principles of practical Christianity and all that is best in good citizenship. Their many friends wish them continued health and prosperity for many years to come.

ASKS FOR TRANSFER
(By The Canadian Press)
HULL, England—E. J. MacNeill, Scottish centre forward of Hull City football club and the team's leading scorer last season, has been placed on the transfer list at his own request. Recently he has been dropped from the first eleven.

LEICESTER, England—Knocked down three times in the first round by Raoul Degryse, Belgian flyweight champion, Peter Kane, world title-holder, recovered to take a decision in a 10-round bout here.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

Celebrate 54th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. N. Huestis, one of Summerside's most popular couples celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary on Thursday, when they were at home to their many friends.

From early in the afternoon until late at night, Mr. and Mrs. Huestis were kept quite busy receiving congratulations and gifts, which were showered upon them, as expressions of goodwill.

In the afternoon Mrs. Huestis was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. George Hogg and Mrs. Hazel Phillips; in the evening Miss Catherine Gates assisted Mrs. Hogg in serving.

Instead of an address a beautiful poem from the pen of Rev. L. E. G. Davies, pastor of the United Church, expressing happy congratulations to the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Huestis have been residents of Summerside for many years and have seen many changes in the town, but have always maintained a serene outlook on life, a happy home, with always a welcome for friends old and new.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Huestis, on the occasion of their 54th anniversary—by L. E. G. Davies.

It isn't given to everyone to run their years of wedded life Right up to fifty-four.

But you, dear friends, have managed it With the rhythm of a song: You've spanned an age as man and wife, And still are going strong.

When you linked your hands in marriage, In eighteen-eh-hth-five, Did you dream that half a century Would see you still alive?

Or dream that in far future years, In a decade marred by strife, The truth you blighted, each to each, Would strengthen late in life?

The fact has far surpassed the dream: The count is fifty-four; But if your friends could have their wish "Would be as many more.

So here's to further happiness To add to your rich store: May all your years as man and wife Be like these fifty-four!

Kensington And Vicinity

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. Preston Tombs is confined to his home with a mild attack of flu. All join in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Harold Gaudet of Summerside is enjoying a pleasant holiday at her home in Brookfield.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. Reagh Sudsbury, employee of C. N. R. here is confined to his home ill. All wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. John Thompson was a business visitor to Charlottetown on Tuesday.

Mr. David Larkin of Summerside is enjoying a pleasant holiday in Kensington the guest of his brother Mr. Arthur Larkin.

Mr. Leigh Howatt left on Monday on a business trip to the eastern part of the province.

Mr. Victor Ling of Charlottetown is enjoying a pleasant holiday in Kensington the guest of his sister Mrs. Dr. Bowness.

Mr. A. R. Howatt of Charlottetown was a business visitor to Kensington on Monday.

FOUR-SPEED BIKE
(By The Canadian Press)
LONDON—A four-speed bicycle hub gear is to be marketed here shortly.

HOLMAN'S STORE NEWS

COD LIVER OIL—Improve the health and strength of your eyes and body. Use our genuine Newfoundland Cod Liver Oil... rich in vitamins. Sold in any quantity. Hardware Dept.

FISHING SUPPLIES—Lobster Twines, Herring Nets, Tray Nails and other equipment in stock at lowest prices. Get your requirements from Holman's.

GAME TRAPS—We have a full stock of Game Traps for mink, muskrat, skunks, etc. Get your traps now and earn a few extra dollars.

LENTEN BROADCASTS—Buy a radio and listen to the Lenten Sermons and other good programs. We are featuring wonderful values in both Electric and Battery Radios. Come in and see them today. If you have a radio current in your home you can rent an electric machine at very low cost. Consult our Radio Department today.

C. H. G. S. RECORDS—Greatly reduced to clear—Buy a supply now at these low prices. Included are Jigs, Reels, Snags, Old Tackle, Fishing Popups, and a few Numbers, etc. Priced from 10 for 98c to 5 for 98c. NOTE—allow 25c extra for packing and postage on small orders—Hardware Dept.

HOLMAN'S Summerside

Measuring Rods To Guide Farmer

Encouraging progress has been made towards the establishment of standards as applied to agricultural products during the past decade. Wheat, apples, eggs, beef and many other farm products are described by a grade which has become known to those who produce or use these commodities. This progress has been of value not only in the commerce of these commodities but to farmers in increasing their returns.

Farmers and the public generally are more familiar with the standards of measurement for units of farm products than with standards of pertaining to the whole farm. It is true that farm revenue comes from the sale of a multiplicity of products but the factor of greatest importance to the farmer is that of taking in sufficient net revenue from the complete business to provide the desired living standard for himself and his family. It matters little from what product or group of products this desired net income is secured.

Use has been made and will continue to be made of several useful farm management measuring rods based upon physical quantity such as, milk production per cow, eggs per hen, and yield per acre. As farmers live less on farm products and more on cash income than formerly, new standards for rating farm management are required.

These may be learned by a study of a large number of farm account records. The farm management study of 780 dairy farms in Ontario, the first year of which has recently been completed, provides many suggestions in this connection. Two measuring rods thus determined are each receipts and cash expenses per crop acre.

