A SUITOR TOO MANY MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 24 THE STORY OF THE MISSING YEARS

Lila stared, wide-eyed and breathless, at Jack Farquhar, as he leaned across the luncheon-table...

"We've waited so long, Lila. Five years are gone from our life together. Don't let us lose another moment."

Lila's thoughts had stamped. She had, at least, believed that she would have time to gauge and adjust the situation between them.

"You are more beautiful than ever," he told her. "I had forgotten that you were so lovely."

"Oh, dear!" thought Lila. "This is terrible! I have no right to listen. It's disloyal to Herbert to allow Jack to say such things."

"You mean that you want to know how I came to be alive, after having been given up for lost? Well, I'll give you a brief idea; the details can wait until we're married and have long evenings to spend together."

"Would I!" he breathed softly. Then, with a sigh, he went on: "I'll tell you how I came to return, and after that, we'll have done with the past and talk about the glorious future, eh, Lila?"

His gray eyes were very tender; hers fell before his ardent glance. He made his story brief, slighting the hardship and suffering, as she had always known him to do.

Three days after he had entered the trenches, three days after the night when they had made their pledge, he had been seriously wounded in a charge that had carried him far into enemy territory.

Some German spy was profiting. Wounded though he was, he managed to escape, making for his own lines, though he had no knowledge of where they might be.

For five years he served the Battle Creek church with great credit, to himself and profit to the community. A call came to a larger service. His sons had entered college and he felt free to take up syndical work in the state.

At Lila's exclamation, he smiled, and his fingers reached out to clasp hers. He had strong, lean hands; their touch had once been very sweet to Lila.

"Can you imagine what that meant to me? It meant that I had lost you forever. How could I come back to you, a wreck? I wanted to see you again, to have you with me in the last few months of my wretched existence."

Lila's eyes were lowered. She knew the keenest shame she had ever experienced. It seemed to her that Jack Farquhar had stabbed her and was turning the knife in the wound.

"Except for you, there was no one who would care. I went to the south of France, because it seemed to me that I couldn't get enough of sunshine, after that prison camp. I had no expectation of being cured; I simply went there with the blind instinct to end my days in that comfort I could. With the loss of you, I'd lost all hope and all desire to live."

"There is no danger now. All that is past. I am strong and fit again. I have enough to keep us, if you're willing to sacrifice a little, and my old job is waiting; I found that out by cable. So there's nothing to keep us apart any longer, Lila. It's like the ending of a fairytale, isn't it?"

(To Be Continued.)

Rev. W. H. MacEwen

Taken from B. C. "Times", Battle Creek, Iowa, June 21, 1928. Last week the sad word reached Battle Creek that Dr. W. H. MacEwen had suddenly died in Iowa City, where he had motored to visit his son.

Nearly twenty-nine years ago he first came to Battle Creek to minister to the people of this community through the Presbyterian church. Although he had been twice called away from Battle Creek since he first came here, his pastorate has touched the lives of most of us who have lived here for any considerable period during the past third of a century.

He has married us, baptized our children, tenderly cared for our loved ones to rest. Thousands of men and women, boys and girls, have heard his practical, wholesome, Christian message in the church, and in outlying school houses where he has spoken. Men have gone out of his services better able to meet the problems and temptations of life.

Young people have learned from his ministry the fundamentals of real Christianity. He has met with us in our business relations; he has had counsel with us on community problems, he has joined with us in our fraternal organizations. Even those in the community who did not attend the religious services in the church of his ministry have known him as a friend and a community leader.

Few indeed of our citizens have made a greater contribution to the abiding elements of our community life than Dr. MacEwen. Not alone those now living in Battle Creek will sorrow at his passing, but men and women, east and west, north and south, who in former years sat under his ministry will turn in memory back to the days in the church on the corner. At such a time words fail us to convey the depth of feeling and to express the sorrow of the community.

Dr. MacEwen was born November 7, 1861, at Greenwich, Prince Edward Island, Canada. His parents were James MacEwen and Eliza Morrow MacEwen. He was educated at Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and at Dalhousie College, Halifax, Nova Scotia. Later he attended Bangor and Omaha Theological Seminaries. He was graduated from Omaha in 1900. In 1913 he was ordained as a minister of Divinity by Buena Vista college. He married Marion Cameron Murchison at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, in 1884.

The early manhood of Dr. MacEwen was spent in business, but the call of the ministry burned strongly within him. He completed his training for the ministry when he had a wife and two growing sons to care for. During the closing months of his seminary work at Omaha he supplied the church here. He was called to his first regular pastorate in Battle Creek in 1900. His two sons, Ewen and Harry, now Dr. Ewen M. MacEwen, of the University of Iowa, and Dr. Harry MacEwen, K. C., Barrister at Law, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, graduated from the Battle Creek high school in 1902 and 1903, respectively.

