RELIGIOUS SERVICES

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

All people that on earth do dwell sing to the Lord with cheerful voice.

It was with these words that the congregation joined with the choir in the opening hymn of praise. Professor Kendall will be on holidays during August. Accompanied by Mrs. Kendall and daughter he will sail by the S. S. "Belle Isle" today for Newfoundland to visit their former home. Professor Fletcher of Saint Andrew's United Church, Sydney, N. S., and formerly of this church, presided at the organ and was welcomed in a few appropriate remarks by Rev. Mr. Brown preceding his sermon.

During the summer months well known soloists from other churches receive a cordial invitation from the Music Committee to assist in the worship of the day. Changes of this nature are appreciated by our congregation and bring beneficial results. Yesterday morning Mrs. H. S. Henderson, leading soloist in the choir of the First Baptist Church here, sang to the delight of all present Mendels' "Fear Not, Though Shadows Fall," and in the evening Mrs. J. A. Lawson of Saint James added to our joy by singing "O rest in the Lord" (Mendelssohn).

Some days ago a protest was presented to the Mayor of Toronto that atheists should not be permitted to preach on city streets and although under the law he could take no action he quoted from the Old Testament to exemplify his views on citizenship stating that men "should do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with thy God." These words are found in Micah 6-8 and it was that verse from which Rev. C. N. Brown, M. A., preached a very helpful sermon showing that religion cannot be divorced from the routine of our daily lives. Micah's words are the chart by which Christians should regulate their lives.

Rev. Dr. Ramsay is holidaying in Malpeque this month and so Rev. Mr. Brown was again the preacher at the evening service and took as his text Matt. 9-2, "Son, be of good cheer." Mr. Brown gave an inspiring message of hope and trust in God.

We are now enjoying real summer weather and the attendance at Sunday School was affected slightly but for July the average attendance per Sunday was 190 as against an average of 125 for the year 1931 and an average of 79 for the year 1930. The officers and teachers are to be congratulated on this result.

Part of the flowers adorning the pulpit were presented by Mrs. Bonnell in memory of the late Mr. A. Bonnell.

Says Shan Is Still Living

NANKING, China, Aug. 6.—(G.P.)—Japanese reports that General Na Chan-Shan, Chinese military chief in Manchuria, had been killed north of Halluin late last month were branded as "Japanese propaganda" by official circles here today.

Government officials said they had received a telegram from General Ma who reported that he was directing troops against the Manchurian Government in an area north of Harbin and east of Halluin. It also was said that Chang Hsiao-Liang had telegraphed from Peiping that he had been informed that General Ma was in the best of health.

A report to Tokyo from Mukden yesterday said General Nohjo Commander of the Japanese forces in Manchuria, had issued an army order praising the division under General Matsuki for "killing Ma Chan-Shan and annihilating his command."

Not Satisfied With Bargain

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—The Canadian Government has no further responsibility regarding distribution of war reparations payments to Armenians resident in Canada, it was learned at the Department of State today. A despatch from Brantford, Ont., last night, quoted George H. Alexander of that city as declaring that the Armenians has signed away $120,000 of the $300,000 set aside by the Government for this purpose.

During the war a number of Armenians in Canada had property and close relatives in the war-infested areas in the east. During the massacre of 1918 they suffered the loss of relatives and property, the Lausanne treaty set up an international commission to distribute 5,000,000 Turkish pounds which had been deposited in Berlin banks for the purpose of compensating Armenians for their losses. The claim on behalf of Canadian Armenians was not recognized.

A year ago the Canadian Government, out of an appropriation of $3,000,000 for war reparation purposes, set aside $300,000 as compensation for Armenians resident in the Dominion. Pledges for this compensation was presented by a Mrs. Brown, a Detroit lawyer who had been an American Red Cross worker in the far east. She and her associates were given power of attorney by the Armenian claimants, to collect their behalf. The cheques were sent out some months ago, payable to the individual claimants but subject to the endorsement of the Detroit lawyer, who presumably was to receive for herself and associates a commission of 40 per cent. It would appear, so far as state officials are aware, that the claimants, now that they have received the money, were not satisfied with their bargain.

Enormous Grizzly Attacks Sleepers Great Bear Lake

(Special to Edmonton Journal by Fred B. Watt)

LINDSAY BAY, Great Bear Lake June 10.—The night before I left for Great Bear Lake, some months ago, "Spud" Arsenault, well known young Northman, and a member of the Eldorado Field Staff, was my guest at dinner in Edmonton. Bear Lake was naturally the subject of conversation. During the course of conversation "Spud" held forth on the wild life of the region, remarking on the fright which one got on encountering the animal after which the Lake is named. When my young son proclaimed himself a great bear lover, the obliging Mr. Arsenault promptly promised him one as a pet, to be delivered at the end of the season's operations.

Lately, at Conjuror Bay, "Spud" abruptly came on the opportunity to make good his offer, but he failed miserably. With Gunnar, another of the Labine party, he was sleeping in the open, when at 3 a. m. he was rudely awakened by a pang of extreme agony in the region of his head. "I opened my eyes" he recounts, "and figured I must be having a superb nightmare. An enormous bear was standing astride me and I was looking straight down his throat. I gave a good honest yell of terror and the bear stepped clear of me. Then Gunnar started yelling too."