The average cash receipts per crop acre, for the eight whole milk market zones, ranged from $28 in the Owen Sound, Peterboro-Oshawa area to $43 in the North Bay-Sudbury zone. The cash expenses per crop acre for the same zones, ranged from $22 in the Owen Sound-Peterboro-Oshawa zone to $29 in the Sudbury-North Bay zone in the Eastern Ontario cheese zone, the average cash receipts and expenses per acre were $22 and $16 respectively. For Western Ontario, the figures were $31 and $21 respectively. These new measuring rods may serve usefully as a dairy farm business.

new president, takes office by virtue of a coalition of leftist elements joined even by the Chilean Nazis, so complete was the reaction against recent rightist governments. Australian bring its own revolutionary party closer to the Apristas.

In fact, Mexico, as the only southern country which has established revolutionary government as a going concern, today occupies a position similar to that which Russia occupied in Europe in 1919. It is a natural leader of revolutionary movements. Mexico is making strenuous ef-

ports to cultivate the South American revolutionaries. She sent Regis Splindola to Cuba, Fernando Galvan to Brazil and the Argentine, Venezuela, Colombia, and

A Great tide of political change is rolling across South America just as it is across the rest of the world.

By that is meant not the kind of purely barbed-revolution that has given Ecuador 13 governments in three years, but a real awakening of the "plain people."

That tide is leaving its impress upon the most dictatorially-run countries. In Peru, where President Benavides rules in admitted defiance of the returns of the last election, his government moves to ward progress in many directions. Many of its activities are quite similar to those of Mexico, where a left government rules.

Gigantic public works on roads, irrigation projects and buildings, a widespread social security system, government-run restaurants where working men can dine well and cheaply, public housing projects.

Why? Because just as in Europe dictators know that they rule only because in spite of their tyrannies they are doing some things for the people's benefit, so in South America radical movements and the upsurge of hitherto negligible masses of people are so strong that even dictators must swim with the tide.

This pressure may already have turned the tide against Fascist influence. For the first time an elected leftist government has been allowed to take office. This is Chile, a "united front," similar to that which recently governed France, is in power.

So much has been written about Fascist penetration in South America, and about alleged Communist penetration, that little has been said about South America's native brand of leftist radicalism, the Aprista Movement.

The leader of this movement, Victor Haya de la Torre, is at present a fugitive in his native Peru, but the movement is felt in almost every South American country. It is closely linked to the ABC revolutionary movement in Cuba. Mexico is attempting to Dictators Are Not Whole Show In S. A.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

A Great tide of political change is rolling across South America just as it is across the rest of the world.

By that is meant not the kind of purely barbed-revolution that has given Ecuador 13 governments in three years, but a real awakening of the "plain people."

That tide is leaving its impress upon the most dictatorially-run countries. In Peru, where President Benavides rules in admitted defiance of the returns of the last election, his government moves to ward progress in many directions. Many of its activities are quite similar to those of Mexico, where a left government rules.

Gigantic public works on roads, irrigation projects and buildings, a widespread social security system, government-run restaurants where working men can dine well and cheaply, public housing projects.

Why? Because just as in Europe dictators know that they rule only because in spite of their tyrannies they are doing some things for the people's benefit, so in South America radical movements and the upsurge of hitherto negligible masses of people are so strong that even dictators must swim with the tide.

This pressure may already have turned the tide against Fascist influence. For the first time an elected leftist government has been allowed to take office. This is Chile, a "united front," similar to that which recently governed France, is in power.

So much has been written about Fascist penetration in South America, and about alleged Communist penetration, that little has been said about South America's native brand of leftist radicalism, the Aprista Movement.

The leader of this movement, Victor Haya de la Torre, is at present a fugitive in his native Peru, but the movement is felt in almost every South American country. It is closely linked to the ABC revolutionary movement in Cuba. Mexico is attempting to ports to cultivate the South American revolutionaries. She sent Regis Splindola to Cuba, Fernando Galvan to Brazil and the Argentine, Venezuela, Colombia, and

A Great tide of political change is rolling across South America just as it is across the rest of the world.

By that is meant not the kind of purely barbed-revolution that has given Ecuador 13 governments in three years, but a real awakening of the "plain people."

That tide is leaving its impress upon the most dictatorially-run countries. In Peru, where President Benavides rules in admitted defiance of the returns of the last election, his government moves to ward progress in many directions. Many of its activities are quite similar to those of Mexico, where a left government rules.

Gigantic public works on roads, irrigation projects and buildings, a widespread social security system, government-run restaurants where working men can dine well and cheaply, public housing projects.

Why? Because just as in Europe dictators know that they rule only because in spite of their tyrannies they are doing some things for the people's benefit, so in South America radical movements and the upsurge of hitherto negligible masses of people are so strong that even dictators must swim with the tide.

This pressure may already have turned the tide against Fascist influence. For the first time an elected leftist government has been allowed to take office. This is Chile, a "united front," similar to that which recently governed France, is in power.

So much has been written about Fascist penetration in South America, and about alleged Communist penetration, that little has been said about South America's native brand of leftist radicalism, the Aprista Movement.

