He Was Afraid To Cross A Street

Lost His Nerve After 12 Months' Agony

Suffering from acute rheumatism in both knees joints treated in hospital two weeks ago, result—so unnerved that he was afraid to cross a street—how readily every rheumatic sufferer will sympathize with this man. Read what he says: "For 12 months, I suffered pain and misery with acute rheumatism in both my knees. Twice, I was treated in hospital—but it was no use. I could not walk up or down stairs. I was afraid to cross the street, for I had lost all confidence in myself. Fourteen days ago, I started taking Kruchen Salts, and already I am a new man. I can walk with a smart step, go up and downstairs with ease, and cross the street with complete confidence. My rheumatism is getting better every day."—D.L.

In a good many cases, rheumatism cannot resist the action of Kruchen Salts, which dissolve the painful uric acid, and often the cause of those aches and pains—and assist the kidneys to eliminate this poison through the natural channels.

Union Heads Deny Success Of Plant Reopening

MONTREAL, Aug. 19.—(CP)—While company heads expressed satisfaction, union leaders tonight branded reopening of three of Dominion Textile Company's four Montreal plants as "all a show." "Not more than 50 men entered the plants, and they rotated from plant to plant to fool the public," declared Alfred Carpentier, head of National Catholic syndicates which drew 10,000 men and women from nine Quebec plants of the huge textile company 18 days ago.

Satisfaction at reopening of the three mills was expressed by G. Blair Gordon, managing director of the company which supplies Canada with the bulk of its textile needs. "About 500 employees have gone back to work," he said. "With only minor disorders, more than 200 police, on foot, on motorcycles and in squad cars, escorted workers through milling crowds of pickets to reopen the three plants within three hours last night." About a dozen strikers were arrested, all on minor charges. Three were taken into custody outside the Cote St. Paul plant where an estimated 100 men were escorted through a barrage of bricks, bottles and vegetables from strikers adjoining in union headquarters.

A police charge cleared out the union men after a brief scuffle in which one policeman suffered a cut hand and another was struck in the stomach by a rock. Dozens of plant windows were smashed. Within two hours, police had escorted workers into two other plants in St. Henri ward without trouble, though hundreds of strikers milled about the narrow lanes and streets leading to the mills. "We have made a start," said Gordon, who declared it only a matter of instilling confidence in the remaining strikers before the walkout is broken completely. It would probably be two or three days until majority of workers feel safe to return, the company head said.

Other plants of the company, spread through five cities and towns of Quebec, would not be reopened until working operations were well established in the four Montreal mills, which employ about 3,000 of the company's 10,000 men and women workers. Carpentier reiterated the union's determination to hold out indefinitely for a collective labor agreement, shorter hours or higher pay and better working conditions. "Union ranks still are solid—the company is not operating—today's attempts at operating were all a show to mislead the public," he declared.

Portugal Blames Third Party

Portuguese-Czechoslovakian diplomatic rupture to prevent the argument of an arms shipment from aiding further fuel to the troubled European scene. The dispatch added that London is understood to attach less importance to the actual differences between Lisbon and Praha than to repercussions they might provoke among powers sympathetic to either government.

"There were general fears," it was noted with regret, for instance that the German press immediately denounced Lisbon's cause and used the severance of diplomatic relations with Praha to renew its attack against the Soviet union.

"Whitehall (the British foreign office) is also concerned, it was said, lest Portugal's move on the other side before the 27-member 'Band of Spain' committee, by virtue of its connection with the non-intervention question, such a step would, it was pointed out, not only bring Italy and the Soviet union into further dispute, and probably hostile positions.

ASK NEAR LUXURY FOR SAILING MEN LONDON, Aug. 19.—(CP)—It looks like frills for the life on the ocean wave for thousands of seamen of the British Mercantile Marine. Suggestions for cleaning up the slums of the sea are before the Board of Trade for adoption. A wreck commission investigating the loss of 26 lives on the S. S. Blangowrie in an Atlantic storm in February, 1935, started the ball rolling when they found "as to the whole question of securing safety of seagoing ships and their crews we feel that existing provisions fall far short of what is necessary."

