Toy Matinee At Capitol, S'side

The annual toy matinee sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Summerside was held in the Capitol Theatre on Saturday morning and over four hundred toys were received from the children who attended. The toys were later sorted out by members of the Club and yesterday afternoon were delivered to St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Protestant Orphanage to help make Christmas more real for the children in those institutions.

At both orphanages they were welcomed by those in charge and deep appreciation was expressed for the gifts received.

This is the third year that this matinee has been held on the Saturday before Christmas. Mr. Harold Gaudet, proprietor of the Capitol Theatre gives the use of the theatre free of charge and the Kinsmen Club pays for the films used.

CHRISTMAS PARTY—The Cornwall Y.P.U. held a Christmas party in the hall on Friday evening. Lively games and Christmas music by the orchestra were enjoyed before Santa distributed the gifts from the tree. These gifts were then presented to the children of the Protestant Orphanage by the members of the Cornwall Y.P.U. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies and Auld Lang Syne brought a pleasant evening to a close.

VETERANS CHRISTMAS TREE—Complete satisfaction was expressed last night for the wonderful response to the call for citizens business firms for the Christmas Tree for hospitalized war veterans. The tree, located in the department store of Moore and MacLeod Ltd., was ringed with gifts last week and parcels despatched to Island veterans in hospitals in other provinces. The hospital plants to which gifts have been sent are Christie Street Hospital, Toronto; St. Anne de Bellevue, Canada; Hilltop, Halifax; Lancaster Hospital, Saint John; and Westminster Hospital, London, Ont. It is hoped by Christmas that sufficient gifts will be available to take care of disabled veterans in local hospitals. The Christmas Tree is a combined effort by the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, the Contact Club and the Overseas Nurses Association to remember war veterans and their sacrifices in a practical way at this season of the year.

Happy Hours At Donagh

Things do happen unexpectedly, and the force of these words was amply brought out when on Thursday evening, Dec. 18th, the worthy ladies of the Donagh Women's Institute gathered at the home of Mrs. Leo Trainor, honor president, to elect a new secretary, Mrs. Patrick Trainor.

A well-worded address was read by the former vice-president, Mrs. Fred Macadam, and a magnificent gift—an Alladin lamp, the last word in beauty, thoughtfulness and generosity—was presented by the secretary, Mrs. Leo Trainor.

Mrs. Trainor, though completely taken up with the kind donors for their sentiments of gratitude and assuring them of her help in anything that would tend to uplift and further the cause of Donagh Women's Institute.

This part of the proceedings was completed by the presentation of a social game of auction while the hostess busied herself preparing a very luscious lunch.

The following ladies with the usual expressions of yuletide greetings, all set for their homes infused with a deep sense of appreciation for Mr. and Mrs. Leo Trainor and their charming daughter, Elaine, in placing their home to the convenience of the Institute members.

Funeral Yesterday Of Mr. D. B. Stewart

People from all walks of life and of all faiths gathered into St. Paul's Church yesterday afternoon, to pay their last respects to the late Mr. D. B. Stewart, for over fifty years one of the City's most prominent business men and esteemed citizens.

The funeral service which began at 2:30 was conducted by the Rev. J. T. Ibbott, pastor of St. Paul's Anglican Church, assisted by the Rev. Canon E. M. Malone, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The hymns sung were favorites of the deceased: "Now the Labourer's Task is O'er" and "Jerusalem the Golden."

The service at St. Peter's Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Ibbott.

The mourners were his two sons—sole survivors of the deceased—Kenneth B. Stewart, and Group Captain Hugh Ronald Stewart, Ottawa; Hon. W. F. A. Stewart, Hon. George D. DeBios, Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Judge H. L. Palmer, Dr. W. H. Pethick, Messrs H. M. Simpson, Noel Regan, R. L. Cotton, H. L. Starr, P. E. Priddy, J. T. Robinson, Percy Pope, S. Robison, E. S. Blanchard and A. E. Morrison.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. H. C. Bourke, J. E. Harris, H. G. Miller, E. D. Nicholson, E. MacNutt, and W. E. Massey.

