Local Golfer Shows Well In Qualifying Golf Round

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 17 — (CP)—Dr. E. O. Turner, veteran golfer from Fredericton, led the field today with a seven-above-par 77 in the qualifying round of the Maritime Golf Tournament. Competitors from the three provinces qualified for the championship division of 16 players. Weather conditions were conducive to high scores.

The 77 of Dr. Turner, who won the New Brunswick senior title earlier this month, was three better than the card of his nearest rival, Billy Beer, 17-year-old junior from Charlottetown. Next, with 81 each, were C.M. (Gint) Cain, Yarmouth, N.S., a former Maritime Champion, and Sub.-Lt. J.A. Hogan, Saint John, formerly of Jasper, Alta., and once Canadian Junior Champion. Hogan won the New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island title last month.

Roy Morrison, Yarmouth, and T. R. Walsh, Halifax, carded 82's. In a five-way tie with 85 each were Pete Kelly, Charlottetown, former Maritime champion; H.S. Gregory, Saint John; John Wolstenholme, Moncton; J.W. Sears, Fredericton, and F.N. Colwell, Woodstock.

The remaining five qualifiers were R.J. Foote, Saint John, 86; R. T. Holman, Charlottetown, 86; J. J. Mahar, Charlottetown, 86; Rev. J. W. Holland, Saint John, 87; and John Buckley, Halifax, 87. K. Ross, Halifax, also shot an 87 but was eliminated from the championship division in a one-hold playoff with Father Holland and Buckley.

Match play will begin tomorrow, with the semi-finals slated for Wednesday morning and final Wednesday afternoon. Six professionals will start a 72-hole competition tomorrow.

Today's scores included:

E. C. Wilson, Yarmouth, 98; F. Tregunno, Halifax, 106; J. W. Anderson, Halifax, 96; W. E Coolen, Halifax, 94; S. B. Goodman, Dartmouth, 90; G D. Raymond, Yarmouth, 90; B. Beil, Halifax, 92; Rev. H.R. Pike, Halifax, 97; J.T. Wade, Halifax, 96; T. Lagan, Halifax, 111; C.C. Wilks, Halifax, 113; L.H. Norman, Halifax, 89; H.G. Beasley, Dartmouth, 92; Dr. L. M. Morton, Yarmouth, 88.

Charlottetown led the team scoring with a total of 337, comprising Kelly 85, Mahar 86, Beer 80, and Holman 86. Yarmouth was second as follows: Raymond 90, Morrison 82, Morton 88, Cain 81, total 341. The Halifax Ashburn Club, with 355, was third; Buckley 87, Norman 89, Walsh 82, Pike 97. All four entrants from Prince Edward Island made the championship division.

19-year old Tiger rookie Sensational

DETROIT, Aug. 17—(AP)—Johnny Lipon, 19-year-old Detroit youngster, has played only one major league baseball game, but already the critics are calling the date of that one game—Sunday, Aug. 16, 1942—"the day a star was born."

Manager Del Baker of the Detroit Tigers smiled as he walked to the dressing room after Sunday's tag end of a doubleheader against the Chicago White Sox in which Lipon made his major league debut, and remarked that the Tiger shortstop job is his until somebody takes it away from him.

There was hardly anyone who would say "wait a year or so" about the kid from the Detroit sand lots, who fielded faultlessly in six chances Sunday, two of them little short of sensational. He got three singles in four trips to the plate, driving in one run.

The sports writers took a long range view.

"It was not just what he did," said H. G. Salsinger, sports editor of the Detroit News. "It was the way he did it that stamped him as a natural ball player. If ever a fellow had a right to be nervous, he did, but he fielded and batted as if he had been around for years."

Lipon is the third Detroit youngster to win a regular position with the Tigers. Barney McCoskey, in left field, and Hal Newhouser, best of Detroit's southpaw pitchers, also graduated from the Detroit sandlots.

Lipon started in organized baseball with the Detroit Tiger farm at Muskegon in the Michigan State League last season, and played this season with Beaumont in the Texas League.

Henrich takes Coast Guard Physical exam

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17—(AP)—Tommy Henrich took his Coast Guard physical examination today, but it will be at least several days before the New York Yankees' outfielder is sworn in as a first class petty officer.

