

LEGISLATURE IN COMMITTEE YESTERDAY

School Act Amendments, Lobster Dealers Bill, Etc., Given 2nd Reading.

Legislative Assembly, April 20. The House met at 10 p.m. Mr. Stewart asked the Minister of Public Works: (1) Has a survey of the proposed Brighton-North River Bridge site been made? (2) If so, was the survey sufficiently complete to give accurate data as to cost of construction of this bridge? (3) Is it the intention of the Government to fully investigate this site before a new bridge is erected over the North River? Hon. Mr. McIntyre replied that a partial survey had been made by the Dominion Government. Mr. Stewart asked the Minister of Public Works: Has a petition been received from the residents of Brighton, Hamilton, Victoria and Crapaud, praying that a hardsurfaced road be constructed from Charlottetown to Borden via these villages? The petition has been received and I am anxious to know what we are going to do with all the petitions we have received from different parts asking for the same thing. It is just a matter of how many we can undertake in one year. I can assure my hon. friend that we will do our very best. The following bills were received and read: Appropriation Act (Premier Campbell). An Act to provide for the licensing and regulation of establishments for the reception of tourists (Premier Campbell). An Act relating to gifts for perpetual maintenance of plots in cemeteries. (Mr. Wright). An Act for the protection of milk and cream producers in Prince Edward Island. (Mr. Wright).

Marriage Act On motion of Premier Campbell the House went into committee with Mr. Mustard in the chair on an Act to amend the Marriage Act, 1924. The Premier explained that the present law makes invalid marriages in which all due formalities have not been observed. Sec. 1 of the amendment proposes to make illegal the solemnization of marriages in such cases. The bill also provides that licenses shall not be issued until one week after the filing of the necessary papers. Mr. Saville thought the latter clause would cause unnecessary inconvenience. Mr. McIsaac supported the amendment under the name of "taking a little drop" whereas if he had to wait for a week he would have a chance to sober up. Premier Campbell said he had not only been a demand for this legislation but the Women's Institutes have urged the Government to insist on requiring a health certificate. He did not think the amendment was drastic in view of the requirements elsewhere. Mr. Saville expressed surprise that any clergyman would marry a man under such circumstances who was not fit to be a member of a church. At present there was nothing to prevent a couple getting married outside the three-mile limit, without any delay. Premier Campbell: "In that case the sec-breeze would sober them." Sec. 3 provides that if a person is refused a license to marry or if he is refused a license to solemnize, he may apply to the court for a ruling as to his eligibility. The bill was reported agreed to.

On motion of Premier Campbell the House went into committee with Mr. Barbour in the chair on an Act to amend the Land Assessment Act, 1924. The bill acts to Sec. 49 of the existing Act the following: "In the case of lands assessed on the assessment rolls in the name of estates it shall not be necessary for the Provincial Treasurer to apply for executions, but the Provincial Treasurer shall be at liberty to sell such lands after complying with all the provisions of the said Act in the provision of executing the same as aforesaid."

The Premier said a concerted effort had been made to acquire the largest tract of one of the greatest difficulties encountered was in the case of estates where the owners had died and no distribution of the estate had taken place. The bill does not recognize any legal estate as an estate, and in order to comply strictly with the Act it would be necessary to assess the land in the name of the heirs. This would involve considerable formalities, and in the case of estates that are not wound up it would be difficult and in some cases impossible to obtain an accurate list of the heirs. In order to get over the difficulty—which applies to a large number of vacant lands in this province—it is proposed that in the case of estates it will be sufficient to place the property in the name of the estate, and in that case an order for sale can be obtained without the necessity of going through the form of an order for execution.

Mr. Acorn asked if provision was made for advertising these estates. Premier Campbell: "Yes, there are public notices in the newspapers at a certain time in the first place on application to the Court; and after the order for sale is made there has to be a further advertisement of each particular piece of land." Mr. Saville: "Has there been any property sold under the Assessment Act?" Premier Campbell: "I don't think there has been any actually sold, but there have been applications City or Town as such child or children properly belong or should attend, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such trustee or officer to take such child or children to the school or schools directed by such permit or permits, and deliver him or them with such permit or permits to the Principal of such school, who shall receive and take charge of such child or children and place them in the class or classes to which they properly belong or be eligible for, and see that their names be entered and enrolled in a book to be kept for such purpose, and in which shall be noted the names and street addresses of the parents or guardians of such child or children, and such Principal shall see that such child or children shall thereafter attend his class or classes in such school and receive the education provided therein."

