

ANOTHER INDUSTRY FOR CHARLOTTETOWN

Island Chocolates Manufactured by T.F. White, Factory Opened. Goods on Market.

That Charlottetown is on the boom is evidenced by the establishment of another new industry, this time a chocolate factory. Thomas F. White who removed to Charlottetown a year ago and who has been watching the trend of business here, encouraged by the evidences of progress and prosperity in city and country, has fitted up at the rear of his store on Grafton street, a commodious and well-equipped chocolate factory which is now going in full swing.

Mr. White who has a continental reputation as a manufacturer of chocolates, having had some twenty-five years' experience in the business as head of the well-known White Candy Company, has secured the services of help that have been in the business both in Canada and the United States and have the reputation of being the best chocolate makers in the Maritime Provinces.

Home industries should be given every possible encouragement and it is a commendable custom that when chocolates or any other articles of luxury or necessity are being purchased, that in every case, quality and price considered, preference is given to the home made article.

In addition to his chocolate manufacturing business Mr. White proposes opening in the very near future a suite of lunch rooms where luncheon will be served at any hour during the day and evening.

LONG MARCH BEGUN BY SUFFRAGETTES. EDINBURGH, Oct. 18.—A small army of suffragettes set out from this city to march to London, where they intend to present a petition to Premier Asquith. They are under the leadership of Mrs. De Fontblaque, who will make the journey on horseback at the head of her forces. It is believed the march will take about six weeks, those participating expecting to cover about ten miles a day.

Learn the art of relaxation and practice it; learn to be still, is the advice given by a well known beauty. Practice every day, she says, until you can sit or stand for several minutes at a time, in a correct position without moving a muscle. This gives you a control of the body that will help wonderfully in training it to appear to advantage. It also helps you to acquire magnetism and to use it at will.

Learn to rest without rocking, to talk without moving the hands or fingers, to listen without fidgeting. Do not laugh unless there is something really worth laughing about. Notice how many of your friends laugh from pure nervousness. It is a waste of vitality and of magnetism. Learn to smile without laughing, and to smile with your eyes more than your lips. All this tends to develop self poise, and self poise is one of the essentials of personal charm.

Be sure you are relaxed from head to toe whenever you lie down for a nap. Never go to sleep with your face screwed into puckers; straighten it out—this is the secret of drifting into old age without wrinkles. Go to sleep with a pleasant thought, something that tends to bring a smile, but be sure to smile with your lips closed.

Do not encourage a tendency to loose lips. Do not breathe through your mouth, or go about with your mouth open and the lower lip hanging down keep your fingers away from your face. Many a fairly decent nose has been carelessly pulled out of sight.

Now comes one of the most important of all the laws; refer to your body as seldom as possible. Do not describe its aches and pains. Do not publish the fact that it is not in goodworking order. Never give it undue prominence. Remember, always, that it is your house, your machine, your servant, and keep it in its proper place, not only with respect to the public, but to your own mind as well.

He was a bold, bad music pirate, and was doing his best to dispose of his musicbeats. "Here you are, ducky," he said, addressing a maid-of-all work, who was cleaning the brass doorstep. "Has anybody Seen My Fiddler? Put on Your Ta-Ta, Little Gattie, Paper Bag Cookery, We'll All Go the Same Way Home. All the latest and best songs. Only tuppence a copy."

"No," replied the maid-of-all-work, bitterly. "I want no music. I've got more to cry than sing for." "Never mind, old girl," said the gutter merchant, sympathetically. "At the same time producing a sheet of music. "Here you are—Oh, Dry 'Those Tears! Only tuppence."—Weekly Scotsman.

POETRY PROSE AND PHOTO COMPETITION

Dear Mr. Louson:—In literary merit, and in the skillful use of antithesis Mr. Bell's essay ranks first. He however, treats of a transitory condition which so far as the West is concerned is rapidly changing. I have therefore awarded the prize to Miss Duffy because, though a novice, she seems to have caught the truest perception of the fundamental character of the appeal that nature in P. E. I. exerts upon the soul. A rugged mountainous country stimulates a low flat country throws upon the human element the onus of creating an atmosphere of its own. Here, as Miss Duffy suggests, nature tends to induce a life, leading perchance in the more strenuous phases of experience, but enriched with a sane reposeful emotionalism from which alone flows true balanced lives. You have asked me to select the first ten essays in order of merit. To do this is to my mind an almost impossible task—I have selected ten but have made no attempt to place them in order of merit. Yours truly, PERCY POPE. Ch'Town, Oct. 19th 1912.

MANY INJURED IN FIERCE RUSH

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY AT CHARLOTTETOWN. Last Saturday was an eventful day in the history of the Signalling Corps in Charlottetown. Early in the morning work was commenced on the erection of the aerial poles and wires for the wireless station to be in operation in the Signal Corps quarters throughout the coming winter. Two poles each over fifty feet in length were to be erected and have been in readiness for some time past. As there is only one "lineman" for the wireless association in Charlottetown and as he was in great demand in other branches of his profession it was necessary that work be delayed pending his arrival.

This is the sixth station to be erected the poles and outside rigging this time last year only two were in existence. erected the poles and outside rigging erected the poles and outside rigging of four of these, and certainly deserves credit for the shipshape and workmanlike manner in which they have been erected. The poles of the station on the armouries are fully twenty feet longer than any others erected in Charlottetown for wireless purposes and the tops are fully one hundred feet above the level of the Government pond below the wireless room. It was a ticklish job putting up these immense spars and the twelve boys assisting one and all agreed they would have had no hand in the business if any other than "Steve" had been directing operations and taking the strain.

It is a shame that the Militia Department should not see fit to erect the comparatively small cost of the installation of this complete station instead of making a grant of a very small amount hardly enough to cover the cost of erection of a proper aerial.

The practice secured for the signallers in Charlottetown would more than repay them for the grant. This will prove quite an addition to the attractions of the armoures as it will be the only permanent military station in Canada.

PUNISHMENT BY INSTALMENTS

LONDON, Oct. 21, (Special)—Punishment by instalments is a remedy proposed for the action of Suffragettes in instituting hunger strikes, and so compelling the authorities to release them before their sentences have been served. A change of the law would be necessary, but the idea is that the authorities should be empowered to secure that a sentence might be served in instalments if the health of the prisoners prevented its being carried through in one, and if the indisposition was occasioned by the deliberate acts of the prisoner.