The leader of this movement, Victor Haya de la Torre, is at present a fugitive in his native Peru, but the movement is felt in almost every South American country. It is closely linked to the ABC revolutionary movement in Cuba. Mexico is attempting to ports to cultivate the South American revolutionaries. She sent Regis Splindola to Cuba, Fernando Galvan to Brazil and the Argentine, Venezuela, Colombia, and

A Great tide of political change is rolling across South America just as it is across the rest of the world.

By that is meant not the kind of purely barbed-revolution that has given Ecuador 13 governments in three years, but a real awakening of the "plain people."

That tide is leaving its impress upon the most dictatorially-run countries. In Peru, where President Benavides rules in admitted defiance of the returns of the last election, his government moves to ward progress in many directions. Many of its activities are quite similar to those of Mexico, where a left government rules.

Gigantic public works on roads, irrigation projects and buildings, a widespread social security system, government-run restaurants where working men can dine well and cheaply, public housing projects.

Why? Because just as in Europe dictators know that they rule only because in spite of their tyrannies they are doing some things for the people's benefit, so in South America radical movements and the upsurge of hitherto negligible masses of people are so strong that even dictators must swim with the tide.

This pressure may already have turned the tide against Fascist influence. For the first time an elected leftist government has been allowed to take office. This is Chile, a "united front," similar to that which recently governed France, is in power.

So much has been written about Fascist penetration in South America, and about alleged Communist penetration, that little has been said about South America's native brand of leftist radicalism, the Aprista Movement.

The leader of this movement, Victor Haya de la Torre, is at present a fugitive in his native Peru, but the movement is felt in almost every South American country. It is closely linked to the ABC revolutionary movement in Cuba. Mexico is attempting to ports to cultivate the South American revolutionaries. She sent Regis Splindola to Cuba, Fernando Galvan to Brazil and the Argentine, Venezuela, Colombia, and

PUBLIC FORUM

This column is open for the discussion of any subject of general interest. The Charlottetown Guardian does not necessarily endorse the opinions of correspondents.

(Continued from page 4)

for about five years at the end of which time he is usually discharged and his plight is more pitiful than before. He too has disregarded his inheritance.

The third type is probably the most undesirable of the lot, and is created by illicit traffic at pre-emption times. Bad as it may appear to hear of an individual being paid for voting, it is much more serious as an offence for the person who offers the bribe. The sooner the people can stand as a unit to bring about strict enforcement of such practices they will have made no small step in bettering the conditions of Canada.

Lastly there is the "indifferent voter," the person who says "I don't care whether I vote or not." Frankly, it would be no great surprise to me—considering existing conditions and the representation the people are getting from any party—if this last mentioned type would be far in the majority. However, as the past has proven, this is not the case.

It is not my intention, now or at any other time, to discuss the system enforced by any party. I have my own opinions about this matter and I feel they would be better not expressed through the press. It was with the thought in mind to get—if they will—the ordinary person to conscientiously ask him or herself the question—Why do I vote?

I am, Sir, etc.
DANIEL R. JAY.

TOURISTS TROUNCED
(By The Canadian Press)
PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa—Jean Saunders formerly of Calgary, lost to Miss M. Morrow, 7-5, 6-1, here as a touring British tennis team was beaten 7-0 by Natal.

SOCCER COMES FIRST
(By The Canadian Press)
PENARTH, Wales—Penarth rugby players were late for their game at Heme Hill because their train was held up at Reading to allow Newport County to get to Aldershot for a football game.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

ROYAL FAMILY PLACES COLLECTIONS OF ART ON VIEW TO PUBLIC
An idea of some of the more unusual collections made by members of the Royal Family may be gained from a loan exhibition being planned by Dame Alice Godman in connection with the Royal Amateur Exhibition.

On March 13 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the High Commissioner for Canada, will open the exhibition at Dame Alice Godman's home in Font Street, London.

Pieces of ivory, tortoiseshell and mother o' pearl over 100 years old will form the exhibits in the loan collection. Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester are both keen collectors of objects of art that come under this qualification.

The Duchess of Gloucester collects inlaid tortoiseshell toilet pieces which she has laid out on a Chippendale dressing-table in her bedroom at York House, Queen Mary's collection of etuis, which are cases for one or several small articles especially boxes in which toilet articles are carried; inlaid mother o' pearl and ivory is extensive.

Aircraft will play a prominent part in the annual war games of the U.S. Navy when the fleet, divided into attacking and defending forces, "battles" in the Caribbean near the Panama Canal. Above: Force flying patrol boats at the San Juan, P. R., base.

This just goes to show that there is no expedient beneath the notice of the modern educator. Here we see a class in a West Ham, London, school, whose teacher, Mr. D. McCourt, diverts his pupils' natural interest in games to his own purposes, with good effect. To test the children's knowledge, he sets them problems to be worked out in the form of crossword puzzles, each pupil having a ruled blackboard about a foot square on which to do his work. Part of the problem on which the class is shown working concerns that battle which according to the Duke of Wellington, was won on the playing-fields of Eton. Mr. McCourt appears at the right, watching one of the pupils at work.