The bill, after some further discussion was reported agreed to.

Lobster Dealers' Bill On motion of Mr. Cox the House resumed committee, with Mr. Stewart in the chair, on an Act respecting lobster dealers. The bill imposes a $500 license fee on mainland lobster dealers buying or selling live lobsters known as "cannery" for shipment out of the Province.

Mr. Saville said he understood that in certain sections contracts have already been made with outside buyers for the coming season. He suggested that, in these circumstances, the promoter had better withdraw it. Mr. Cox thought a vote should be taken on the issue.

Mr. MacKinnon said the fishermen in his section were all anxious to have the bill go through. Mr. Hughes suggested, in view of the conflict of opinion, that the bill be passed on condition that it be put into effect at the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Hon. Mr. LePage agreed with Mr. Hughes. The bill was put into effect at this session, without any advance notice. The list of December, next, would give everyone interested sufficient time to get ready for the next spring. Otherwise, it might be left over and passed next session, and in the meantime it could be discussed with the fishermen of the Union. Mr. MacKinnon said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

children properly belong or should attend, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such trustee or officer to take such child or children to the school or schools directed by such permit or permits, and deliver him or them with such permit or permits to the Principal of such school, who shall receive and take charge of such child or children and place them in the class or classes to which they properly belong or be eligible for, and see that their names be entered and enrolled in a book to be kept for such purpose, and in which shall be noted the names and street addresses of the parents or guardians of such child or children, and such Principal shall see that such child or children shall thereafter attend his class or classes in such school and receive the education provided therein."

The bill, after some further discussion was reported agreed to.

Lobster Dealers' Bill On motion of Mr. Cox the House resumed committee, with Mr. Stewart in the chair, on an Act respecting lobster dealers. The bill imposes a $500 license fee on mainland lobster dealers buying or selling live lobsters known as "cannery" for shipment out of the Province.

Mr. Saville said he understood that in certain sections contracts have already been made with outside buyers for the coming season. He suggested that, in these circumstances, the promoter had better withdraw it. Mr. Cox thought a vote should be taken on the issue.

Mr. MacKinnon said the fishermen in his section were all anxious to have the bill go through. Mr. Hughes suggested, in view of the conflict of opinion, that the bill be passed on condition that it be put into effect at the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Hon. Mr. LePage agreed with Mr. Hughes. The bill was put into effect at this session, without any advance notice. The list of December, next, would give everyone interested sufficient time to get ready for the next spring. Otherwise, it might be left over and passed next session, and in the meantime it could be discussed with the fishermen of the Union. Mr. MacKinnon said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

Hon. Mr. LePage said he had supported the bill in the interests of the fishermen, but in view of the objections taken he was agreeable to having it put into effect by order-in-council.

Mr. Cox said he believed he was the largest individual lobster packer in the Province. He had 12,000 traps fishing this year, with 36 boats. He employed 60 persons in his factory and some 50 fishermen. He was not worrying, because he had all his own gear, but he was thinking of the fishermen's interests, he said. That was why he wanted to see the bill go through.

When your digestion needs help take Eno's "Fruit Salt"—the original alkalizing corrective

Eno's Fruit Salt

THURSDAY, APRIL 21 7:00—Chamaine Chorus, 7:45—Junior Y. P. U.

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

This column is reserved for news of local interest, but advertising of a general nature may be inserted at a word strictly payable in advance.

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE L-6789-7-21-312

POLICE COURT—A female clerk picked up by the police Tuesday appeared in court yesterday morning and was sent to jail for twenty days. Two vagrants were each given thirty days in jail.

