

For the KIDNEYS

NEGLECTED KIDNEYS mean a gradual poisoning of your whole system. This poison (uric acid) is the direct cause of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sciatica and other serious ailments. If you have any symptoms of kidney weakness, such as headaches, dizziness, backache, swollen ankles or wrists, frequent stinging urination with brick dust deposits, get Gin Pills immediately.

They are the greatest kidney remedy in the world and can be taken with absolute confidence that a healthy condition will quickly be restored.

Life History Of U.S. Senator Nicholson

controlled interests. It was in this connection that he formed the lasting friendship with John Hays Hammond, who at that time was mining engineer for Guggenheim.

Authority on Ore Treatment.

Nicholson's work did not stop at the operation of mines, however. He became an authority on the concentration of ores, and joined other operators in the study and practice of this angle of the industry. This resulted in the first carbonate zinc ores found in the Leadville district. The climax of this study came with the discovery of the zinc ore which bears his name "nicholsonite."

Being one of the most popular, as well as one of the leading citizens of the booming mining town he was elected mayor of Leadville in 1893 and at the end of his term of office was re-elected and served until 1897. The lawless element of the boom days required a courageous man to enforce the law and when the Leadville miners strike of 1896 developed it was necessary to call the state troops. Warm praise has been accorded Nicholson for the way in which he handled that difficult situation.

Married in 1887.

In 1887 he married Miss Anna Neary, of Clifton Springs, New York. Two children, Edward and Ruth Helen were born of the union. Several years before the death of Mrs. Nicholson, in 1915, they moved to Denver and purchased a residence at 1559 Logan street, which had been his Denver home since then.

Senator Nicholson was twice defeated by small parties in the Republican primaries for the nomination of governor of Colorado.

When this country entered the war he volunteered his services and was state chairman of the Liberty and Victory loan campaigns, state chairman of the Roosevelt memorial campaign; state chairman of the national Salvation Army drive, and fuel administrator for Colorado.

In 1920 he entered the race for the position of United States senator to succeed Charles S. Thomas, and was elected on the platform that he was "Nicholson, the miner, the man who discovered nicholsonite, the man who made himself useful as a citizen, and one who had lived long in Colorado."

Works to Protect Industry.

In the senate, Senator Nicholson was placed on the committee of mines and mining, and had worked unceasingly for legislation that would be of benefit to that industry. One of his objects was the securing of a tariff to protect the interests of metal miners in the United States. He was also on the committee of naval affairs, civil service and manufacturing.

He was president and general manager of the Western Mining company of Leadville, and director of the Denver National Bank, the Denver Tramway company, the American National Bank of Leadville, and the First National Bank of Monte Vista, Colo. The Holy Sugar company and other large enterprises represent some of his investments.

He was a member of the Presbyterian church, a life member of the American Mining Congress, and belonged to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and the Colorado Historical society. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, and was also an Elk.

Five Brothers Survive.

The Senator was a large, rugged man, and the toll in the mines had given him a powerful physique. One of his hobbies was golf, and he was a member of the Denver Country club, the Lakewood country club and the Denver Athletic club.

There were six brothers and one sister in the Nicholson family, and upon the death of the sister, Mrs. J. R. Dewar, of Leadville, in February last year, five of the brothers met in Denver. Besides Senator Nicholson those who were at the reunion were Malcolm J. of Leadville, Murdoch A. J. of Tulsa, Okla.; and Daniel J. of Hoop, Utah. Another brother, John, resides in British Columbia.

with the five brothers, are a daughter, Mrs. Max Melville, wife of a widely known Denver attorney, and a son, Edward, at Salt Lake City.

ARISTOCRATIC FLANNEL

LONDON, April 13.—Flannel, like calico and cotton before it, has achieved aristocracy, to-day the debutante would not think of us without flannel for anything so humble as a petticoat. She has flannel coats for after another application or two her velvet skirt, and even an occasional flannel hat.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN ELLIS.

There passed away at the home of his son at Tyne Valley on Sunday, March 4, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of that place. In the person of the late John Ellis, in his 90th year. Born at Bideford, March 20, 1834, and from an early age was engaged with his father, the late William Ellis, in the shipbuilding industry till about 43 years ago, when he moved to Northam and engaged in farming. Retiring about 14 years ago, he moved to Tyne Valley, where he had since resided.

The late Mr. Ellis was twice married. First, in 1853 to Miss Agnes Rendie, who died about a year after leaving one son, William J., who predeceased him by a few months. In 1855 he married Miss Susan Ann Key, of Lot 11, and was blessed with a long and happy married life of 66 years, from which three daughters, namely: Robert H., Dan M., and Edwin L., of the U.S.A.; Thomas K. and Stanford T., of Fort William, Ont.; Melvin, of Ellerslie; John A., of Miminash; E. Hartford, of Tyne Valley, and the late David S., who predeceased him about nineteen years ago. The daughters are: Mrs. David Stewart of Northam, Mrs. Luther Williams of Bideford, and Mrs. Frank Dawson of East Bideford. There was also left to mourn one brother, Percival, of Port Hill.

About two years ago Mr. Ellis was called away by the Angel of Death, and since that time his health had been steadily on the decline, till March 4, when he peacefully passed away. The funeral service was conducted on March 6 by the Rev. Mr. Traverser, both at the house and at St. John's Episcopal church, Ellerslie. The pallbearers were Messrs. Preston Ellis, Ernest Ellis, Archie Ellis, Richard Ellis, Corbett Ellis and John Ellis. The floral offerings were: Pillow, from the family, and wreath from the Edward Ellis family.

