

ARRANGEMENTS TO REMOVE KING'S BODY

Suspension of Street Traffic--King George Working Hard--The Duke of Connaught For Governor.

Special to The Guardian.

LONDON, May 13--Sir Edward Morris declares there is a great fortune in the Newfoundland fisheries for who ever establishes a system of cold storage between the Ancient Colony and the United States.

Hon. Sidney Fisher expressed the opinion that while some Canadians might fear a Royal Prince would not be a success as Governor General because he might be less approachable than is desirable in a democratic country, yet the Duke of Connaught has shown himself very accessible when in Canada and such an appointment certainly would be flattering to Canadian pride.

The pier bearing King Edward's body leaves Westminster Hall for Paddington about ten o'clock on Friday by which time the funeral procession will have been at least a half an hour on the way.

All car traffic ceases for fifteen minutes while the funeral is passing. Extraordinary prices are being paid for choice positions to see the King's funeral.

Five hundred dollars is a common price, while one householder has been offered thirty-five thousand dollars for the entire front of his house which offer has been declined.

It is stated here that the names of the persons negotiating for the purchase of the Dominion Atlantic cannot be divulged, but that the syndicate is largely composed of Londoners and that the shareholders are favorable.

interview with John Burns, President of the Local Government Board. The afternoon he spent with the Queen Mother, and in the evening he went to the station to meet and escort the King of Denmark to Buckingham Palace.

ROOSEVELT TO MEET KING.

Ex-President Roosevelt who has been named as special envoy of the United States to attend the funeral of the late King will be presented to King George soon after his arrival in London on Monday.

This has been arranged in conformity with the wish of the King, as expressed by Whitehall Road, the American Ambassador will occupy a place with the visiting Monarchs in the funeral procession, and will also attend the burial at Windsor.

THE FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The lying-in-state involves a great addition to the worth of arranging the programme for the funeral, all the details of which will hardly be completed before Sunday. The procession to Westminster Hall on Tuesday for the lying-in-state will be almost as great as the funeral procession. The cortege will include King George, and all the foreign Sovereigns on horse back and the Queen Mother and the Royal ladies in carriages. The body will be received by the members of the House of Lords and the House of Commons, while the choir of Westminster Abbey and the Chapel Royal and the Band of the Coldstream Guards will take part in the musical services.

When the funeral procession starts on Friday, every train car in London will come to a standstill for a number of hours. It is also proposed that all the public houses in London should be closed while the procession is passing.

QUEEN MOTHER BUSY.

The Queen Mother herself has been exceedingly busy since the death of the King. She has received a great number of visitors who have been privileged to enter the death chamber. These included besides most of the members of the Cabinet and the leaders of the Opposition, many Members and other officials connected with the Court, and prominent men who were intimate friends of Edward VII.

KING A HARD WORKER

LONDON, May 12--From a life of comparative ease and retirement King George suddenly finds himself on the hardest work of his life in the Kingdom. In addition to spending considerable time daily at Buckingham Palace, comforting his widowed mother, he has to attend to multifarious duties, with receiving and entertaining the Royal guests and arranging the difficult details of lying-in-state and the funeral.

MILITIA TO RENEW OATH OF FEALTY

OTTAWA, May 12--A militia order issued today contains the formal proclamation respecting the requirements for the renewal of the oath of fealty to the crown consequent upon the accession of King George V.

It is ordered that the proclamation be read at the head of all units of the permanent force at a parade to be held for the purpose, every available officer and man being present, and to all regiments, battalions and corps of active militia at the earliest opportunity of ordering a parade for this purpose. In cities where more than one corps is located a garrison parade will be held and the proclamation read by the officer commanding the command or district or by the senior officer. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the troops will give a royal salute and three cheers for the King.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

STAINS.

The three ghosts on the lonesome road
Spoke each to one another,
"Whence came that stain about your mouth
No lifted hand may cover?"
"From eating of forbidden fruit,
Brother, my brother."

The three ghosts on the sunless road
Spoke each to one another,
"Whence came that red burn on your foot
No dust nor ash may cover?"
"I stamped a neighbour's hearth-flame out,
Brother, my brother."

The three ghosts on the windless road
Spoke each to one another,
"Whence came that blood upon your hand
No other hand may cover?"
"From breaking of a woman's heart,
Brother, my brother."

"Yet on the earth clean men we walk,
Glutton and Thief and Lovers;
White flesh and fair-fair hid our stains
The no man might discover."
"Naked the soul goes up to God,
Brother, my brother."

A BODY FOUND

By telephone from Murray River last night it was learned that a report affirms that the body of a man supposed to be that of L. R. McLaren, Moncton, who was drowned early this spring while driving on the ice had been found on the shore of the river about fifty feet below the scene of the accident.

The discovery is said to have been made by two young men who were walking along the river while going from Gladstone to Murray River.

Owing to it being impossible to obtain telephone connection with Murray River a report was received by the telephone office that it, or if true, to obtain further particulars of the occurrence.

