Some Curios

The Guardian is indebted to Mr. J. F. Baker, 137 Hillsboro St., City, for a gift of curios comprising shells of the sea-urchin and a species of triton and also an Indian implement of fine-grained stone, possibly an arrowhead. The sea-urchins, class Echinidea of the Echinodermata, are closely related to the starfishes and streaked "Crinoids," or sea-lilies. They are an ancient race whose fossil representatives may be traced back to the carboniferous (coal-measures) period. The common sea urchin of our coasts—which closely resembles the genus Regularia of the European Atlantic—has a somewhat globular body enclosed in an oblate hemispheric shell, composed of calcareous plates rigidly joined. These plates bear rows of tubercles whose trend is to the anal aperture at the "summit" of the shell. In life each tubercle bears a small spine so that the sea animal has been compared to the hedge-hog or urchin, hence the name. The spines being united to the supporting tubercles by muscular tissue partly serve as organs of locomotion as well as of defence. The "mouth" of the animal projects through the opening in the under-surface of the shell.

The triton-like shells belong to the order gastropoda. They are spiral, flesh-colored and beautifully corrugated in the direction of the whorls. The largest measures nearly three inches in length.

These and many other interesting species inhabit the shallow waters round our coasts, and may sometimes be found cast up on the beach after storms. It is a matter for gratification that we are to have a museum in which collections of such objects will be available to students of natural history.

PRINCE EDWARD HAS ANOTHER BIG SPECIAL

COLLEEN MOORE DEMONSTRATES GREAT ABILITY AS AN EMOTIONAL ACTRESS IN "LILAC TIME," BEAUTIFUL LOVE ROMANCE BEHIND THE FIGHTING FRONT IN FRANCE—

Another fine film production is added to those fans should not miss in First National's big special, "Lilac Time," which opened an engagement at the Prince Edward Theatre yesterday. A dramatic portrayal that overshadows anything we have seen on the screen in many months is given by Colleen Moore in the stellar role. Miss Moore, heretofore known chiefly as a comedienne, can now rank with the finest dramatic artists on the screen. She surprised and delighted her most ardent admirers in the role of Jeannine, the little French girl behind the lines in France, and ever made for the screen, can overshadow the subtle, heart-throbbing characterization of Jeannine at the hands of Miss Moore.

Gary Cooper, remembered for his fine work in "Beau Sabreur" and "The Legion of the Condemned," does even better work in "Lilac Time" as Jeannine's sweetheart, and the others in the company contribute their share towards the success of the picture.

"Lilac Time" adapted for the screen by Willis Goldbeck from the stage play by Jane Cowl and Jane Murnin, is a genuine treat, and a compelling and sincere romance.

The supporting cast includes such fine players as Burr McIntosh, George Cooper, Kathryn McGuire, Cleve Moore, Eugenie Besserer, Emilie Chautaur, Jack Stone, Edward Dillon and Dick Grace.

"Lilac Time" should pack the Prince Edward Theatre at all performances for the next two days.

ROSS-STEWART NUPTIALS

An event of more than ordinary interest was solemnized at Mt. Albion on the evening of April the 3rd, 1929, when at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart, precisely at 7 o'clock their second eldest daughter, Hilda May, was united in marriage with Mr. William Wood Ross of Vernon, P. E. I. The charming young bride looked handsome in a gown of pale blue georgette trimmed with rhinestones and carried a handsome bouquet of carnations as she entered the drawing room, leaning on the arm of her father and placed beside the waiting groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Pierce, Montague, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was excellently rendered by Mrs. M. W. Wood, aunt of the groom. The bride was attended by Miss Bessie Foster, Marshfield, who looked charming in a gown of pale blue crepe de chene, while the groom was supported by Mr. Albert Stewart, brother of the bride. The ceremony and wedding supper being over and having been duly serenaded by the youth and beauty of Mt. Albion and surrounding districts, the happy couple drove to their home in Vernon. The numerous presents from far and near including cheques, best glass, silver and linen, testify to the popularity of the young couple and the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends. The Guardian offers congratulations.

In Memoriam

MR. MILBURN A. DIXON

At the hour of 11 P. M., February 26rd, 1929 in the P. E. Island hospital after a prolonged struggle against the forces of dissolution Mr. Milburn A. Dixon's spirit took its flight to "that bourne where no traveller returns." Entering the hospital on December 13th, 1928, he underwent an operation for appendicitis on the 15th, the anniversary of his Silver Wedding Day, he having been married on December 15th, 1903. The operation was in itself successful and the patient appeared hopeful and strong for some days after it and was looking forward to a cheerful Christmas at his own residence in Little Sands. This hope was not to be realized for his malady proved to be more serious than had at first been anticipated. There seems to have been an infection of the tissue surrounding the appendix, suppuration persisted and the wound refused to heal, and notwithstanding the most assiduous medical attention and the most careful nursing he passed away after an illness which began on the 8th day of December, 1928 and terminated with his death on the 23rd, February, 1929. Fortunately his illness was comparatively free from pain.

