RURAL MAIL CARRIER'S

all the abuse and hard feeling that is always the outcome of such proceedings. What kind of winter roads can we have if this mode of doing business is allowed to go on. Has a road master authority or has he not? If not for the modest salary of seven dollars (if he collects all the road taxes) he better go to sleep. What kind of a road act have we any way and what kind of a winter road will we have where everyone works when and where he will, or don't work at all? That is how the present act worked out in this case at least and the outcome is the precedent is set; the district is without a good efficient road master and the ratepayers and those who do work are dissatisfied and say they will not work unless all work. Yet who will enforce the act? Not the road master if there was one. No, not on your life, because this superior officer can give favors as he pleases and the poor road master is the goat. Yes we need some change.

I am Sir, etc., ONE OF THE SHOVELLERS, Tryon.

Dairy Inspectorship

Sir.—I understand a meeting of the directors of the P. E. I. Dairy Association was held some days ago for the purpose of appointing a Dairy Inspector. The selection of the proper man for this position is of vital importance to the Dairy interests. All (friendship and personal interest should be relegated to the background. Religion and politics should cut no figure whatever; only the man's fitness for the position should count. Are the directors of the association and the departments but the proper interest and ambition to make good must be his sole objective.

ment of Agriculture big enough to stick their personal and political fancies and prove true to the trust imposed in them. Out of respect to the memory to the old pioneers whose unselfish and untiring efforts were given without stint or pay to build up and encourage co-operation in the general interests of all concerned, it is now up to them in charge to at least do their duty.

A good practical cheese and butter maker with the interests of the dairy business at heart, can easily earn his salary and expenses. We hear it said so and so would not be competent to conduct a class in the Technical School. For the love of Mike why should we discount a good practical instructor for the year in favor of some theorist to hold forth to a hat a dozen pup's for two or three weeks.

Gives the producer, the man that feeds and produces the cows some consolation some chance to get the best out of his labor by having his milk supply manufactured into a good uniform product, that will demand the best market price.

I am, Sir, etc. R. E. SPILLET.

MAGGIE AND JIGGS AT THE GOLDEN GATE

St. Peter stood at the Golden Gate, With a solemn mein and an air sedate, When up to the top of the Golden Stair, Maggie and Jiggs ascended there.

Seeking admission they came and stood Before St. Peter so great and good, In hope the City of Hope to win, And asked St. Peter to let them in. Maggie was tall and dark and thin With a scraggling beardlet under her chin; Jiggs was short and greasy and stout, And his stomach was built so it rounded out.

His face was pleasant all the while, He wore a kind and a genial smile. The choir in the distance the echoes woke, And Jiggs kept still while Maggie spoke.

"Thou, who guardest the gate," said she "We two come hither beseeching Thee, To let us enter the heavenly Land, And play our harps with the Angel Band."

Come, St. Peter, there is no doubt, There is nothing in Heaven to bar me out. I've been to meetings three times a week, And almost always I'd rise and speak. I've told the sinners about the day, When they'd repent of their Evil way. I've told my neighbours, I've told them all, Of Adam and Eve and the primal fall.

I've shown them what they'd have to do, If they'd pass in with the chosen few, I've marked their path of duty clear, Laid out the plan of their whole career.

I've talked to them both loud and long, For my voice is loud and my laughs are strong, So good St. Peter, you'll clearly see, The Gate of Heaven is open to me. But Jiggs here I regret to say, Hasn't walked in exactly the narrow way, He smokes and swears and grave faults he's got, So I don't know whether he'll pass or not.

He never would pray with an earnest vim, Or go to Revival or join in a hymn, While I the sins of my neighbors bore He gaped about with that DINTY MOORE.

He made a practise of staying out late, Which is a sin all women hate; But when finally he did come home, The rolling pin went straight for his dome.

I know him, St. Peter, I know him well, To escape from me he'd go to Hell; But St. Peter I need him here, And hope you can see your way clear.

On earth I bore a heavy cross, But in Heaven still give me Jiggs to boss. I brought my rolling pin, plates and jars, To keep him dodging among the stars. But say, St. Peter, it seems to me, This gate isn't kept as it ought to be, You ought to stand in the opening there, And never sit in that easy chair.

And say, St. Peter, my sight is dimmed, But I don't like the way your whiskers are trimmed, They're cut too wide with an upward toss, They'd look better narrow and straight across.

St. Peter sat quiet and stroked his staff, And in spite of his office he had to laugh, Then said with a fiery gleam in his eye, "Who's tending this Gate, Maggie, you or I?"

Then he arose in his stature tall, He pressed a button upon the wall, And said to the imp who answered the bell "Escort this female around to Hell!"

Slowly Jiggs turned by habit bent, To follow Maggie where ere she went, St. Peter saw that his head was bare, So called the old boy back and said "Jiggs, how long have you been wed?" "Thirty years" said he with a sigh, Then "Why?" "St. Peter was silent with head bent down, He raised his head and he scratched his crown, Then seeming a different air to take, Slowly half to himself he spake. "Thirty years with that woman there, No wonder the man hasn't any hair, Swearing is wicked, smoking's no good, He smoked and swore:—I should think he would! Thirty years with that tongue so sharp, Oh, Angel Gabrielle, give him a harp. A jewelled harp with Golden strings, Good sir, pass in where the Angels sing."

"And Gabriel, give him a seat alone, One with a cushion up near the throne, And call some angels to play their best, For Jiggs has surely earned a rest. See that on fine ambrosia he feeds, He's had about all the Hell he needs, It isn't hardly the thing to do, To roast him on earth and in future too."

Every Argument Points to a Better Corset for You, Milady

THE fact that Coliene Corsets give the figure more graceful lines, without the appearance of being corsetted is a deciding point in their favor—then Coliene Corsets permit perfect ease and freedom of movement—due to the special Coliene boning, made from the most durable rust-resisting spiral coiled wire—which is in itself a feature the woman who seeks comfort cannot overlook.

And in addition, Coliene Corsets will retain their usefulness long after many pairs of inferior corsets have been discarded—for only the best material and workmanship make Coliene Corsets.

"A corset every woman can wear to advantage." Coliene back-laced and front-laced corsets sold exclusively by
