but he did discover bridge. Whist had been played for generations and was the reigning favorite of British army officers stationed in India. It required four players, however, and frequently there were only three officers of equal rank at a post. A "dummy" hand was devised, and thereby bridge, Lenz brought the game home with him in 1894. He did not win his first championship until 1909, but since has acquired the international bridge and whist titles each twelve times. Simon and Schuster have published a book on his work.

Bridge Founder Versatile

The man who discovered bridge was a champion in several other sports before he finally became a master of the cards in his own game. Bridge is the vocation and avocation of Sidney S. Lenz but he has been a bowler, checker, and ping pong champion, and once annexed the tennis title of the Whist League. Golf and poetry even now hold more fascination for him than cards.

Princess Eats Sailor's Mess

THE HAGUE, Oct. 15.—Little Princess Juliana of Holland attended naval maneuvers in the North Sea on board the cruiser Sumatra, and insisted on sharing the sailors' lobscouse of beef, red cabbage and potatoes. With the hearty appetite of seventeen, she pronounced the food excellent, but the noise of the big guns, she thought, was a rather disturbing element in the enjoyment of a quiet meal.

SUGGESTIONS MADE TO PROVIDE HEAVY PENALTIES IN BASEBALL FOR INTENTIONAL PASSING

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—One of the reactions of the 1926 world's series was distinctly unpleasant. The many intentional passes given Babe Ruth made the fans howl and provided an involved topic for the hot stove league, this winter. Not all of Ruth's eleven passes were intentional. But when a pitcher did set out to hand Ruth a base on balls, the stands didn't like it, and echoed their boos of disapproval. Most of the fans are opposed to the intentional pass. The baseball managers are in favor of it—within recent years it has come to be as important a part of the defence as the alignment of infielders close to the plate, when there is a man on third, and only one out. The customers say that they pay their money to see the hitters given a chance to hit; the managers counter with the contention that an intentional pass is only a gamble, anyway, and that the pitchers have the right to take a chance. There the argument rests, with Commissioner Landis apparently siding with the managers, since he thus far has taken no official consideration of the scores of plans designed to do away with, or heavily penalize the intentional pass. SOME SUGGESTED PENALTIES The plans are ingenious. Following are a few of them, the intentional pass being considered for purposes of debate, that in which the pitcher throws four straight balls: 1.—The batter to refuse to go to first, another man substituting for him. Thus, if Ruth were up and a man was on first, the big Yankee could not be walked on four pitched balls. Some substitute would advance to second, and Ruth would still be up. Sooner or later the pitcher would have to get the ball over. 2.—The batter to take two bases instead of one. 3.—The batter to have his choice of going to first or of waiting to be pitched to. 4.—The batter and the man succeeding him in the line-up, to go to second, and first, respectively. One of the conditions that seems most unfair in the suggestions, is that four straight balls are considered an intentional pass. Frequently a pitcher is unable to get a ball over the plate. That does not signify a purpose to walk the batter, but rather an excusable temporary lack of control. And yet, if the matter of intention was left up to the umpire there would be protests from players and fans. The writer's guess is that baseball will see the intentional pass retained as a part of every manager's strategy for at least another season.

Wanderers Beat Bermuda, 38-0, in Game At Halifax

HALIFAX, Oct. 18.—The touring Bermuda English rugby players went down to defeat yesterday for the second time on the Maritime tour, when the Wanderers defeated them in an exhibition game, 38 to 0.

One-sided in the score, the game nevertheless offered a fine exhibition of rugby to a friendly crowd of persons who braved a cold wind to watch the game. Captain Pantry, leader of the Bermuda team, declared the game to have been most enjoyable of any his team has engaged in on the tour and congratulated the locals on the fine brand of rugby played.

The Bermuda visitors threatened often but failed to score, while the superiority of the Wanderers was seldom in doubt. The large score was due to the effective work of the Wanderers three-quarter line which worked with clock-work precision, their efficiency increasing as the game progressed. Their scrum hooked out regularly again and again, giving the line of excellent chances. The Bermuda three-quarter line failed to get going and never had control of the ball. The score at half time was eleven to nothing. Lieut. Commander Murray refereed.