VISITING NATIVE PROVINCE—Mr. Alexander Irving, of Saskatoon, and a native of Vernon, is being welcomed on a visit to his native province. Mr. Irving, who is one of the leading life insurance men in Canada, being manager of the Sun Life in Saskatchewan, was appointed President of the Life Underwriters of Canada (comprising all companies doing business in Canada, at the annual meeting held last January). He is now starting on a nation-wide tour throughout Canada.

PERSONALS Mr. James Cannon, Fowler, was a visitor to the city on Tuesday. Miss Elizabeth Gallant, City, spent the Easter holidays in Powellton, the guest of her friend Miss Rena Cannon.

Dr. T. V. Grant, M. P., who has been spending the Easter holidays at his home in Montague was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. J. A. Lawson has returned home from a two month trip to Western Canada and the Pacific Coast. While in Edmonton she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. V. Newson.

Messrs. Leo MacDougall and Stephen Monaghan, Mt. Herbert spent the week end at their home in the vicinity of Flower Point and Johnson's River.

Mrs. John R. Patton of Dartmouth, N.S., and Miss Vera Angell of Montague returned Tuesday after spending Easter with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew. Mrs. Andrew's many friends will be glad to learn she is now recuperating nicely after a recent operation.

Use Minard's for Bites.

Burglars Get $94 In Bold Action In City

Another bold burglary was on the blotter at City police Tuesday night when a man in a dark suit and a light-footed prowler entered the bedroom of Joseph Kays, 327 Fitzroy Street, near the Canadian National Railway crossing, and without removal of $94 in cash from the pocket of Mr. Kays' trousers and successfully made his get-away.

Last Saturday approximately $850 worth of goods were stolen from the residence of Hector MacLeod while the owner was absent about half an hour.

Entrance to Mr. Kays' combined dwelling and store was gained by breaking through a door. A handkerchief wrapped around a stone was used to smash the glass, it was said.

The bolt fastening the door was also smashed. Mr. Kays, who sleeps at the rear of the building, reported he did not hear any noise.

Apparently the object of the break was only cash, so far as the statement of the owner is concerned, nothing was taken from the store.

Bridal Gown Ready For King's Bride

(By ALICE MAXWELL, Assistant Press Staff Writer) PARIS, April 20.—(AP)—The wedding dress which Countess Geraldine Apponyi will wear when she marries King Zog April 27 was ready for inspection after inspection by the King's representative.

Countess Apponyi chose the dress herself from designs taken to Tirana nearly a month ago by representatives of Chanel.

The dress, with a richly embroidered train 16 feet long and a veil of the same length, is of white satin. Both the dress and the veil, which is two yards wide at the end, are elaborately embroidered with silver threads in a flower pattern and studded with rhinestones, pearls and silver palmettes.

On her head the Countess will wear a high diadem of white enamel flowers from which will flow a full white tulle veil reaching down to the end of the train.

CURBING CONEY ISLAND NEW YORK.—(CP)—Garish-luminated signs and rowdy bachelors on Coney Island will be put for shipment "alive" out of the Province, and to establish conclusive presumption as to the buyers' intention.

Hon. Mr. Allen: "I would like to suggest that the senior member from Tignish (Premier Campbell) is not very familiar with the lobster industry. In the first place lobsters must be alive at the time they are boiled, if they are to be of any value as food; so that the word 'alive' is absolutely unnecessary. As far as fixing the intention of the buyers is concerned, as I understand it the buyer can come here and anchor his boat any point below the high water mark and buy at the canners or market

Splendid Showing By "Y" Canvassers On Opening Day

At a meeting of the workers in the "Y" campaign last night, it was reported that for the first day a total of $2,148.50 had been realized or 38% of the objective.

Walter S. Grant congratulated the canvassers on their splendid showing which, he said, exceeded that of the first day in the 1937 campaign.

Mr. King, former Mayor of Moncton and Vice President of the Y. M. C. A. of that city, spoke briefly of the progress of the campaign and of the responsibility of its supporters.

