POLICE SERGEANT TAYLOR ASSAULTED

During an Altercation With Four Men on Sunday Morning Shortly After Midnight--Head Cut With Bottle--Other Wounds Inflicted--Two Men Arrested.

On Saturday night Police Sergeant Taylor was the victim of an assault that just stopped short of having a fatal result.

The facts of the case appear to be that shortly after midnight on Saturday, Sergeant Taylor and Policeman Higgins were having their customary early morning walk down Queen Street.

He went up to them and told them they would have to stop that kind of talk, and then moved on down the street.

He had not gone more than a few paces when he heard the most blasphemous names applied to himself, and turned back and told the men to get home.

All stood up except James Power. Taylor told them to go home, and the next thing the Sergeant knew the men all seemed to be attacking him.

Sergeant Taylor was bleeding profusely from his wounds, but managed to get to the police station. Dr. McLaughlin, who lives almost next door was called and he took the injured man to his office and dressed the wounds.

A call was then sent for Detective Bradley, Sergeant Doyle and Policeman Walker, and they with Policeman Higgins started to round up the four men. Dr. Hennessy they found without much difficulty at his home, and they scoured the City and its outskirts for hours looking for the others.

They were unsuccessful until shortly after seven in the morning when Walker and Higgins, who were driving in a buggy, came suddenly upon Power at the corner of Pownall and Richmond Streets, taking him by surprise, for before he recognized them they had jumped out and made him prisoner. He offered no resistance. Search for the other two so far has proved unavailing.

The two prisoners now confined in the Police Station will come up for hearing this morning.

All sorts of sensational rumors as to the condition of Sergeant Taylor gained circulation yesterday, but when seen by the Guardian reporter in the afternoon, the Sergeant although stiff and sore, and with his head all bandaged, was wonderfully cheerful and able to tell of the battle.

James King one of the men concerned in the assault was out on Saturday afternoon in a rowboat in the harbor as the French warships were anchoring, when he threw himself overboard, after throwing off his coat and hat.

STEAMER WRECKED MANY LIVES LOST

Three Hundred Italians Emigrants Bound For Buenos Ayres--Meet Death By Drowning--The Captain of Ship Commits Suicide--Two Bishops Among Lost.

CARTHAGENA, Spain, Aug 5--(Special)--A terrible marine disaster occurred last evening off Cape Palos when the Italian steamer Seria from Genoa to Buenos Ayres with eight hundred persons on was wrecked, and three hundred emigrants drowned.

The captain committed suicide, attributing the wreck to his own indiscretion. The survivors reached the shore in the ship's boats.

Among the lost were two bishops, one of San Pedro Brazil.

On Saturday afternoon two French Cruisers, the Desaix and the Julien de la Guierriere came into port, and anchored opposite the city and close to the wharves. They are fine looking ships, more like the British cruisers, than was the Chasse Loup-Loubet, which recently visited Charlottetown.

On Saturday evening the fine band of the Desaix played on the after deck and the music was heard by hundreds, who went down to the wharves to see the ships.

At yesterday evening the Desaix visited the Governor. Later the French consul visited the ship and received the usual salute. The Lieut Governor called on board during the afternoon, and on leaving the keel number of guns were fired. His Worship the Mayor also called.

Hundreds of the sailors were allowed ashore yesterday afternoon, and they appeared to be everywhere about the City.

A very pretty custom is followed on the Desaix. At sundown a gun is fired, the flag lowered, and the bugles sound the retreat.

GENERAL STRIKE NOW ON IN RUSSIA

Not Meeting With the Support Expected--Many Trades Not Taking Part--The Police Are Very Active--The Dictatorship Will be Declared if Emperor Threatened.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug 5--(Special)--The General Strike is fairly under way though its power cannot be determined for a day or two.

Not more than thirty thousand work men answered the calling at St. Petersburg on Saturday though more have joined since.

But there is evidence of half heartedness that is discouraging to the leaders and the energy of the police in arresting ringleaders is demoralizing.

If the strike gathers sufficient headway to endanger the life of the Emperor, the Grand Duke Nicholas will undoubtedly be placed at the head of a military dictatorship.

While the strike is spreading slowly it is impossible yet to say if it will attain proportions requiring this extreme measure.

The weakest point in the revolutionary attack is the lack of competent leaders. The railroad men upon which the success of the movement depends are still working full time.

The recent law making it a penal offence if strikers affect communications has intimidated them.

The first break in the ranks of the strikers occurred on Saturday when the printers the street cars and the ferry employes returned to work.

The day in St. Petersburg was without incident.

On Sunday, Aug. 5--(Special)--Communication with Sebastopol is cut off and there are alarming reports of condition in that fortress.

STORY THAT THE EMPEROR FLED

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug 4--When the firing began at Cronstad there ensued a wild panic in the imperial palace at Peterhof, as the palace lies under the guns of the fortress. All preparations had been made in advance to flee to Tsarskoe Selo, but the report floated yesterday afternoon that the emperor and his family actually had fled in the middle of the night was denied.