Union Commercial College Closes For Christmas Holidays

Classes at the Union Commercial College closed for the Christmas holidays yesterday afternoon, December 19, and will re-open on January 5 with newly decorated rooms, fluorescent lighting, and other improvements.

The Union Commercial College is pleased to announce that it will have on the staff, and in charge of the Typewriting Department, Miss Anna Pratt, of St. Peter's, Prince Edward Island. Miss Pratt is a professionally-trained experienced teacher, and has had several years experience in stenographic work in this subject. She is exceptionally well fitted to teach commercial typewriting.

The following day students have successfully completed the work prescribed during the period of their training:

Stenographic: Harold Bernard, Lorraine Buote, Jean Carr, Patricia Clark, Thelma Coles, Joyce Colwell, Yvonne Ferguson, Olga Forsythe, Jean James, Colin King, Gloria Large, Julia MacDonald (Mrs. Elizabeth MacDougal), Dorothy MacEachern, Mary MacLeod, Mary Mayhew, Anna Murchison, Ethel Nicholson, Joan Snazelle, Florine Thomas, Florence Willist, Commercial: Emery Bruce, John Caswell, James Cummings, Marjorie MacCoubrey, Vendell MacCoubrey, Donald MacLeod, E. L. Mountain, Eldon Stewart.

The new fluorescent lighting will be of special benefit to those students enrolled in night school. Night school will also re-open on January 5 and new students are invited to enroll.

The following students have successfully completed the fall term in night school:

Bookkeeping and Typewriting: Alice Campbell, Rita MacInnis, Lillian Myers, Isabel Shephard, Margaret Young.

Typewriting: Mabel Auld, Winifred Haslem, Irene O'Brien, Jean O'Brien.

Bookkeeping: Walter Jay, Nell McNeill, Louise McEwan, George Rogers.

Bookkeeping and Typewriting: Marion Arsenault, Mary MacDonell, Wallace MacDonell, Edith MacLeod, Louis Monaghan, Gerald Murrigh, Mary Reeves, Hope Sewell (Mrs. Patrick White).

The following, due to late enrolment, or for other causes, have partially completed the fall term of the clerical subjects: Ernest Arsenault, Rita Cullen, Mabel Cummings, Fred Dalziel, Frances Hennessey, Milly MacInnis, Clive MacInnis, Patricia White.

For Larger Quota

The Prince member, in asking for a larger quota of reefer cars than usual, told transport and railway authorities that the harvest season had been somewhat later than average and that it was not only desirable but essential that shipments be handled as rapidly as possible.

Only a few members from the Maritimes were to be found around the Parliament buildings this week-end, those from the West and Central Provinces having taken night trains out of the capital immediately after adjournment of the House for the Christmas recess. Those winding up sessional business in addition to Mr. MacNaught were W. Chester S. McLure, Progressive Conservative M.P. for Queen's, who is leaving Ottawa to visit his daughter, Miss Lena McLure in Toronto; Major Loren Baker, Liberal member for Yarmouth-Sheburne-Clear who had to wait until this morning to make boat connections for Digby, N.S., and Matthew MacLean, Liberal member for Cape Breton-North Victoria who told this correspondent on Saturday that he wasn't leaving "until he had wished Mr. John Bracken a merry Christmas."

Former C. N. T. Official Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP)—George W. Hogarth, 87, former commercial superintendent of the Canadian National Telegraphs, died Sunday at his home here after an illness of two weeks. He had been in the railway's telegraph service in Toronto for more than 53 years before his retirement.

As supervisor of Commercial Telegraph Service he was well known to commercial, financial and newspaper men, especially sports reporters and was a regular attendant at sports events.

His wife died four years ago. He is survived by three sons, George, Lyman and Gordon, who is director of the Ontario Government's Public Information Division, and three daughters, Hazel, Constance and Dorothy.