BALLOON UPSET AND AERONAUTS FATALLY HURT

GLASGOW, Ky., May 12--Bearing numerous cuts and bruises and possibly internal injuries and with only occasional periods of consciousness, Holland Forbes, of New York, holder of the Lutz trophy, and J. C. Yates, a New York astronomer who accompanied him in a flight against the balloon record distance are lying in a farm house six miles north of Centre, which is about 20 miles from this city. The balloon Viking, with which they ascended at Quincy, Ill., is a mass of tangled silk and cord, torn beyond repair.

During the intervals when the aeronauts were partially conscious, neither of them could explain the accident yesterday, but it is believed that escaping gas from the big bag caused them to lose control of the Viking and that the gas escaped until a drop followed. The balloon was first sighted south of Centre about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Those who saw it could discern no passengers and suspected that something was wrong. It was going at the rate of about five miles an hour. As it moved over Centre and to the northward it appeared to be settling toward the ground, when suddenly the bag collapsed and the dash to the earth followed.

Farmers soon reached the spot where the balloon had fallen in a field. They freed the two apparently dead men and carried them to the nearest farmhouse, where restoratives were administered. It was not until several hours later that Forbes showed signs of returning consciousness and he rallied only a few minutes at a time. He seemed to have no knowledge of what happened.

Yates has roused for a few moments, but like Forbes was unable to give any details.

CENTRE, Ky., May 12--Holland Forbes, the New York aeronaut, and J. C. Yates, the New York astronomer, who were injured in their balloon near here, to-day reported alive, but both unconscious. They are at a little hamlet about ten miles from here. It is not known whether they will recover.

GLASGOW, Ky., May 12--Physicians in attendance upon A. Holland Forbes and J. C. Yates, who were injured in a balloon accident near Centre, Kentucky, returned this morning from a call to Centre and reported that Forbes injuries are not serious and that while they are uncertain about Yates injuries, they believe there is a chance for his recovery. Both men are conscious only at intervals. Forbes during consciousness made disconnected statements, declaring that the balloon had passed over portions of Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky. He said they were over Illinois yesterday morning. He failed to say what happened to the balloon but an inherent statement about a leakage of gas furnished a plausible clue. His statements about the gas caused some of the country people to declare that the aeronauts had been overcome by escaping gas from the balloon but the supposition was hardly borne out by anything Mr. Forbes said. What appears certain is that the control of the balloon was lost in some manner and that it descended until its buoyancy was so far spent that a gust of wind or sudden loss of gas sent it forward with great force.

WORCESTER BANK CASHIER, WHO STOLE $600,000, INDICTED

WORCESTER, Mass., May 12--John A. Hall, former treasurer of the Southbridge Savings Bank, was today indicted by the Worcester county grand jury on fifteen counts charging him with the larceny of $600,000 of the bank's funds. Hall, who has been in jail awaiting trial much of the time since last January when he surrendered himself, following the discovery of the shortage in the bank's accounts, did not plead to the indictment today.

Although the counts of the indictment aggregate only $60,000 as the amount for which Hall is responsible, expert accountants who have gone over the former treasurer's books in the Southbridge Savings Bank have reported a shortage exceeding $600,000.

THE BEST WORK IN THE WORLD.

"Do you ever get discouraged in your work?" asked one Sunday School teacher of another.

"No," was the prompt reply. "I often get disappointed, bitterly disappointed, but I do not get discouraged. I know that as a whole it is doing an untold amount of good. I consider that the best work in the world."

"There is no other right and comfortable way for the Sunday School teacher to look at his work. The reasons for any other attitude are on the surface and temporary. The reasons for encouragement and enthusiasm are deep and permanent."

RIVAL LINES WILL COMPETE FOR CONTROL

For Atlantic Mail Service in 1912--New Empresses For The C. P. R. EAGER COMPETITORS

Special to The Guardian.

MONTREAL, May 13--It is expected that when tenders are again called for the Atlantic mail service four strong competitors will be in the field.

The determination of the Allan Line to construct two fast steamers intimates a desire to again control the contract now shared with the Canadian Pacific.

The latter company will also have two new Empresses float before the tenders are called and it is known that the Canadian Northern, the White Star and Dominion Lines will also make an effort to secure the contract.

The present contract expires in 1912.

S. S. STANLEY TO BE SENT TO HUDSON BAY NEXT MONTH

ST. JOHN, May 12--The government steamer Stanley, now stationed in the Bay of Fundy, will spend part of June and July in Hudson Bay. She has been ordered to leave there for Halifax early next month, and will proceed from there to Hudson Bay with a surveying party. Her trip will occupy six weeks. On completion of it she will return to July here. Since being assigned to this station the Stanley has been of valuable service as the slower Lansdowne is not fitted for every variety of work. She will be adapted for a trip north, and will also be a very comfortable means of transportation for the surveying party, as she is finely fitted up for the accommodation of passengers.

