THE STORY

"You know darned well you never have. What about him?"

"Well, come and sit down. It's a long story—you are quite sure I haven't told you?"

Rand laughed. "Quite sure, you little liar, and so are you."

"Well, you weren't here when I came in. I was so tired, and sick, I was a perfect wreck. Auntalmyr was here, and while she packed up I lay down on the couch here, and slept. Sleep! It was the sleep of death for weariness—She wakened me for dinner, and I ate, and went to sleep again. So she went away and left me sleeping—Well, it was evening. And I felt—You know how one feels things in one's sleep?—I felt eyes looking at me. I could hardly squeeze a look out beneath my lids for the weariness. But I did. And in the dusk, faint yellow, I saw the face of a Chinaman, thin pinch features, slanting eyes and a small scared scar beneath one eye. As I looked, the face just melted backward into the darkness, so I knew it was a dream, and went to sleep again."

Rand lit a cigarette hastily but said nothing, and Gay went on.

"Well, you know how sometimes I sit, just dreaming, as the sun sets, until dark—I did tonight. And I rumped up suddenly to light the lights, although it was not entirely dark, and I saw it at my window, that window—came face, the very same. So it could not have been a dream."

"When was that?"

"Oh, hours ago! Just before the final darkness."

"But it was late when I found

Few succeed without harm. Try the modern way, embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen everywhere.

Marmola contains a gland element which helps turn food into fuel and energy. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus you will know how the changes occur without harm.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Go start it now. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Do this because of the new beauty and vim which Marmola has brought to so many for so long.

him—about an hour ago.—In the meantime what? Any noises? Were you afraid?"

"No, Mr. Ingram was here."

Rand flicked the ashes from his cigarette thoughtfully. "Ah, Mr. Ingram—Mr. Ingram, I suppose you told me all about him, too. May one inquire, who is Mr. Ingram?"

"He is the man who—it was he who—it was Mr. Ingram who—"

Gay closed her lips stubbornly. She had often wished to tell him of the affair in the cove, but resentment had always forbidden the confidence. He should have asked her. She glanced at him furtively. His chin was set, and his eyes were anxious.

Gay retorted.

"Well, Rand, I suppose the family females told you—what happened in the cove?"

Rand smiled faintly, his fingers crossed her arm. Gay hardened again.

"I know they thought I was out of my head, but you surely do not believe and such nonsense."

"They thought you saw driftwood, a log or a barrel."

"How about my handkerchief? Did they think I put it on a piece of driftwood?"

"They thought—Now, remember, Gay, you did not mention the handkerchief until they reported there was no body. They thought—well, they thought you made it up to sort of carry out your story, make it hold water."

"What did you think?"

"I thought," he said tenderly, "that some time, in a moment of great confidence, my Gay would tell me about herself and then I should know all."

Gay laughed, bent suddenly and kissed his hand. "You work me outrageously," she said.

"And Mr. Ingram—" he prompted softly.

"Well, then—No, the cove comes first. The reason I like Mr. Ingram is because if he is interested in anything, he talks about it. If he wants to know anything, he asks. He doesn't think other people are crazy just because they happened to see something he didn't happen to see himself—Like the state of Maine," she said vindictively.

"And the cove—"

"Well, then, I slid down the rocks into the cove."

"Why, Gay, why? With a whole island full of accessible shore, why slide down the worst cliff in the bay?"

"Because I thought I couldn't," she answered promptly. "Because everybody said one couldn't get down—So I did."

Rand rolled his eyes heavenward. "A woman," he said devoutly, "is heaven's greatest miracle—She did, because she couldn't—Go on—Like your Mr. Ingram, I understand perfectly."

"Well, I tried to get into the clubhouse, and I couldn't. And into the bathhouse, and I couldn't."

"You should have burned them to the ground—if you couldn't get in, you should have."

Gay laughed. "Don't be silly—Well, it was lovely in the cove, and I stood there and saw—it coming in—Rand, it was a man. He came in and with my two hands I pulled him up on the sand. There was a rope, about one ankle, a stout rope with one end dangling loose. He had been shot in the temple—here." She touched her brow with a slender finger. "The blood was washed away, but the hair was clogged about it. I laid his hand upon his breast, and put my handkerchief over his face. I called for help, but of course nobody heard me. So I went for the Captain. You know what happened."

Rand was impressed. She could see that.

"It sounds very—reasonable."

"Oh, Rand! When I went back the sand was wet where the body had lain. I showed it to the Captain, and he said it had splashed there. It couldn't have splashed there. It hadn't splashed anywhere else."

"And Mr. Ingram—"

A fourteen-year-old girl was recently arrested at Newcastle, England, for street selling of betts.

CANADA'S 1928 Export Sales Review

Canada Enters 1929 with Hopes Well Grounded

TO-DAY the great race among the aggressive nations of the world is for export trade.

What is Canada's position in this far-flung competition? Though ranking 28th in population, this New Year finds Canada:

- Fifth in total exports
- Third in absolute trade balance
- Second in per capita exports
- First in per capita trade balance

For the year ended November last Canada's export trade amounted to 1,349 million dollars. The favourable trade balance at the end of November was 162 million dollars.

In six years Canada's export trade has grown from 754 million dollars to 1,349 million dollars—a business achievement in which all Canadians can take pride.

A recent survey shows 6,500 groups of articles, fully or partially manufactured in this country, while approximately 1,600 Canadian firms or corporations are active exporters.

Canada can look forward with confidence to a still further increase in export trade. Almost daily our Trade Commissioners, located in the world's strategic business centres, tell of growing demands for Canadian products.

During the past year the Department of Trade and Commerce has made intensive efforts to demonstrate to Canadian manufacturers and producers their opportunities abroad. Many of the Trade Commissioners have been brought home for a few weeks to interview personally Canadian firms with respect to varied export problems. They have shown that to be successful every Canadian entering export trade should:

1. Maintain quality standards.
2. Make the articles required by the importer.
3. Pack in the manner the importer desires.
4. Deliver promptly.
5. Maintain contract dates.

Additions have been made to Trade Commissioners' staff. Trade enquiries and trade trends from abroad have been given wide publicity in Canada. Canadian products, displayed prominently at numerous exhibitions in Great Britain, have excited unusual interest. Buyers in other countries have been shown what Canada has to sell.

Steamship services from Canada to foreign lands, particularly to South America and the British West Indies, have been greatly augmented.

THE RESULTS ARE BECOMING CONSPICUOUS.

Again the Department of Trade and Commerce wishes to emphasize the importance of export trade to the prosperity of this country:

1. It stabilizes employment.
2. It...