Attaches at Coast Guard headquarters here said some matters must be ironed out with Henrich's Massillon (O.) draft board, which recently classified him 1-A and told the baseball star to return in a few days.

In Philadelphia, where the Yankees played the Athletics today, Mark Roth, secretary of the world champions, announced that outfielder George (Tuck) Steinback had been recalled from the club's Newark farm to replace Henrich.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—(AP)—With the bases loaded and two men out in the last half of the ninth inning, Babe Barna cracked a single into right field today to give New York Giants a 3-2 decision over Boston Braves and increase their winning streak to five games.

The victim of Barna's game-winning blow was Johnny Sain, who replaced starter Lou Tost after the Giants tied the score in the eighth on Babe Young's seventh homer.

Cards Win Playoff

At St. Louis, the Cardinals, busily engaged in playing hound to Brooklyn Dodgers' fleet hare chopped half a game off the idle Bums' lead by taking the Cincinnati Reds 5-2 in the playoff of a postponed contest. The victory left the Cards 7 1-2 games behind the Dodgers.

A 15-foot putt that stopped six inches short of the cup almost cost Sam Snead, Shawnee-on-Delaware professional golfer, $1 000 and the Canadian Open Golf championship at Toronto two years ago today. The extra putt left Snead deadlocked with Jug McSpaden, Winchester, Pa., the defending champion. Snead won the playoff 71-72.

No Indication U-Boat Crews Land In East

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 — U-boat crews might land on the shores of the River St. Lawrence or on the Atlantic Coast for sabotage as they did on Long Island and in Florida, but they would land for no other purpose, Navy Minister Angus L. MacDonald, home from an inspection of men and works in Nova Scotia, insisted at a press conference

"There is no information whatever," said Mr. MacDonald, "Either from our own men or from the R.C.M.P., or from the Quebec police, to show that crews from German submarines have landed in Gaspe or any other part of the St Lawrence lower basin, either for refuelling or securing provisions, and why should they want to do it just for a lark?"

Canada's naval forces on the other hand, have been doing excellent work in recent weeks in the Battle of the Atlantic, the Navy Minister said, and he referred to a recent message from the First Lord of the Admiralty paying high tribute to their services Mr. MacDonald even ventured that the British guess of 40 U-boats accounted for by the Canadians was probably too low.

Turning to expansion of naval facilities in Nova Scotia Mr. Macdonald stated that at one port accommodation and training for 5,000 had been established, including training facilities for officers. At another port buildings were being erected that would, by December, provide facilities for training 2,000 new entries into the naval force, and which, when completed, would have accommodation for 6,000 men Physical and technical training would be combined at this point, as well as gunnery and anti-submarine work.

At still another Nova Scotia port the business of expansion was making rapid headway. At this point large buildings were being put up to take care of about 1,000 officers and men. This was to be developed as an operational, rather than a training area. Important equipment was also being provided at a number of smaller ports.

40,000 NOW IN NAVY

The total naval strength was now about 40,000 officers and men, the Navy Minister told the press, and recruits were coming in at the rate of 1,000 a month. The waiting list, which at one time was about 12,000, had been reduced to 5,000, and out of these probably a small percentage would finally be found suitable for naval service.

Canada's Navy today consisted of nearly 500 ships of all kinds and another 40 would be completed this year. Another 60 were being built for the Canadian Navy and about 100 of all kinds are being built for the United Kingdom. It was explained later that some of the latter would be made available to the United States for the joint work of defending certain Atlantic waters.

Mr. MacDonald said that so far as trans-Atlantic convoy work was concerned, Canada, Britain and the United States were dividing the work almost equally, while Canada was sending its ships as far south as the Caribbean Sea for protective purposes.

The Royal Roads Naval College at Esquimalt, Mr. MacDonald announced, would probably be opened on October 21, which is Trafalgar Day. The training of the Wrens would begin in Ottawa about the beginning of September. Prospective officers would be trained here in the O'Brien House on Laurier avenue, where about ?0 would be trained to become first class officers When this force is completed it will number several thousands, to be used largely to release men already in the naval forces from such work as clerks, drivers, and coders.

Mr. MacDonald then gave to the press three or four reasons why it was necessary to at least delay the announcement of U-boat successes in Canadian waters, and he stated that hereafter all announcements as to loss or damage to Canadian mercantile or naval vessels inflicted by the enemy would be made by himself, who would decide the suitable time for such announcements.

