INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT

Messrs W. B. Prowse and D. A. Mackinnon proprietors of the Vimy Fox Ranch, Norwood Road near Charlottetown, P. E. I. are prepared to sell a limited number of foxes and ranch them for parties if they so desire. The Vimy Fox Ranch was established in the fall of 1918 and has 39 pairs of foxes of 27 of which are owned by Messrs Prowse & Mackinnon and the balance are boarders. The ranch has been under the management of Mr. Fred Andrews and has been one of the most successful in the province. This year the 39 pairs have to-day 97 living pups or an average of 2.5 to the pair. This we think will compare favorably with any ranch in the province having strictly 1919 pups. The policy of the management was to select the very best foxes that money could buy and feed the very best food. Results have justified this course. The number of pairs can be ranched will be limited to fifteen so parties who desire to take advantage of this should speak early. 2021.

Boston's Financial Wizard Paying Claims

THE RUSH OF FRIGHTENED INVESTORS ON THE OFFICES OF CHARLES PONZI HAS PRACTICALLY CEASED

BOSTON, July 31. - Charles Ponzi, the self styled financier who claims to have amassed millions within a few months and who has paid to the public large profits on their investments in his deals with international exchange, appeared to have almost satisfied question among his investors as to his solvency. Only a short line formed before the payment window of the Ponzi offices this morning and clerks said they were paying off almost as much on notes matured for the fifty per cent. profit in 45 days as they were returning to frightened investors in principle without interest on notes surrendered short of maturity. The virtual end of the five day run was in sight, with few additions to the disarray.

The amount paid out by the Ponzi since the run began on Monday was estimated by his manager, Miss Lucy Mell, at $1,500,000. "And we have twice as much money right here in Boston as Mr. Ponzi owes so there is no need of any one being nervous," she added. "Ponzi a few days ago announced that his liabilities were about $3,000,000 indicating that public participation in his schemes already had been reduced by one half with further receipts stopped by his agreement with the authorities to accept no more funds until investigation of his accounts is completed. The run of frightened investors to cash Miss Mell said, meant more money in the already bulging pockets to Ponzi and unmatured notes were paid only on the basis of the actual investment.

"Their money has been working for us all this time, and Mr. Ponzi now can keep the fifty per cent. profit which would have gone to these people. You will realize this more when you know that nearly one million five hundred thousand dollars, which we have paid out has been on unmatured notes, a saving to Mr. Ponzi of almost $500,000," she said.

Ponzi's manager said she had seen nothing of any investigators as yet, although Federal, State and County inquiries are under way. Their books the continued were open for inspection by anyone in authority and would show that Mr. Ponzi had more than enough money to satisfy all claims. Examination of the books, however, according to the manager, will not solve the mystery of how Ponzi has made his money. With his ready satisfaction of all demands for payment, question has turned from his solvency to "how does he do it?"

To the statement of Postmaster Patton of New York, that there is not enough international postal coupons in the world to build up the fortune which Ponzi claims is his, Miss Mell declared that her other manager of "cashing in" in his operations was a business success which he intended kept and was as examinations of his books would not show.

"We have the money, there has been no violation of law, the public has received and will receive dollars for dollars invested.

Superb Furs Exquisitely Finished Displayed At Patons

Patons Ltd. have just opened a shipment of furs sent them on approval, the order having been cancelled when the luxury tax was levied. These furs, a comprehensive showing of the fur styles for the coming season, will be returned within a short time, so the ladies of Charlottetown, and men, too, are invited to call and see them within the next few days. A glance at Paton's windows is but an index of the wonderful range of furs in all colors, all varieties, and wonderfully attractive styles are shown; among them mink, beaver, fox, lynx, opossum, Hudson seal, etc. Come in and see the showing arranged for your convenience and inspection; in fact such a ravishing display of beautiful furs was never surpassed and in the face of the high prices of the fur market, never so cheap as Paton's offer. In small furs the cape effect is very prominent, with beautiful linings, tassels, etc., and in some instances finished off with tails. Natural red fox neckpieces are priced at $40; Patons' $25; Coon $65, with muffs to match. One exquisite sable cape effect was tagged at $95, while a seal, rich and lustrous, was marked $53. There are also hosts of other small pieces. The fur coats are big and roomy 33 to 40 inches long, charming coats, cut and fashioned with that perfection one always finds in Paton's furs. An outstanding value was noted in a smart Poney coat with deep collar and cuffs of beaver, priced at $275. A "marmot" of the softest shade, was made into a captivating 40 inch coat, lined with radium satin and priced at $235. A combination of beaver and marmot was irresistible at $310. It is doubtful if there were ever richer seal coats shown at Paton's, one especially nice coat, straight lines, with "flaring" skirt, has a large, 12 inch sable collar, belt and large cuffs of same. It was tagged $264. A muskrat coat of specially fine skins is shown at $300, and a seal and opossum combination, two of the richest combined furs, sells at $425, while the straight Poney comes at $210. Remember these furs will only be here for a "little while," so call early for first choice.

PREMIER MEIGHEN ON THE DUTY OF THE HOUR

Thousands Acclaim the Dominion's First Minister in His Home City, Portage La Prairie, Man.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, MAN., Aug. 2. - "Cheer up and get together," this said Premier Meighen in an address to the people of Portage La Prairie this afternoon, is what Canadians should do if they are to eliminate existing differences and unrest.