Those present last night were privileged to hear Mr. R. E. G. Davis, a member of the Canadian Y. M. C. A. council staff who told the gathering of the double service they were performing in collecting the cash necessary for the continuance of the organization, and in interpreting the Y to the public. They are essentially an institution to serve youth, he said, not delinquent, underprivileged, or any special kind of youth, but the normal, healthy, average boy and girl that you will find in your own homes. The Y is a serious educational organization bent upon translating pure concepts of Christianity into practice, and has been doing this work for a hundred years.

Union Commercial College Easter Examination Results

As a result of the Easter examinations the following students have been granted diplomas from the Shorthand and Typewriting Departments.

Patricia Ritchie, City. Irene Kennedy, City. Joyce MacNeil, City. Marion Power, City. Lillian Duke, Montague.

The following has been granted a Bachelor of Education degree: Garth Stewart, Dunstonsville. Kenneth McKay, Malbone. Earl Mackay, Hamilton, P. E. I. O. D. Brannan, City. Cecil Howatt, City. Howard Hogan, Tignish. Lomer Gaudet, City. W. D. Adams, O'Leary. Arthur Weymouth, Mt. Allison. Reginald Paoli, City. Peter Whitely, Souris.

SESSIONS OF

rington of the Model School staff and a report of the Canadian Federation convention by Miss Margaret Huntley, Prof. Howard Court of Prince of Wales College staff will speak on "The third field."

Speaking on the use of irrational methods of education Mr. Davis said the appeal was to the emotions rather than to the intellect. Slogans and symbols such as the Nazi flag and salute were used. The Jew was another symbol used with great advantage. German leaders realized it was just as easy to provide a channel for hatred as to provide a channel for loyalty. Consequently they selected the Jew to provide the channel which explained why they leave the country.

Things of which the German government disapproved such as trade unions, co-operatives, internationalism, were identified with the Jews.

Telling of his visit to a girls' camp Mr. Davis declared he heard young wholesome girls standing at attention and with their heads, singing a hymn in which were the words "when Jewish blood spurts from the knife then things go twice as fast."

The spirit of the young people seemed to be expressed in the words of the German youth who said "do not pretend to understand Der Fuehrer but I would die for him."

Of course there were critical youths in Germany but the spirit of misgiving seemed to be principally confined to the older generation. The youth were a "mature" generation of adolescent fanatics.

In the end Hitler became a sort of demi-god. Christ had been so proclaimed in the philosophy, art and music of Germany for generations was pushed aside for the new messiah, Adolf Hitler.

Other Methods Necessary

Speaking of how to handle civic training in democratic countries and referring particularly to Canada, Mr. Davis said the methods of the challenger of Fascist countries could not be used. Their methods might seem to be wonderfully simple and effective, however. But a system of regimentation, such as that of the Fascist youth movements, could not exist with democracy.

The basic principle of democracy involved in the possible diffusion of responsibility. The present need was for a curriculum that aminations had not been decided definitely, however. Arrangements had been made with Mr. Allison by which a scholarship of $200 for summer school work would be available to a number of teachers. Selections would likely be made by Supervisors, Mr. Shaw said.

Reference was made to the broadcast from London, England, on Sunday, May 15 in connection with the Empire youth movement which was organized last summer during the Coronation.

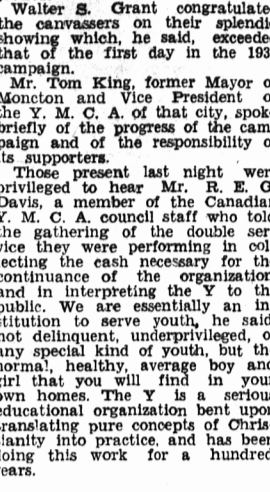

The Superintendent announced, in August delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Education Association, in annual session in the Maritime Provinces, would spend two days in this Province. The first meeting would be in Halifax on Monday and Tuesday of what will be the Empire youth movement with a banquet in Saint John.

Curriculum discussion was a "good healthy sign," the speaker said. He had only one thing to say concerning it, he went on, and that was after listening to one of the speakers at the first day of the convention, a man who was a product of the present curriculum, he said, and was wrong.

