Central School Fair Concludes

Large Attendance Yesterday As Judging Is Completed And Sport Events Are Run Off.

Prince Edward Island's first Central School Fair came to a very successful conclusion yesterday. Showers of rain which fell at times throughout the day, did not dampen the attendance of teachers and pupils. Judging was completed this morning, and the afternoon was devoted to running off the list of sport events. During the morning the attendance was augmented by the children from the city schools who took interest in the exhibits. One of the big features of the fair was the judging contest in which teams from all over the island competed. There were two teams of four animals each, Hoi from Falconwood and Ayr from the Experimental Station. Teams of two placed these animals, afterwards giving oral reports for their decisions. The officials of the Department of Agriculture then placed the animals

Desperate Youths Still At Large

"Mounties" Forced To Return From Blind Trail In N.S. Woods — Boys Wanted For Robbery.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 23.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police were routed today as they pushed further into the Devon woods in search of two desperate farm youths—not by the youths, but by the bewildering moose country. Advancing into virgin forest, wading streams swollen by heavy rain, crossing cold marshland, the sleuths failed to catch a glimpse of the defiant pair who have been wanted for five months.

During the afternoon the police were too busy looking after themselves to do much hunting. Shortly afterwards Constable Louis Ecker of the Halifax detachment strayed from the others, who spent two hours searching for him. Only three shots were fired during the hunt today. Those were discharged by Ecker to advise his companions of his position.

The wanted youths, Edgar McEwen and Albert Fraser Smith, took

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(Special to The Guardian)
GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 23.—The League of Nations council, preparing for a meeting of the League Assembly on Monday, gave its attention today to matters of relatively minor importance, but behind the official proceedings the Manchurian issue overshadowed everything else.

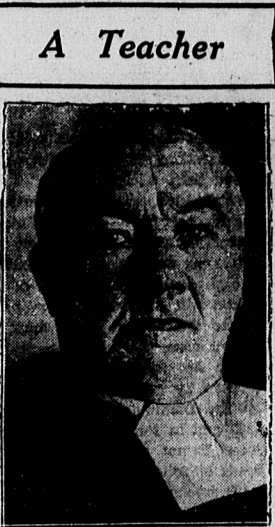

President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State presided and will preside as acting President when the assembly convenes. He disappointed spectators who had come expecting him to inject the Anglo-Irish dispute into these discussions.

The council heard report on the conflict between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Gran Chaco

London Paper Flays Critics Of Dominion

(Special to The Guardian)
LONDON, Sept. 23.—On the entry of Russian oil to Canada the Daily Express today says editorially:

"There is a great to-do in anti-Canadian newspapers like the Manchester Guardian and Daily Telegraph because 9,000 barrels of Russian oil were delivered by the St. Lawrence route.

"At the Ottawa Conference Canada did her best through Mr. Bennett to secure an embargo on Russian oil, wheat and timber, but British ministers would not hear of it.

"If now the inevitable consequence has come the wickedness lies in the state of the law; responsibility for the law lies with British ministers who went to Ottawa."

MAHATMA GROWING WEAKER

Nationalist Leader 82 Hours Without Food—Has Difficulty In Keeping His Eyes Open.

(Canadian Press)
POONA, India, Sept. 23.—Disquieting news that the Mahatma M. K. Gandhi had taken a slight turn for the worse came from Yeroda jail tonight after the Nationalist leader had gone for eighty-two hours without food in protest against the electoral system devised for Indian legislatures by the British Government.

The Mahatma was afflicted with nausea and giddiness, his voice was becoming more feeble and it was with difficulty that he kept his eyes open. Physically he was distinctly weaker.

The news of his condition resulted in a sudden frightened dash to the jail on the part of political leaders representing the caste Hindus and the Untouchables, who were conferring about electoral schemes of their own in the hope that it might prove acceptable to the Mahatma.

The particular point in the British electorate scheme to which the Mahatma objected is the establishment of separate electorates for the depressed classes. The representatives of the Untouchables and the caste Hindus had reached a point when they went to the prison tonight at which the Mahatma's advice was imperative.

WERE FLYING DISTRESS SIGNALS WHEN SIGHTED

First Two Picked Up Off Canoe Cove — Had Spent The Night In Open Boat During Wind And Rain Storm — Others Rescued Near Crapaud — Engines Failed.

(Special to the Guardian)
Two fishermen who had been in an open motor boat in the Straits all Thursday night were picked up at noon yesterday just off Canoe Cove by the Government steamer Brant on its way to Summerside from Charlottetown. Capt. Basil Kelly arrived at the Marine Wharf, Summerside, at 6:30 p. m. last evening and reported that they left Charlottetown about 10 a. m. and encountered rough weather most of the way. About noon when near Canoe Cove they sighted a fishing boat flying signals of distress. The Brant at once went to her assistance.

There were two men aboard, who stated they had left Cape Tormentine the morning before bound for Charlottetown and when in the Straits off St. Peter's Island their engine broke down and they were at the mercy of the elements, being battered about all night. A wicked storm of rain and wind was raging and the men spent a miserable night as they had no shelter of any kind. To keep from perishing the men walked about their little craft. They were indeed glad to see the Brant and to be taken aboard and given food and a change of clothes. It was decided to take them to Crapaud. Their craft was towed by the Brant's motor boat.

Another rescue

When nearing Crapaud the Brant sighted another motor boat flying distress signals. This turned out to be a local fishing boat, with two men on her. They were also taken aboard, and as the Brant could not go inside the harbour at Crapaud the four men with their boats in tow were taken by the motor boat belonging to the Brant and landed at Crapaud, not very much the worse for their adventure.

The Brant proceeded to her destination, bringing the gas buoy from Sea Cow Head to be recharged. The storm has wrought a good deal of havoc round the coast and Capt. Kelly expects to leave early this morning as there is much work to be done.

MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF LOST FLYERS

Two Skeletons And Remains Of Plane Reported Found Near Newfoundland, Thought To Be That Of Nungesser And Coli.

CURLING, Nfld., Sept. 23.—Possibility that traces of the lost French flyers Nungesser and Coli had been found on Blomidon, a mountain on the south side of the Bay of Islands, and twenty miles from here, was considered today as reports persisted that two skeletons and the remains of an aeroplane had been found.

Although it was not possible immediately to confirm the report it was recalled that on the day the French flyers were lost—May 19, 1927—a light similar to that caused by an explosion was reported seen in the vicinity of Blomidon by residents of Bay of Islands. No investigation was made at the time, however.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Official announcement was made tonight that the Prince of Wales will visit northern Ireland in November on behalf of the King to open the new Parliament building at Belfast.
