A Bit of Wall Street History

It all began nearly one hundred and forty years ago under a spreading butternut tree in a shady village street. The locality is now called Wall Street, and if, as sometimes meantly hinted by a few of the disappointed ones, there remains any shadiness about it, that graceful old butternut has no responsibility. For some time previous to this beginning, the foot of Broad Street had been used as a trading post and market. Grain and slaves were traded and sold there, and cattle and furniture auctioned. With the early growth of banking institutions, stock game into this market. It soon became evident that the mingling of bank stock with livestock was an imperfect arrangement. A group of men gradually formed who dealt only in stock, and these became accustomed to meeting under the certain butternut tree just mentioned. The selection of this particular kind of tree, popularly known also as sycamore, was no doubt due to the fact that it is only of the largest and finest of eastern North American trees, and its far flung branches would shelter a considerable gathering from bad weather.

In 1792 this group of brokers made an agreement among themselves to co-operate in buying and selling, and to regulate the charge for their services. It was not until twenty-five years later, however, that the decided to get a room and call themselves the New York Stock and Exchange Board. For a dozen years, then, this board of brokers conducted a small business in bank, insurance and canal shares. At one time they had their quarters in a hay loft. From 1829, when the first American locomotive coughed its way over wooden runways, until 1860, the country witnessed a period of unprecedented rapid economic development. Rails spread rapidly throughout the nation; new territory was opened up, and endless resources discovered and developed. This all meant untold new wealth, and the consequent huge increase of the business of the Stock and Exchange Board. At the beginning of this period the exchange of eight or nine thousand shares in a day was regarded as heavy business. Toward its close, one record breaking day in 1857, over seventy thousand shares changed hands.

Through and following the Civil War, there was a period of developments in the financial growth of the nation that greatly favored speculation. Paper money with a gold redemption value was established, and the fluctuation between the value of this paper and actual gold caused such wild speculation that a separate exchange was formed in 1862 for this class of trading. The excitement became so intense that speculators overflowed the quarters in the financial district and carried on their operations in the corridors and reading rooms of the old Fifth Avenue Hotel. During this time too, the various kinds of exchanges that had grown up in competition, consolidated, and in 1865 erected their own building on the site of the present Stock Exchange at Broad and Wall Streets. During this period also, in 1867, the ticker was adopted by the stock exchange, and it began to use the Atlantic Cable, thus stimulating national and international exchange activity. In 1878 the first telephones were installed on the exchange floor, greatly speeding up transactions, and providing the last element necessary for its wonderfully efficient present day operation.

MRS. JOHN P. CHRISTIE

SHREWSBURY, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Margaret (Storey) Christie, wife of John R. Christie, Barnard street, died last night at 9 o'clock in her 68th year at City hospital, Worcester, after a long illness. She also leaves a brother, Thomas Storey of New York, and a sister, Mrs. John Worth, in Prince Edward Island. There are 11 grandchildren. Tryon Tid Bits

Hockey—The Tryon Arrows handicapped by want of practice—due to the late opening of Pooley's rink—are, however, rapidly getting their stride. Their first game of the season was with Cape Traverse, and after a hard fight, Cape Traverse, who had plenty of practice, nosed out on the top-end of a 4-0 score. The second game found the boys with just a little more wind and a wee bit more pep, but head-work was sadly lacking, especially in the last period, results being another victory for the Cape boys, the tune being 6-2. The evening of Wednesday, the 6th, found the Arrows—seven strong—lined up on Bedeque rink against the Beavers, who, nine strong, went out sure of victory. However, after 60 minutes fast play the Arrows had the Beavers tied and the overtime resulted in one goal for the Beavers. Credit must be given to the boys who comprise the "Arrow" team, namely Capt. and goalie, Archie Thomson, Lloyd Howatt, and Blaine Dawson, defence; Lloyd Inman, Lou Mabey, Keith Thomas, Wendel Lea and Goldie Delaney, forwards, in that they practically have a new line-up this season, without practice, have, after only two games, succeeded in tying the fast and heady Bedeque Beavers on their own rink. While practically out of the race for the MacLean Trophy this season I predict for this team next season, if handled properly, a big place in the Prince County League.

Mr. Leslie MacDonald has arrived home, after spending a short time with friends in Summerside. Mr. Parker Delaney is spending his vacation in Summerside.

Friends everywhere are glad to learn that Mr. Fred Leard, North Tryon, who has been dangerously ill of pleural pneumonia, is now progressing favorably and good hopes are entertained for his recovery. Z.

ISLAND RAILWAY VETERANS MEET.—The regular monthly meeting of the Railway Veterans Club was held in the Club room yesterday afternoon. The President Rod McDonald occupied the chair. After much routine business was transacted, it was decided that the members make special efforts this year to secure traffic for the C. N. R. and to lose no opportunity to further the interests of the Railway in every way at all times. Mr. Tout, Safety First Engineer at Moncton was present, and addressed the meeting. He explained the method of advising traffic officials when there was prospective business and reported how other clubs were progressing. He stated he would be present at the next monthly meeting and would display railway advertising moving pictures. A programme of music and games brought the meeting to a close.

LECTURE AT KILMUIR.—Though the night was quite dark, and the roads in poor shape for either wheels or runners, quite a large and attentive audience greeted the Rev. D. M. Sinclair at Kilmuir on Friday night the 8th inst., when he delivered a lecture on Robert Burns, illustrated by a set of splendid lantern slide views of Scotland, particularly places and people made famous by their connection with this famous poet. To say that the lecture and views were a rare treat to all who were present puts the matter too mild. The night was one long to be remembered. Mr. W. E. McPhee spoke in the highest terms of his appreciation of the subject, Bobby Burns, and of his poems, and moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer, expressing his hope that we hear from him soon again, either by repeating tonight's lecture, or some other one. Mr. J. A. Campbell, M. P. P. and D. P. McPherson also spoke in support of the motion in glowing terms. Burns' poem, "Scots Wha Hae" was beautifully sung by W. E. McPhee and J. A. Campbell. Mr. J. K. McDonald assisted the lecturer in running the lantern and views. Meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. One Who Was Present.

Insidious Eye Strain: We use this adjective advisedly. Sufferers from Eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect. The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy. Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.