Chief Superintendent Shaw

Entrance examinations would likely be held the last week in June instead of early in July as in former years. Mr. H. H. Shaw, Chief Superintendent of Education announced. The time of the ex-

TREAT YOURSELF TO ENERGY EAT TO FEEL FIT

• Feel fit and have fun! It takes the kind of energy and strength you get from eating nourishing whole wheat. And that's what Kellogg's Bran Flakes give you. Delicious, golden-brown flakes of goodness.

• There's strength and energy in whole wheat for active people. Kellogg's Bran Flakes provide it in a form you'll like. Crisp and crunchy. Ready to serve. And enough extra bran to be mildly laxative. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

VITAL PROBLEMS

(Continued from page 1)

REPORTS READ AT MEETING OF MUSIC CLUB

The ninth annual meeting of the Women's Music Club was held Tuesday evening, April 19th. It was very much enjoyed that due to illness several of the members were absent.

After an excellent dinner, the various reports were submitted and a short and inspiring address was given by the retiring president, Mrs. A. B. Cook, in which she expressed her hope to give a big year to her successor having had a very heavy term of office. She thanked the executive, Mrs. J. A. MacMillan, Mrs. K. S. Rogers, and Mrs. V. Leitch Dingswell for their untiring cooperation, and particularly the program committee, Miss Margaret Sterns, Miss Vera Campbell and Miss Gwyneth Fry, for their untiring work during the past season. A hearty vote of thanks was given to the most successful performers who so kindly and ably assisted on several occasions.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President—Mrs. J. A. Lawson. Vice Pres.—Miss Lillian MacKenzie. Secy.—Mrs. Frances Holt Trainor. Treasurer—Miss Margaret Sterns. Membership committee—Mrs. V. Leitch Dingswell, and Mrs. V. Leitch Dingswell.

Program committee—Mrs. K. S. Rogers, Mrs. Raoul Raymond, and Miss Rena Wood.

During the season a very fine piano recital was given by Horace MacEwen and a joint organ and sacred song recital by Harold S. Hamer and Albert W. Truitt.

These recitals were very much appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed.

Already the new program committee has some splendid ideas for the next season's program, which promises to be both attractive and unusual.

will focus attention on social problems. Trained teachers, especially those skilled in the social sciences, economics, sociology and history were urgently required.

"We ourselves must live democratically," Mr. Davis said to the teachers. "One can think of teachers who are little Hitlers in the class room."

In the future students must have much more adequate means for self government within the school than was the case at present. In the state and the school could not encompass the whole job of civic training, Mr. Davis believed. In proportion as the government becomes more active in the field of education there must go in similar degree an increase in the work and vitality of private organizations. The basic principle of democracy involved in the possible diffusion of responsibility. The present need was for a curriculum that

What was needed in the interest of civic education was a system of flexible associations and self governing groups, recreational, religious, educational and economic. He put great faith in such groups, they were the heart of democracy, Mr. Davis declared.

What was meant by democracy needed to be re-stated in the light of the present situation. It did not simply mean maintaining undisturbed the status quo, the Adult Education Secretary said. Democracy was just as vital and just as being smothered in the conditions requiring revision as was Fascism. The work of civic education in a democracy was to help students develop a superior view as a technique to enable them to make needed changes by peaceful means. On how that would be handled depended the fate of democracy, Mr. Davis declared.

A hearty vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mr. R. S. Rogers, former chief superintendent of education in this province and seconded by Dr. G. D. Steel, principal of Prince of Wales College.

Following the public meeting teachers held a social hour in the college hall.

Before Mr. Davis' address an educational film, "Character and Verse" was shown by Mr. H. B. Chandler. The picture dealt with the various processes in connection with the printing of a book. Mr. D. M. MacLean loaned and operated his projector.

LITTLE THEATRE TO-NIGHT 8.15 SHARP Ticket Holders Only

ENTERTAINMENT and BINGO TONIGHT Holy Redeemer Nat. 26c. Special Prices

Pipelines Made Of Sulphur Described

BY HOWARD W. BLANKENBELL, Associated Press Science Editor

For making pipe, sulphur is mixed with coarse sand or with coke. Adding some shredded asbestos helps. The "brimstone" pipe, Bencowitz said, stands a pressure of 75 pounds