U. N. B. Rugby Star Seriously Injured

JACK BABBITT SUFFERS DISLOCATED KNEE CAP IN TROJAN GAME ON SATURDAY

FRIDERICHTON, Oct. 18.—University of New Brunswick's campaign for retaining the Mac Tier Cup, indicative of the English Rugby Championship of Eastern Canada, which they won at Montreal last Fall, has suffered a rude jolt. Jack Babbitt star of the back division and the player around which the red and black's attack as well as defensive play is built, sustained a seriously dislocated kneecap five minutes after the start of the U. N. B. team's game at Saint John on Saturday with the Trojans and he is out of action for the rest of the season. To fill the hole on the three-quarter line it is likely that Earl Hickson will be moved up from fullback. He played on the three-quarter lines in the second half of the game at Saint John and looked so good that he will be continued there. That leaves the post at full-back open and the leading candidates are Don Dridge, of Quebec, who formerly played Upper Canadian rugby at Centre College, Kentucky, the installed $1.00, small size 50c. Alex Turns Down Theatre Offers

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—The abounding, shuffling gait of Grover Cleveland Alexander on the diamond is his gait off the field of play. Unpretentious and sincere, he travels in his own style. He is as plain as the old glove that he wears on the ball lot, is the latest of baseball's sudden heroes. Success and obscurity are all one with him.

People wanted him to appear at various dinners and luncheons. Others wanted to sign him for exhibition games, and theatrical agents brought offers from Omaha and other Western cities near the little town where Alex was born and where his mother still lives today. He waved none of them away listened calmly to each man's story and gave him a definite answer. He could or he could not go, that was all, but he was short, with nobody. He went around to dozens of functions, while the hysteria over the Cardinals' victory was at its height in St. Louis—and it has not died out yet. People everywhere invited him to take a drink—St. Louis folks are hospitable.

Reducing the Cost of Service and Parts

Spreading across the entire Dominion and serving the hundreds of thousands of owners of its automobiles, the unified service system of General Motors of Canada offers those owners certain advantages and economies impossible to obtain for other cars. Only General Motors produces parts for cars of six different price classes, thus accomplishing tremendous economies for each in purchase and production. Only General Motors has the market in all these classes to absorb the large-quantity shipments that save so much in distribution costs. Only General Motors manufactures six distinct makes of cars, on which more than 5,000 parts in service station stocks are interchangeable. Only General Motors is able to pass on to motorists the economies of standardization, simplified inventory and conserved storage space which this interchangeability provides. Only General Motors service stations are equipped from a stock of more than 40,000 parts, to service six makes of cars, whether they deal in more than one of them or not. And, meeting an international demand, General Motors' chain of service stations spreads through city, town and hamlet, not only to the farthest frontier... not only from ocean to ocean and Hudson's Bay to the border... but on over the border and throughout the United States. Thus Canadian Cadillac, McLaughlin-Buick, Oakland, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet, offer Canadians the assurance of intelligent, expert, economical service at service stations everywhere, any time. Berlin's "Rotten Row" Of Fame Soon A Memory

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The "Rotten Row" of Berlin, which runs through the middle of Kurfuirstendamm, the Broadway of the aristocratic West end, will soon be a memory. Car tracks are being removed from the street, and laid on the bridge path where once rode members of the House of Hohenzollern and the nobility. "Rotten Row" lost its glamor when Wilhelm II fled to Holland. And the increasing traffic made necessary the replacement of the car tracks. But the two lanes of elms will remain so that in summer street cars will travel through a bower of green.

British Saddlers Art Aided By U.S. Demand

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Thanks to the demand from the United States for bits, spurs and bridles, the "forliner" or saddler, art is not yet dead in England. Gilbert's Butler Is Prepared For Guests

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 18.—Few people have war heroes for butlers, but such is Emil, Belgian soldier who "battles" for John Gilbert, the movie actor. Emil has learned that his master is liable at most any hour to walk into the house with one to fifty guests without any warning. Being a real heroic butler Emil is prepared for such surprise attacks. He keeps canned goods on the shelves and has arranged classified provision orders which he can phone in twenty minutes. For instance, Emil says to the grocer, "I want Number One." The grocer fills order number one that contains everything for a dinner that Emil cannot keep on the pantry shelves. Order No. Two is a totally different menu and so are three four and so on.

Old Chinese Custom Is Unearthed

(Canadian Press.) COURTENAY, B.C., Oct. 18.—Through the vigilance of the provincial police, a strange Chinese custom has been unearthed, which must have been causing a great deal of trouble. The Chinese were being shot before their spring were born. The Chinese are willing to give as much as fifty dollars each for unborn fawns. The foetus is then mixed with herbs and other ingredients from which a decoction is poured off, which is given to the women.
