Prompt Measures Will Be Taken To Stop Dumping

Federal Government To Issue Regulations Appraising Values For Duty Purposes.

(Canadian Press)
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28—Regulations governing the action to be taken by officers of the Customs Department in connection with appraising the value for duty purposes of goods imported from countries whose currency is depreciated, or from countries whose monetary standard is higher than that of Canada, will be issued today by the Department of National Revenue. While no official statement is yet forthcoming, it is understood that drastic measures will be taken to prevent the dumping of goods into Canada at prices lower than the fair market value.

As the present rate of exchange works out between Canada and the United States, the discount on Canadian funds is roughly 10 per cent.

Some manufacturers and exporters in the United States have signified willingness to accept payment in Canadian funds, disregarding the 10 per cent difference. This has the effect of giving the Canadian importer a discount of that much, while at the same time enabling the United States exporter to get rid of surplus stock at a price lower than prevailing prices in that country.

To correct this condition, the Government proposes to insist upon a valuation for duty purposes fixed upon the standard of Canadian funds, plus the rate of exchange. While goods are involved in terms of Canadian currency, the Government will exact the 10 per cent difference in exchange as dumping duty and will assess valuation as indicated.

With regard to importations from Great Britain, the depreciation of the pound would enable British importers to secure an advantage in the Canadian market and in order to obviate this the Government, it is understood, proposes to write the pound up to par in Canadian currency, thus adding to import values the difference between the Canadian dollar and the pound.

LATER

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28—Designed to counteract exchange fluctuations, regulations applying to imports into Canada from countries with discounted or appreciated currencies, were issued today by the Department of National Revenue. When appraised for duty purposes, the currency value of the country shipping the goods will be a determining factor. Prompt steps will be taken to guarantee against wholesale dumping by countries with a monetary advantage over Canada.

In a memorandum sent to each customs collector today it was stated: In regard to currencies which are at an exchange rate adverse to Canada, the value for duty in Canadian currency is to be determined by advancing the actual home consumption value by the amount of the premium at the rate or average rate of exchange current upon the date of shipment. In respect to depreciated currencies, the value for duty purposes is to be arrived at by computation at the rate or average rate of exchange current on date of shipment. You are further instructed that in respect to adverse exchange, the importer is to state whether the invoice of the amount to be paid for the goods is in Canadian or foreign funds and in respect of goods of a class or kind made or produced in Canada, special or dumping duty is to apply where the price paid by the purchaser in equivalent of Canadian currency is less than the value for duty in Canadian funds (arrived at by the addition of the exchange premium).

LONDON, Sept. 28—Date of the dissolution of the British Parliament to make way for a general election will be announced on Wednesday, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald stated in the House of Commons today. The measure would empower the King to make Orders in Council to prohibit and restrict imports for a period of 90 days, giving the country a chance to get on its feet economically before a general election is held.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL OF N.S. GOVERNOR

REPRESENTATIVES OF CANADA, UNITED STATES AND OTHER PROV- INCES JOINED WITH NOVA SCOTIA IN PUBLIC MOURNING.

(By Charles Bruce, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 28—Beneath a lowering sky, austere and grey with the threat of rain, the citizens of Halifax were ranked on Barrington Street this afternoon. All the sombre dignity reserved by the state as a last acknowledgement of her greatest sons, was instinct in solemn procession as Frank Stanfield's body was borne from Government House to St. Paul's Church. There, in the gravely beautiful rites of the Church of England's burial service, persons from every walk of life joined in the final tribute of nation and province to the dead Lieutenant Governor.

There was no formal eulogy. In a simple interment service tomorrow, Truro's people will say farewell to their most prominent fellow townsman, who rose to the highest position in the gift of his province a year ago, and died in his sleep on Friday morning. Representatives of the Dominion, of the United States, and of other provinces joined with Nova Scotia today in public mourning as the cortege passed to the church beneath the city's half-masted flags. In the procession on the street side or in the church were day laborer and Archbishop, common seaman and Prime Minister, schoolboy and Brigadier-General. Crowds were massed on either hand as the Guard of Honor, with guns reversed marched to St. Paul's in the van of the cortege accompanying the flag-draped casket. Solemn bars of the funeral march were a spearhead of sound in the hush.

For two hours, in the forenoon, the body had lain in state at Government House, in a room draped with purple and black. Hundreds filed through the halls to the long room where naval and military guards stood by a flower-banked catafalque. At 1:30 this afternoon the casket was borne from the Governmental mansion by eight junior officers of the navy and army. Guards from the Royal Canadian Regiment, clad in the scarlet, white and blue of dress uniforms, and from the Royal Canadian Navy, gave the present arms, and swung in front of the hearse with rifles reversed. To the rear of the chief mourners were the Lieutenant Governor's aides-de-camp, and next, the representative of His Excellency the Governor-General, Col. S. C. Oland, followed by Hon. Charles Dalton, Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island; Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan, Minister of Education and Health, representing the Premier of Prince Edward Island.

No Discount, No Fish

(Toronto Globe, Liberal)

British Columbia fishermen have demonstrated again that there are few games at which two cannot play. Just now United States folk are adopting toward the Canadian dollar an aggravatingly supercilious attitude, and are promptly pocketing the prevailing discount. Travellers from the Dominion are humiliated and annoyed by the tone of contempt with which their money is, in many cases, refused altogether.

But this doesn't "go" with the Western fisher folk. Buyers from the Republic need the product of their nets, but while bargaining for it have haughtily demanded a premium for their money. That started trouble. No, said the men with fish to sell, we will not submit to that; and, now that you have brought up the subject, we will not accept your money except at a 10 per cent. discount. Men who take such direct action generally are in earnest, and Yankee bluff was of no avail. The boat was on the other foot; and now along the west coast of Vancouver the most beautifully printed United States dollar bills will purchase only ninety cents' worth of fish.

A little more of this spirit, especially at border points, would startle these self-satisfied individuals who scorn Canadian money. There has been far too much surreptitious shopping across the line, with the consequent smuggling into Canada of goods purchased. This has been good business for United States merchants; and now their Canadian customers will realize how little it has been appreciated. It will be good business for Canadians not only to stay at home for a while, but to do their buying at home. Conscious that their dollars are all right, border dwellers might, so far as they can, follow the example of the British Columbia fishermen.

MAY APPOINT NEW FINANCE MINISTER

(Special to the Guardian)

OTTAWA, Sept. 28—The engrossing character of the federal financial administration these days is considered likely to expedite the selection of a new Minister of Finance. While he has plenty of other occupations to keep him busy, the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett is forced to spend most of his time in the Finance Department. The problems there are not wholly federal, some of them are provincial. The enterprise is too exacting for one man.

No definite decision has been reached, but later reports are that an outsider may be selected in place of one of the present Ministers.