Later, at the chancellery of the imperial household, it was explained, however, that on account of dampness at Peterhof, arrangements had been made for the return of the imperial family to Tsarskoe Selo.

Martial law was proclaimed at Cronstad during the day, and all day long reinforcements have been landing there from the mainland. No one is permitted on the island without a pass, and although the correspondent of the Associated Press was thus equipped, he was held up and searched upon disembarking from a rowboat.

The correspondent found at 6 o'clock yesterday evening there were about 2,000 mutinous sailors barricaded in their barracks which were surrounded by troops.

Kola-Bigie is superior to almost all other beverages in its class, and might be termed the only drink at present in demand at all Soda Water counters. VILE CRIME IN ST. JOHN N.B.

Man Assaults Thirteen Year Old Girl--Is Captured And Identified.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 5--(Special)--Ethel Train, little thirteen year old girl, of St. John North, was brutally raped Saturday night far from her own home.

Today William E. Clark, a married man, aged 36, mason by trade and well known in labor circles, was arrested and positively identified by his victim.

Ethel Train with a younger girl was picking blueberries when the man came from near by woods and made indecent approaches to them.

The younger child ran away but the man caught the other and carried her screaming behind some bushes. Before her companion could bring help the man disappeared.

The Train girl was taken home in a serious condition and sent to the hospital.

Following the description given by the girl the police this afternoon arrested Clarke.

He violently protested his innocence but both children unhesitatingly identified him.

A similar crime was perpetrated in the Park a few days ago and the police are inclined to suspect Clarke of this also.

MUTINY AMONG HALIFAX R. C. R.

HALIFAX, Aug 4--An incipient mutiny among the Royal Canadian Artillery broke out at the Citadel last evening, no less than sixteen men being placed in the guard room under close confinement as a result of the trouble.

The military authorities are reticent about the matter, but from facts gleaned by The Herald it appears that one of the Garrison policemen entered a saloon on one of the upper streets for the purpose of arresting two members of the Artillery boat crew, who were in dishabille. One of the soldiers resisted this and struck the arresting soldier a severe blow on the face.

After a scuffle the offending men ran to their barracks, as also did the Garrison policeman who called for assistance to arrest the soldiers.

Several of the mutineers, on being warned for escort duty, refused to act. Extra assistance was obtained, and with the aid of an armed picket, the mutineers were placed in confinement. This caused further trouble and the rioting soldiers smashed the windows in the guard room where they were in confinement, and they tried to escape. Two of them succeeded, but were recaptured during the evening.

Besides the mutinous prisoners, two senior, N.C.O.s were placed under arrest for drunkenness. The prisoners will be arraigned this morning.

DEATH PENALTY PROTECTS WOMEN

CHICAGO, August 4--Punishment by death is recommended by the July grand jury as the maximum penalty for attack on women. The recommendation was made in its final report, which was handed Judge DuPont in the superior court yesterday. Changes in existing laws prescribing punishment for assaults on children also were recommended. The action of the grand jury is the result of the long continued prevalence in Chicago of such attacks.

THE MUTINY ON RUSSIAN CRUISER

Five Officers, a Doctor, an Engineer and a Submarine Were Killed--Others Wounded--Capt. Trodvinoff, Fought in Battle of the Sea of Japan.

LONDON, August 4--A despatch says the mutiny on the armored cruiser Pamyat Azova commenced with the arrival on board of a civilian disguised as a sailor. He was discovered and an attempt was made to arrest him, but part of the crew interfered, killing the officer who ordered his arrest and three officers who supported him. Three other officers put off in a launch, whereupon the mutineers fired, sinking the boat. The officers, however, were able to swim ashore.

The cruiser is now under complete control. The mutineers met torpedo boat No. 106 and called upon the crew to abandon their allegiance. This they refused to do and steamed away with the harbor of Riel, following closely by the cruiser. A party composed of nine leaders of the mutineers then left the Pamyat Azova in a small boat for the fortress with the object of winning over the loyal troops, but upon landing were promptly arrested. The loyal sailors thereupon attempted to recapture the ship and succeeded after severe fighting. The mutineers, who numbered 250 were later run ashore. Altogether five officers, a doctor, one engineer and a submarine officer were killed, one officer was mortally wounded and two officers were slightly wounded.

Col. Alexandroff received the mutineers with a revolver and Capt. Trovoshinsky, of the submarine miners, after a desperate struggle was bayoneted with a butt of a rifle. Rear-Admiral Belemshoff, who received many wounds, died during the night.

When the sailors mutinied the admiral immediately went out with his staff, heedless of warnings, and entered the barracks. Within a few seconds he and two captains were shot down. The crowd of civilians, who joined the mutineers, included a large number of women armed with rifles; revolvers and swords. One of the wounded captains was spared because he wore the St. George's Cross.

Capt. Tronionoff, who was killed, fought in the battle of Sea of Japan on one of the Russian ships which foundered. He was fourteen hours in the water before he was picked up.
