HAZELBROOK BAPTIST CHURCH will hold an ice cream and strawberry social near the church on Wednesday evening, July 18th. Everybody invited. 1591,7,12M2i.

STEAMER MAYWOOD.—The steamer Maywood from Chicago for New York has arrived in Charlottetown to undergo repairs to her machinery. The work is being done by Bruce Stewart & Co. The Maywood is a river steamer built on somewhat the same lines as the S. S. City of London, which formerly sailed out of this port, but she is considerably larger. The steamer will resume her voyage as soon as her repairs are completed.

MARRIED MONDAY—St. Dunstan's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday morning when Miss Ella McKeizer, Covehead, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Bernard May, Covehead. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Maurice McDonald, rector of the cathedral. Miss Kathleen Coyle, Charlottetown was bridesmaid while Mr. Cecil May supported the groom. The bride looked winsome in a suit of blue silk and the bridesmaid was very becomingly attired in white silk, both carrying beautiful bouquets. The happy couple will reside in Covehead, where the groom is a successful lobster packer. The Guardian joins with their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. May a happy and prosperous married life.

A MASTER PRODUCTION.—A play that kept the audience "on edge" was produced at the Prince Edward Theatre last night. It was the master feature play "The Final Judgment," an original drama in five tremendous acts. The story a sensational melodrama, has a new and deeply emotional situation. The heroine's husband is in the death cell condemned for murder of which another lover of hers is guilty. She suspects and her problem is to show up the villian and she begins by making him think that she loves him and has really disliked her husband. See accomplishes her purpose and receives her meritorious reward. It was surely one of the most interesting plays for some time at the Prince Edward and those who desire to see a "good one" in pictures should attend today or this evening. A Christie play supplied all that could be desired in the comedy line, keeping the audience convulsed all the time. It is hardly necessary to state that the "Pathe Weekly" was as usual excellent and interesting.

Campaign Opened In King's County

done after the election. These storms came late in the fall when materials were hard to get. The fall traffic was coming on and the work had to be done in a hurry and it cost a little more than it would have cost in the ordinary way; and if you take the large expense in rebuilding those bridges and take also the shortage in revenue —some $43,000 of a decrease on account of the war—you have the best part of the deficit of that year accounted for. It is quite possible. It was a large deficit, we are free to admit; but it was utterly unavoidable. We have had deficits in the past twenty years; in fact in one year, if you turn up the public accounts, you will find one of their deficits amounted to $130,000.

You will be told possibly that we increased the salaries by some $50,000. This is the kind of statement they place before the people of the country and ask them to believe. I do not think we ever indulge in such exaggerations. They are not profitable. A man who exaggerates and says things like that is found out. These things are not made so much in the House, because they are exposed,—although we have exposed a great many of their fallacies in the House. But that statement about the alleged increase of fifty thousand dollars in salaries has no foundation in fact. I have here a statement prepared for me by the Audit Department, and the increase of salaries within the last five years, instead of fifty thousand, as they say—and you must remember that the cost of living has gone up since that —is $9,062. I have the figures here. Out of that there will be a reduction this year of about $1000 in salaries that will be cut out altogether. $1,400 represented increase of salaries to Prince of Wales College teachers, and that is according to a precedent established by the late Government, that the teachers there begin at a certain salary which is increased by a small amount from year to year until they reach a certain figure and then stop. As I say, $1,400 is for Prince of Wales College; $1,200 is for the director of school supplies, and that is really not a salary, because part of the small profit that is made on the school books makes up the amount of the salary. The Superintendent of Education used to get $1200; the salary was raised to $1500. That $1500 today is saved, because the acting superintendent is also the engineer of the Public Works Department and he only gets one salary for both. This will show you how much credit can be placed in statements such as this alleged increase of $50,000 in salaries. I have heard too much of this kind of thing, and it is time such allegations should be effectually settled.

It is also stated that we are receiving $200,000 of revenue more than they were getting in their time. That is another statement not founded on fact. I have from the public accounts the figures for the years 1908-9-10-11 showing that the average revenue during those four years was $373,000. I have also, from the public accounts, a statement of the revenue for the years 1913-14-15-16, showing that our average revenue was $496,000, or a difference of $123,060 a year more than they were getting. Oh, they will tell you, there is the agricultural grant, twenty-five or thirty thousand more on that. Let me tell you that the agricultural grant is not part of our revenue. It is not part of our ordinary revenue. It is revenue that goes to certain purposes agreed on between the Department of Agriculture in Charlottetown and the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa, and it is spent for those definite purposes. It never goes into the revenue of the province. It is administered altogether outside, in accordance with the wishes of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa in agreement with the local Department —and that is done in every province. We may be asked: What did you do with this $123,000 extra that you were getting? They say we have been extravagant. Well, we have spent an average of $40,000 a year—$43,000 as a matter of fact—on permanent public works; we have spent on education an average of $45,000 a year more than they were spending. There in two items alone you have over $90,000; and I can give you figures for the balance. That is where it went. Besides that we paid, what was not in the external audit, $11,000 of old debts, not discovered by the auditors, among them the Walter Lowe claim for $7,000 and miscellaneous claims that came altogether to $11,000. That is what we did with it. Where is the extravagance?