RICH PITTSBURGER PAYS NEW YORK GIRL LARGE SUM

PITTSBURG, May 12--William C. Eck, a rich Pittsburgh trunk manufacturer, has just settled handsomely with Miss Florence Ahearn of New York city, who sued him for breach of promise.

In spite of efforts to keep the matter quiet, it is causing wide discussion in social circles, where Mr. Eck was well known and Miss Ahearn slightly. The suit, asking for heavy damages, was filed early last week by William A. Howley, Pittsburgh attorney for Miss Ahearn, who is said to be the daughter of Joseph Ahearn of New York.

"Mr. Eck and Miss Ahearn have settled their troubles between themselves and the breach of promise suit will not be pushed," said attorney Howley, who acted as Miss Ahearn's counsel tonight. "Although I have been her attorney, I don't know what was the basis of settlement. Some days ago she told me she had herself settled with Mr. Eck, and asked me to make out a statement of full release for Eck, which I did."

She is said to have met Eck while on a visit to Pittsburgh three years ago. They were to have been married this spring. Two weeks since, Miss Ahearn entered a large downtown hotel dining-room to find her intended in conversation with another woman. She accosted Eck, who, hardly recognizing her, said he was engaged to his present. There was a scene and within a few days a suit was filed.

THE DEAD SEA

I looked upon a sea,
And lo! 'twas dead.
Altho' by Hermon's snows
And Jordan fed.

How came so dire a fate?
The tale's soon told:
All that it got it kept,
And fast did hold.

All tributary streams
Found here their grave.

Because this sea received
But never gave.

O Sea that's dead! teach me
To know and feel
That selfish grasp and greed
My doom will seal.

And Lord, help my best,
Myself, to give,
That I may others bless
And like Thee live.

IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN CHARLOTTETOWN

A Splendid Group of Fifty English Immigrants Welcomed Here Last Night--Their Reception A Hearty One.

Long before the arrival of the good steamer Northumberland last evening citizens began to gather on Navigation wharf, their object being to get a glimpse of the emigrants sent out to this province from the Motherland, and to welcome them to the land of their adoption.

They were welcomed right royally although without any great show of demonstration.

The wharf was crowded, as it had been on the three previous nights, and England's sons, many of them with wives and children, were received with hearty cheers and a tiger, proposed by John T. McKenzie City.

On board the boat the party evidenced much interest in their reception and before landing three cheers were proposed for the officials of the Government on board, another three for the officers of the Northumberland and still another for the people of Prince Edward Island and the reception accorded all of which were justly given.

And Lang Syne, sung by all on board just before landing, brought tears to the eyes of many of the party.

Speaking to a representative of The Guardian, a member of the party, referring to the trip across, said it was not by any means an ideal pleasure trip, and every emigrant was glad it was over. Of the Northumberland and her officers, they spoke highly and were delighted with that part of their voyage. They were altogether taken by surprise in the manner they were welcomed to P. E. Island shores. "Nothing of the sort was expected and we feel that we are among friends," said one.

Being asked when they first heard of the death of King Edward VII the speaker said the news was first received from the pilot who docked the Carthagenian in St. John's Nfld.

Those from this city who met the party in Pictou were Hon. John Richards, Captain William Richards, Capt. McLean and the officers and crew of the Northumberland. Kindnesses shown and for the happy welcome extended to Prince Edward Island. Mr. Holloway spoke highly of the kindness of Mr. Winfield, who was ever solicitous on their behalf during their voyage over. He said they came over to say out the land with a view to settling in the future and said they were to report back to England and if they could do so favorably a large number would come later.

Mr. Holloway, for the emigrants, moved a vote of thanks to Hon. John Richards, Captain William Richards, Capt. McLean and the officers and crew of the Northumberland. Kindnesses shown and for the happy welcome extended to Prince Edward Island. Mr. Holloway spoke highly of the kindness of Mr. Winfield, who was ever solicitous on their behalf during their voyage over. He said they came over to say out the land with a view to settling in the future and said they were to report back to England and if they could do so favorably a large number would come later.

Hon. John Richards replied to Mr. Holloway and extended a hearty welcome to the party to P. E. I.

The party will meet this morning at eleven o'clock in the Provincial Building, where they will be addressed by His Honor Lieutenant Governor McKinnon, and Premier Haszard and others.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE TRIED FOR MURDER.

NEW YORK, May 12--Maurice M. Lustig, a private detective, was brought before a jury in the court of general sessions today, to be tried for his life.

Lustig's wife died on October 28 last and the body was taken to Millroy, Penn., for burial.

A short time after the funeral the coroner received an anonymous letter which aroused his suspicions.

The body was exhumed and the contents of the stomach were analyzed by chemists. The prosecution contends that this analysis disclosed the presence of strychnine in the stomach.

In opening, Assistant district attorney Knott said he would show that the night before his wife became ill Lustig tried to purchase strychnine tablets from a drugstore. He said that Lustig had his wife's life insured for $3000 last June and contends that Lustig committed the crime to obtain the money.