It was emphasized by the Navy Minister that the U-boats now operating in the Atlantic had a cruising range of at least 15 000 miles, which meant they could remain away from home for as long as six weeks or even two months, without refuelling or re-provisioning and that it was important not to furnish Germany with information about the location and successes of the submarines, which the U-boats, for purposes of security, might not be able to signal themselves

MANY SAILORS RESCUED

GLACE BAY, N. S., Aug. 17—(CP) — An investigation into the nine-day tie-up of two government-operated collieries at Inverness was asked of Nova Scotia Mines Minister L. D Currie tonight by P. G. Muise, district vice-president of the United mine workers of America.

AN AMERICAN BOMBER STATION IN BRITAIN, Aug. 17 — (AP) — Young American flying fortress crews led by Brig.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker bombed Rouen in France today in the first all-United States bombing blow at the German-held continent, without loss of a single plane.

The high-level precision attack on the ancient capital of Normandy on the Seine 87 miles northwest of Paris "left a great pall of smoke and sand over the railroad yards," Gen. Eaker, chief of the United States air force bomber command, said.

Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the United States army air forces in the European theatre, was awaiting the return of Eaker and his airmen at the field.

"This marks the real start of an ever-increasing American bombing offensive," Spaatz declared.

Bicycle Stealing Latest Trouble In Great Britain

BY ALFRED WALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 17 —(AP)—It was all very well for George Bernard Shaw to write, once upon a time, that a man on a bicycle was "the most ridiculous sight in the world," but in these war times the bike is no joke in England.

The country swarms with them. Best estimate is that there are 12,000,000 bicycles being pedaled in Britain today. That is better than one to every four persons.

And now, as if with the war, the gasoline and rubber shortage and what not, the populace hasn't enough worries, forsooth a wave of bicycle stealing is sweeping the country.

Most of the bikes stolen are merely "borrowed". The miscreants abandon them when they get to where they want to go.

It got so bad that many a wrathful Briton has written vehemently to the Times about it and Sir William Davison, Conservative member of Parliament for exclusive Kensington, has asked Home Secretary Herbert Morrison why the dickens the government doesn't do something about licensing and registering bicycles, to aid the Police in tracking them down.

The question is likely to cause no little controversy.

For years and yet more years the individualistic populace of Britain has insisted that among their other inalienable rights is that of a man, woman or child to own and operate a bicycle in complete freedom from taxation and registration.

Government after government has refused to tax the bikes.

The storm of rage against bicycle stealing brought a letter to the Times telling how one youthful culprit made an extensive tour of the whole British Isles, stealing bikes as he went, occasionally selling one for a pound or two. It wasn't until he had stolen more than 100 that "an observant detective officer at Northampton arrested him on suspicion and brought his nefarious career to an end."

The Times thundered a scathing editorial agreement that bicycle stealing was "the meanest and most contemptible of thefts" because "lack of transport and rationing of petrol have today made the bicycle the most precious possession of many working men and women —one without which they often would find it difficult, sometimes even impossible, to carry on."

Hepburn Mellows

NOW NOT SO SURE WHAT PARTY IS RIGHT

Nine years as Ontario's Premier has caused Mitchell F. Hepburn to "wonder" about politics, it was learned in an interview with the Premier.

Celebrating his 46th birthday and his ninth anniversary as Premier Mr. Hepburn said he became "more tolerant in regard to the attitude of others on domestic problems" as he grew older.

"Sometimes I wonder which political camp is right," he said. "But there is one thing we can all agree on and that is that only by total war effort can we survive."

In the early days of the war he had been "branded as a scaremonger."

"I have never altered my course," he said. "I still hold to the view that only by creating the will to win on the part of all people can this civilization of ours survive."

During his nine years in office he had gone through the dark days of depression and today entered the darkest hours of the British Empire.

"I have been the object of severe. . . .criticism. But I have pursued a consistent course in tax policy to ease the burden of the masses of the people."

Looking to the future, Mr. Hepburn said: "So far as the future is concerned, I would just as soon venture an opinion on the hereafter as to prognosticate on the immediate happenings of world events."

What about provincial matters? "Provincial politics have been relegated to a very secondary position—and rightly so."