He has always been a friend of young people and through his sons he came into especially intimate contact with the young people during his first pastorate. For five years he served the Battle Creek church with great credit, to himself and profit to the community. A call came to a larger service. His sons had entered college and he felt free to take up syndical work in the state. He carried on this activity during 1904 and 1905. From 1905 to 1911 he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Rolfe, Iowa. In 1911-12 he became pastor of the border towns of the Portal, North Dakota, and Portal, Sask., Canada.

In 1913, in response to an insistent call, he returned to Battle Creek, but his stay was brief. In August, 1914, he accepted a pastorate at Kinross and Oswald, Prince Edward Island, Canada. This move was made on account of Mrs. MacEwen's health. It was hoped that she would recover her health and spirits in her childhood environment. But God willed it otherwise and in July, 1921, she was called to her eternal home.

For the third time the call came to Dr. MacEwen to serve the church at Battle Creek. Ministers and church workers tell us it is most unique for a minister to serve the same church three separate times. No more sincere testimonial could be written of the love Battle Creek felt toward him. He returned to Battle Creek and remained in active work until he was called to the home preferred for him—a home not made with hands. His first pastorate became his last, and while still in the full possession of his physical and mental power, his work was suddenly ended. The task which he has so faithfully carried on must be committed to other hands. It is for us to "highly resolve" that he shall not have lived and labored in vain.

In 1923 Dr. MacEwen was married to Annie Laurie Nicholson of Charlottetown, P. E. Island, Canada. Dr. MacEwen's wife, two sons and four grand-children survive to mourn his loss. Loving sympathy is extended to them by the community.

In addition to his church affiliation, Dr. MacEwen was a member of the Masonic and I. O. O. F. Lodges in Iowa. He was a Past Grand Master of the Orange Lodge of P. E. Island. Death came suddenly at Iowa City. He has been laid at rest at Orwell, P. E. Island, Canada, near his birthplace. The community will join in a memorial service on Sunday, June 24, in the church where he ministered so long and so faithfully. Dr. A. C. Preston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, will lead the service.

Mr. Preston was a high school boy when Dr. MacEwen first came to his Battle Creek ministry. The influence of Dr. MacEwen was a factor in his choice of the ministry. He has willingly responded to the call to pay his last tribute to his boyhood pastor and fellow minister.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR REV. MAC EWEN. Memorial services for Rev. MacEwen were conducted during the morning hours at the Presbyterian church last Sunday. There was a large attendance. The floral tributes, placed in charge of Mes. H. A. Hendricks, were many and very beautifully arranged. The pulpit was draped and the one vacant chair on the rostrum emphasized keenly the community's great loss.

Rev. Van Grethuisen, of Ida Grove, presided as chairman of the services. Other visiting ministers and elders were Dr. Frank Reed, Dr. D. M. MacIntosh, of Soo City, Dr. Throe and Moderator C. F. Kehr of Manila, Dr. Bacon, of Charter Oak, and Dr. A. C. Preston, of Sioux Falls, S. D., who delivered the principal address. Wives and families of the visiting ministers and elders also attended. The choir sang several appropriate songs and an anthem. Dr. Preston's talk dwelt chiefly upon Rev. MacEwen's life in this community and of his own boyhood days, also in this vicinity. Dr. Preston's talk was simply given and very impressive. Many out of town friends and acquaintances attended the services to pay final tribute to the deceased pastor.

"Beautiful toiler, thy work all done, Beautiful soul into glory gone. Beautiful life, its own now worn, God giveth thee rest."

The Top Of The World. At this season of the year when the hot sultry breezes of Summer render life almost unbearable the thought of cooling slopes is very seductive. Snow clad mountain peaks invite one to the restfulness of their masses. The Canadian Rockies at this time of the year are very alluring. To rest beneath their shade and to spend awhile amidst their majestic splendor is to enjoy the acme of mountain vacations. Jasper National Park, Canada's largest national playground, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, contains some of the highest peaks in that range, Mount Robson, 12,972 feet being the highest. Mount Edith Cavell comes next with 11,033 feet. A vacation in this largest of Canada's national parks is made a very convenient and extremely pleasurable undertaking by stopping at Jasper Park Lodge, all that a mountain resort should be. This magnificent lodge is owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways and convenient train services are arranged from Eastern Points. The Continental Limited, a standard all steel train with radio equipped observation car leaves Montreal daily at 10.15 P. M. for the Lodge and Western points, including Vancouver and Victoria. All transcontinental tickets are good for stop-over at Jasper Park Lodge.

TEACHERS' SALARIES GOOD IN TORONTO. WINNIPEG, July 30.—At the Canadian Teachers' Federation Conference here to-day, Toronto, Ottawa, Winnipeg and Hamilton were shown to have the most progressive salary schedules for teachers with Montreal, Vancouver, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton grouped closely behind. The report revealed that in provinces where the cost of living is low, teachers are not paid in proportion to the cost of living scale. In some schools the highest paid employee is the Janitor. The 1929 conference of Federation will be in Quebec City the second week in July. The religion that produces no sunshine, is all moonshine.