"By golly, yes," Gunnar takes up the story, "I heard 'Spud' shout and when I looked at him, blood was streaming down his face and a big barren-lands grizzly was looking him over as though he couldn't quite make up his mind whether to go on with the meal or not. Yell? You bet I yelled!"

The prospectors didn't confine themselves to a vocal effort. Arsenault grabbed for his rifle and the bear decided on a retreat. Two shots failed to stop him. "Spud" bleeding profusely, and still wondering what had happened, was not a deadly shot as usual.

Dr. Robertson, who dressed the wound, found a gash three inches long on Arsenault's scalp and a smaller abrasion lower down on his head. It was his opinion that they were teeth rather than claw marks.

Why the bear attacked the sleeping man is a mystery. Probably he was rummaging for food and became alarmed by "Spud" moving or muttering in his sleep. Many solutions are being gratuitously offered the victim at the Labine Camp. Despite the facetiousness, however, no one fails to realize that a permanent gap might easily have appeared in the staff had the grizzly, in his ugliest mood at this time of year, used his customary form of attack. A slap of his tremendous forepaw, and "Spud" would not have awakened in this world. With the brutes appearing in ever-growing numbers, the mishap has resulted in a general polishing up of 30-30's and the

Volunteer Army To Have Entire Responsibility

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The territorial army (volunteer) is to have the entire responsibility of manning Great Britain's coast defences. Units of the army will be reorganized so as to bring them into proper relation with existing sea-fort armaments and lights. New units will be provided to anti-aircraft protection.

Men up to 50 years of age may be enlisted in coast defence units for home service only, but the number of such men must not exceed one third of the establishment of a unit. All ranks in these coast defence units will sign an agreement to come up for service whenever required, even though the territorial army has not been mobilized. The scheme will come into force in October.

By a coincidence five of the long disused Martello towers on the south coast of England, erected well over a century ago to repel the threatened Napoleonic invasion, are now for sale. More than 30 of these towers have already been converted into dwellings. They are painted mostly by authors and painters in search of quiet, and by yachtsmen. The walls vary in thickness from seven to 14 feet.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. KENNETH MACDONALD

There passed away on Friday afternoon at the home of her son, Mr. W. H. MacDonald, Mermald, Mrs. Isabel MacDonald, widow of the late Mr. Kenneth MacDonald, previously of Covehead. Mrs. MacDonald, who had attained the good old age of eighty-six years, survived her husband by only three years. She had been in the enjoyment of good health until about Christmas when she was confined to bed with the grippe. Although she got over that trouble she was unable to leave bed, and gradually grew weaker until she passed away quietly on Friday afternoon in the presence of a number of her children. Mrs. MacDonald was long honored and respected in the community, both at Mermald and Covehead, as a woman of high character and attainments whose services were always at the command of her friends and neighbours. Mrs. MacDonald was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, of Mt. Albion, and was the mother of ten children, five boys and five girls. Early in life she was brought to the knowledge of the truth as in Christ Jesus, and loyally and devotedly followed the light through all her long life, bringing up her family as God-fearing and industrious citizens. Mrs. MacDonald was most hospitable in her own home, and always had abundance for as many as cared to share her meals and especially on Sundays there would be many to avail themselves of her generous hospitality. Mrs. MacDonald was a devout member of the Church of Scotland, regularly partaking of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the seasonal Communions at the church in Lot 48. She is survived by nine of her children (one daughter having predeceased her) namely Mrs. John W. Jay, Pisiquid; Mrs. L. E. Jay, Mt. Stewart; Mrs. Harry Swan, Covehead; Mrs. Crawford Jay, Charlottetown; Malcolm and John A., Southport; W. H. on the old homestead; Wallace, Covehead; and P. J., of Charlottetown.

The funeral, which was attended by a large concourse of mourners, was held at Mermald yesterday (Sunday) at half-past one officiating clergymen being James Lamont assisted by the Rev. George Elliott. The pall bearers were her own five sons and grandson, Walter D., (whom she reared from childhood and is on her own old homestead at Covehead), when all that remained of a kind and loving mother was laid to rest beside her husband in Mermald Cemetery. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; for she rests from her labours and her work follows after field has assumed the aspect of an armed camp.

"How about that bear for the boy?" I asked Arsenault last night, "still going to bring him out his pet." "Sure thing" he answered grimly, fingering his bandaged head, "A stuffed one."

Urtle (Spud) Arsenault is a son of Mr. J. F. Arsenault, Deputy Prothonotary of the Supreme Court for Prince County and a nephew of Mr. Justice Arsenault. "Spud" Arsenault has been in the north country ever since his return from the Great War, having enlisted and served at the front when he was only sixteen years of age. He is one of the Lepine party discoverers of the rich mineral deposits at Great Slave Lake. Before going to Slave Lake "Spud" did considerable flying with the McAlpine party over the north country with which he is well acquainted and has sent home a great collection of photographs of the country.

A CLERK'S ERROR

Jamaica reports a slight increase in the export of coconuts for the year 1932 to date. Millions of those tropical nuts reach Canada by Canadian National steamers. The word can be spelled "coconut" or "coconut" and the nut has nothing whatever to do with cocoa, which comes from the cocoa bean. Incidentally, it is claimed that cocoa should be spelled "cacao," and that a clerk's error is responsible for the new accepted orthography. Chocolate is produced from the cacao nut or cocoa bean.