It was the duty of the hour, said the Premier, to vigilantly redress all just causes for complaint in Canada and to back this with the "united moral force of right thinking people."

The Premier appealed for a better understanding between English-Canadians and French-Canadians and in this connection he said: "We ought to have to get away from differences that really are not differences at all from the standpoint of the vital concerns of the country. We have two great races. The fundamental institutions of Canada are just as dear to the one race as to the other. There are just as many friends of law and order and responsible government among French-Canadians as among English-Canadians."

The Prime Minister of Quebec, the Hon. Mr. Taschereau, said a few nights ago that the time had come when what he described as the isolation of Quebec, should cease, and when that province should take its full part in the government of this Dominion. He appealed for a spirit of co-operation to take the place of a spirit of estrangement. I re-echo that appeal. I believe it to be my duty to answer that appeal to the best of my power. I hope it receives a warm and cordial response in every end of this country. Neither side feels or will admit either side admits responsibility for what estrangement has existed. We will never get anywhere. Let the question of responsibility go by and let us look to the future.

"The peril of every nation has been a tendency to divide lines of race, on lines of religion, on lines of social caste, on lines of occupation. When the tendency gets too strong the beginning of the end has come. If we do not come together and reach a better understanding and a better unity on things that are vital and essential to the state there will be a heavy penalty paid."

A Survey of National Conditions in a Broad Way Hon. Arthur Meighen was addressing a non-political gathering of his fellow citizens in a hall in his home on his elevation to the Premiership and he did not talk politics. He surveyed national conditions in a broad way and appealed for a closer spirit of co-operation among all classes of the Premier expressed his own and Mrs. Meighen's thanks for the reception given him. It was Portage La Prairie, he said, which gave him his first real start in life, and here was his first home. He could not regard the demonstration as an endorsement of his government, or his political opinions, rather as an evidence of personal friendship. He expressed his pleasure at the presence of Sir James Aikins, Premier-Norris.

"My struggles still are mainly in front and not behind," he said. "It is by performance and not by accession that a man in public life is judged. He spoke of the war and what it had meant to Portage Homes. "The war was won but there was need for a lot of real patriotism" before the happiness of the years returned. The war developed epidemics of unrest and disorder. Grievances were intensified by suffering. "Extremists in some countries had brought millions to poverty and death. "Even on this continent and in this country, the forces of destruction are at work. I am afraid we are blind if we do not believe that they are a lot stronger than they were and that the menace is real."

"We should be quick to remedy injustice wherever injustice does appear. What one person honestly thinks is right, another person honestly thinks is wrong. But we should be more alert than ever to examine, both as citizens and as governments, every grievance that may have real foundation. We should do so in a liberal and generous spirit and not be too selfish about class rights. Remember that one class or group is just about as sincere as the other and every class thinks that every other class has the advantage. That is the distemper of the age. The imperial duty of the hour is to vigilantly seek out and redress all just causes of complaint and whenever in the framing and enforcing of laws there is doubt as to where the line of justice lies, give the benefit to the man behind."

The Destructionists Severely Scored. "But experience has taught us that the removal of injustice is not itself enough. The idealist may talk as he likes, the theorist may prate as he pleases, but you cannot get rid of the enemies of order by the mere force of equitable laws, make your laws as fair and just as human wisdom can devise, enforce them as impartially as you will and the state may still be in danger. The demagogues and the destructionists can keep within the law and still do their work. By misrepresentation, by misinformation, by the arts of language by the guile or words, they poison and inflame the mind. In nearly every case they first convince themselves. Then they go on, with increasing enthusiasm to see whole populations on edge. The tension of the last years has been the great opportunity. "Against this foe there must be set the united moral force of right thinking people. I firmly believe that the right thinking people who want law and order, those who desire the security of property earned, those who want policies of sanity and moderation, I believe the conditions of the country and still more, the conditions of the world demand that they stand together. "There can be no compromise with what is fundamentally wrong and selfishly of a nation we cannot tolerate what is merely selfish and destructive. The common sense of the country must take warning in time and stand its resistable against. The fortification of law and order must remain impregnable. "On the other hand there can be no curtailment of the rights of the people at the hands of commercial power or any other power. The bonds of freedom never can contract - they must progressively expand. But the liberty we seek is ordered liberty; it is liberty under the law; it is described best of all as British liberty. The Government of the nation must take its stand between the enemies of order and the enemies of liberty. Canada a Glorious Heritage "This is a grand country - we understand better every year what a wonderful land it is. In the richness of its soil, in the tonic and vitality of its climate, in the wealth of its waters, in the abundance of its minerals - in everything that makes for the prosperity and vitality of a nation we have the best and the biggest of the taken areas of the earth. Our trade has expanded; our wealth has multiplied. In the rate of progress we have surpassed, I think every country in the world has done. Our population is growing; every field of human enterprise peace and war, have as noble as we ourselves. The distribution of our wealth though far from ideal, has undoubtedly improved. "Is there a country in the world where there is less poverty than in Canada? I don't know where it is. This is true, not of one class alone but of all. Permit me to suggest this thought and I do so without any reference to party - we may have done more in one line of policy; but we never got very far wrong or we wouldn't be where we are today. Remember, while civilization moves northward, it moves very slowly northward. "What Canadians should do is to choose up and get together."