His merry voice is strangely hushed And closed the laughing eyes, His gentle, loving, tender heart In solemn slumber lies.

MARY A. McLEAN

On Saturday, March 10th Mary A. McLean, a highly esteemed resident of West River, passed peacefully away at the home of her sister Mrs. Katherine Drummond of Brookfield, at the age of 75 years.

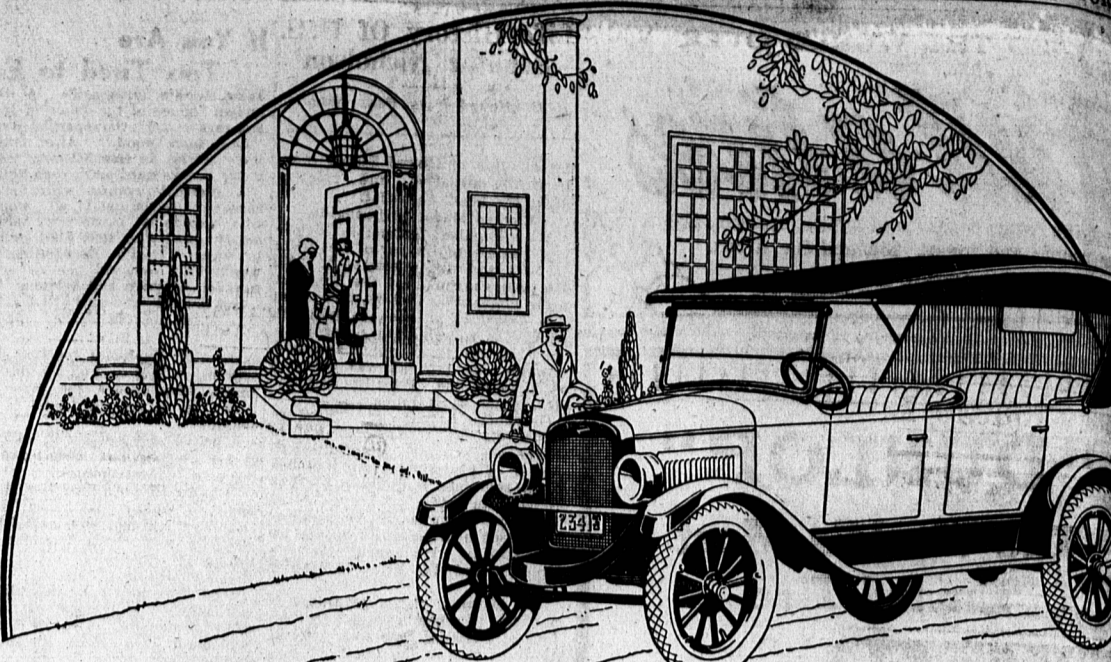

On January 6th the deceased came to make a visit at the home of her sister. While there she was taken ill. At first the illness was not thought to be serious but as time went by her strength gradually waned and on the above mentioned date her spirit returned to the God who gave it.

Mary A. McLean was one of a family of four brothers and five sisters. The brothers were Angus, Alexander, Duncan and John and the sisters were Mrs. Wm. Elrich, Quincey, Mass.; Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Bounty, Sask.; Mrs. Katherine Drummond, Brookfield and Miss Isabelle McLean also of Brookfield. Of these only three sisters remain, namely: Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Mrs. Katherine Drummond and Miss Isabelle McLean. They are now left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving sister. The deceased was quite thirty-five years in Providence, Rhode Island and before moving to her late home in West River she lived for four years at Hunter River.

Wherever she was known she was noted for her genial nature and her kindness of heart. A large circle of relatives and other friends will feel keenly her death.

But knowing that for her life's sufferings are forever over none would be so selfish and so unkind as to wish to bring her back again.

The funeral which was quite a large one was held on Monday, March 12th. The service was conducted by Rev. R. H. Stavert, assisted by Rev. G. P. Tattree. The pall bearers were John Spence, Andrew Dollar, Wm. Stewart, Murdoch McSween, Daniel McNeill and Kenneth McNeill.

Sturdy Elasticity

The wire for "Maritime" Wire Fence is imported direct from England. We have found that this English wire is distinctly superior. While stiff and hard it is not brittle, or as easily broken when subjected to a severe strain as the ordinary hard steel wire. It is real "live" wire, pliable and springy, capable of withstanding hardest usage and unaffected by any degree of temperature recorded in this country.

Will you let us mail you our free catalogue which tells more about Maritime Fence and its absolutely secure lock?

ABOUT POCKETS

NEW YORK, April 13.—It would appear after scanning the spring fashions as seen on the streets to-day that pockets are a bit of decoration as well as of utility. The pockets of some street suits are ornamented with a flower and leaves in satin ribbon, a touch most effective in a pastel tinge.

POKE TREND IN HATS

NEW YORK, April 13.—Even a small hat which sets out to be merely a cloche, is likely to fall under the poke-bonnet influence to-day. One sees many little straw hats, in greys and greens, with the merest suggestion of a poke bonnet shape in the front; hardly more than a widening of the rim.

GORGEOUS STOCKINGS

NEW YORK, April 13.—Bath to-day is gorgeous and unusual enough to attract attention away from the rest of the costume. In shades of brown it is really delightful with a beige gown. These stockings in all their wildness are being sold as part of the swimming outfit for summer.

Grandma Used Sage Tea To Darken Hair

She Mixed Sulphur With it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness

Common garden sage brewed in a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, you desire to retain your youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.