Mr. Dixon was born on the 16th January, 1864 and was thus 65 years of age at his death. Until his 21st year in 1885, Mr. Dixon resided with his parents farming on the old home stead in Little Sands where he was born. From 1885 until 1888 he worked in Caribon Island and Durham, N. S., in the former place with Mr. Rod MacKenzie, in the latter with Mr. Alex. Fraser. In 1888 he went to the western States of America and farmed and mined in California Nevada and Utah. Returning to his native province after an absence of nine years in the States he purchased the farm on which his residence is now situated, from his uncle Mr. George Dixon. He in partnership with Mr. Daniel Keenan of Port Wood operated a lobster factory in Little Sands for ten years and thereafter ran it fifteen years on his own account.

In whatever activities he was engaged Mr. Dixon employed the whole resources of his mind and body and his energy and diligence in his various occupations were extraordinary, and for that reason the amount of work he accomplished was amazing. Contending with a sour, poor and stubborn soil with unremitting efforts he built up one of the most productive farms in this locality and he succeeded in establishing a most desirable homestead.

It may be said in passing that the sum total of his possessions, and these by no means inconsiderate, was solely the fruit of his own labor, independent of any external aid.

He lived a life full of industry and usefulness. Generous, charitable and helpful, his means were at the disposal of any deserving cause and as a neighbour he had no superiors. In the midst of his activities he found time for the lighter side of life. was a lover of good horses and a keen sportsman. Of a friendly disposition himself, he enjoyed the friendship of a multitude, and by these his demise will be deeply deplored.

Resolution of Condolence

At a meeting of L. P. U., the members expressed their sincere sympathy to Mrs. Gillis in the recent death of his father, and the following resolutions were passed:

Whereas "Divine Providence has called away a respected honorary member of our organization in the person of John Gillis" and whereas "in the first year of this Union's existence he was an efficient active member."

Therefore resolved that we sympathize with our president and other relatives who mourn their loss and we trust that Almighty God has taken him to a bright home where his spirit will forever rest in peace.

Further resolved that a page of our minute book be dedicated to his loving memory and a copy of these resolutions be sent to the press for publication.

Signed—D. Coughlin, M. Egan, J. Purcell, Com. of Condolence.

Livestock Market

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, April 9—There were 113 cattle, 4395 calves, 723 hogs and 23 sheep and lambs for sale on the two markets. The cattle market was steady. Common to medium cows from $6 to $7.50. Bulls from $6 to $7.25 and one load of good steers sold for $10.25. Owing to the railway troubles east of Toronto many calves that ordinarily would have gone to Toronto were shipped to Montreal, and although the average quality was equal to or better than last week's prices were between 2 and 3 per hundredweight lower, three or four of the best cars brought $9 and the balance of the 3,500 on hand brought from $7 to $8.25 with the bulk at $7.25. The sheep market was unchanged. Sows were from $9.50 to $10. Hogs brought from $13 to $13.35 with a few up to $13.50.

MRS. THOMAS SHEPARD.

The death of Mrs. Thomas Shepard, of Cardigan, occurred at her home, on March 30th, after a brief illness. Although not in her usual health for the last year, her death came unexpectedly, and was a sudden shock to her family and friends.

Deceased was of a kind and cheerful disposition and loved by all those who made her acquaintance. She was 63 years of age, and leaves to mourn besides her sorrowing husband, four daughters and four sons, Mrs. William Walsh, Cardigan; Mrs. Vincent Farrell, Cardigan; Mrs. Malcolm McAulay, Charlottetown; Mrs. Alfred Saunders, Bever Falls, Pennsylvania; Burt of Cardigan; Fred and Lem who were working in Quebec, but arrived home in time to bid their last farewell to mother, and Thaddeus at home. Also one brother and one sister namely: Malcolm McSwain, Grand Rapids, Wis; and Mrs. Humphrey Hayter, Cardigan. A very large number attended to pay their tribute of respect and to show their sympathy with the bereaved.

She was frequently visited by her pastor, Rev. M. J. Rooney. Her funeral took place on April 1st, at all Saints Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. M. J. Rooney.

British Subjects Must Have Visa

(Special to The Guardian)

WASHINGTON, April 8—British subjects residing in Canada cannot cross daily into the United States to work without an immigration visa issued under the quota law. The Supreme Court ruled today. The high court reversed a circuit court of appeals decision holding that Mark Cook, native of Scotland, and Antonio Danello, Italian, were "now immigrants" entering the United States temporarily for business and therefore not within the quota law. The Labor Department and American Federation of Labor opposed this influx of labor by the frontiers.

For Both House and Stable—

There is a good deal of similarity, physically speaking, between human beings and the lower animals. Both are subject to many ailments arising from inflammation and to all manner of cuts and bruises. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is an entirely reliable remedy for such ailments and mishaps in both human beings and the lower animals.