You may be interested to know something about these peramnent bridges. The late Government built in their time 911 feet of steel bridges, and I have the names of them right here. We built, in our five years, 2,623 feet of permanent steel bridges, besides other bridges. Besides that we built a tuberculosis hospital at Falconwood, put a new steam-heating plant in the Provincial Building, built a railway siding at Marie for mud, built Midgell wharf mud scow, a new jail in King's County, a new Ferry at Cardigan, a new Ferry at Ellis River, and in the district here there is a new ferry which I understand is very satisfactory. I could go on enumerating them, but the hour is getting rather late, and as I said before, the whole situation has already been threshed out.

The debt on the 2nd of December, 1911, was $1,072,000. They will tell you that out of that we did not give them credit for $64,000 of asets due the province, and that therefore the debt was less by that amount. That is very true. Those assets were there. You will find, when compiling the debt after each year, there is a certain amount of assets, and last year, in computing the debt, there are certain assets to be considered that will come into the present year. If you subtract the asets in 1911 from the debt, you must also do that at the end of 1916. Under the old Government, each year the public accounts came out and showed the amount of revenue received and the amount paid out, but they never told you year by year how much was due by the province. You could never tell what the debt of the province was, because there was a certain large amount carried over from year to year. We did not do that. Each year, from 1911, we not only gave the amount of the revenue and expenditure but also took the people into our confidence each year and showed them what the province owed. We did that every year, and every year in the House the first question my hon. friend asks is:— When can we get the external auditor's report? How different was it in our day! Year by year we asked them to tell us how much the province owed and they refused; now we tell them exactly how matters stand.

I have just formed a new Government. I am not trying to shirk responsibility for the actions of the late Government. I am not going to screen myself behind the fact that I have formed a new Government. I am here to take full responsibility with the rest of my colleagues for the actions of the late Government; but now we come before you and say we have formed a new Government, and that we are going to follow along the lines of my predecessor in office that is, to keep the province from going further into debt and to pay year by year sufficient to the sinking fund to meet the debt. Moreover, we say that we have reached this stage in the history of the province when we must consider the question of permanent public roads. Transportaton is of the utmost importance to the farmers. Transportation begins at the door of the farmer and only ends at the final destination of the produce. There must be a good, continuous system of transportation. Five years ago, a measure was brought into the House of Commons to give the province aid towards the maintenance of public roads. If that measure had gone through and had not been killed by the Liberal Senate we would have received to this date some $135,000 towards public roads. Today that measure is being introduced again, and with a change of political complexion in the Senate now it will go through and under that measure this province will receive the sum of $17,000 a year and, with other revenues which we will have, we can enter into a system of public roads that will not necessitate repairs from year to year. Every province of Canada has entered into a system of permanent public roads. We are the last to enter it, without expense to the people.

It has been told you that all the other provinces have gone Liberal! Yes, Saskatchewan and Alberta have gone Liberal, and they are welcome to the vote that put them Liberal. In the last election ninety thousand electors, foreign, alien electors, who should have been disfranchised, who are inimical to the interests of Canada in the war, were the men that put the Liberals into power, and, if they claim any credit for it they are welcome to it. Enemies of Canada and the Empire have put the Government into power, and they are welcome to any credit that can be given them.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, you have been very kind in listening so attentively to me. My friend, Mr. Stewart, will be a worthy successor to the man you have lost by his elevation to the Bench. Mr. Stewart is a man whom you know really better than I do. I will be proud to have him as a supporter in the House. He has made a reputation for himself at the Bar and I am sure he will make a reputation for himself in the Legislature. I am confident when the 25th comes round you will poll your votes for Mr. Stewart.

SALONICA.— According to reliable advices from Asia Minor, the Turkish army is in the most serious plight of any period of the war on account of the depletion of man-power from the ravages of epidemics and from actual starvation as a result of the failure of the commissariat. The spread of mutinies among Arab and Kurd troops has become so alarming that Enver Pasha, the Turkish War Minister, is rushing to Mesopotamia in an effort to cope with them.