Following the commission's report the merchant shipping advisory committee set out to determine sailor's living conditions by basing a report on the standard of "comfort" rather than strictly hygiene.

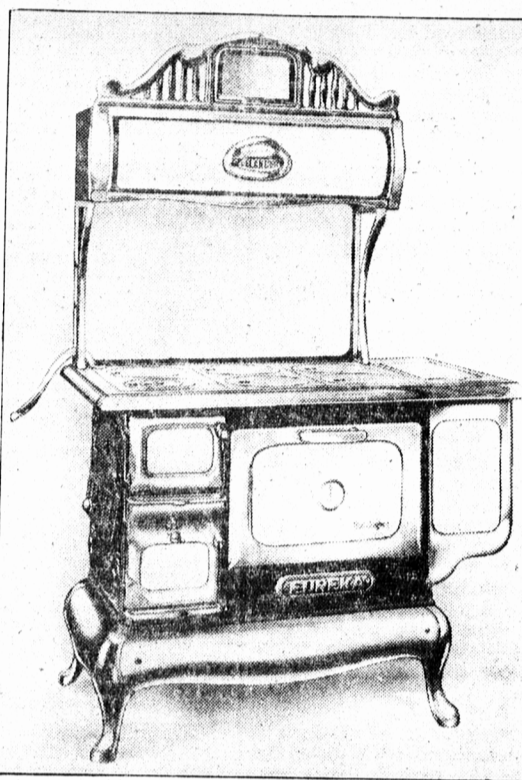

The proposals include: No accommodation to be forward or below the load water line; cabins to be seven feet six inches high; sailors and firemen to have separate sleeping rooms for each watch; wash-rooms with hot water for use in baths of showers and recreation space on deck to be compulsory.

W. R. Spence, general secretary of the National Union of Seamen, declared the new regulations were revolutionary in character and marked a great advance in providing decided comfort, if not luxury, for seagoing crews.

Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden led the Swedish Contingent in the March Past, and Prince Emanuel of Liechtenstein led the Liechtenstein Contingent. After the March Past 28,000 Scouts took part in a great "Rush" to greet Her Majesty. Her Majesty then rose and addressed the Scouts in English: "Scouts young and old—Scouts from all countries. By welcoming you all to my Kingdom I would like you to know how very much I appreciate and am interested in your Movement. "It is a satisfaction for me to see that, after years of fruitful endeavour, this fine organization has grown into a world Movement which includes boys of all classes, of all nations, and prepares them to be good citizens and good men. Scout News and Notices

25,000 cheering scouts and 50,000 people welcomed H. M. Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, and the Chief Scout of the World, Lord Baden-Powell, at the opening of the Fifth World Jamboree at Volgenang, Bloemendaal, Holland, on Saturday 31st July. With the Queen were many foreign diplomats and members of the government.

At half-past one the 25,000 Scouts from 32 countries of the world began to assemble behind the stands round the huge arena. Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina arrived at 2 o'clock, and the Dutch Royal Standard was hoisted, while the bands played the "Wilhelmus." On the dais, accompanying the Queen, were the Chief Scout and Chief Guide.

3,000 Dutch Scouts, assembled in a V formation in the arena, sang the Dutch Boy Scouts' song, "Hoot zee het voort" (Listen and tell it to other people!) and "Boys will be Boys."

Seventy-five Girl Guides led the nations in the March Past. Following these, in alphabetical order, were Scouts from America, Armenia, Austria, Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Estonia, the British Empire, France, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Iran, Iceland, Japan, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Mexico, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Russian Scouts' National Association, Siam, Sweden, Switzerland, Yugoslavia, with Holland (the host country) following in the rear.

Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden led the Swedish Contingent in the March Past, and Prince Emanuel of Liechtenstein led the Liechtenstein Contingent. After the March Past 28,000 Scouts took part in a great "Rush" to greet Her Majesty. Her Majesty then rose and addressed the Scouts in English: "Scouts young and old—Scouts from all countries. son Charlottetown who spoke on Red Cross a subject which he is evidently well acquainted with and altogether condensed an account of the limited time at his disposal was delivered to show the many splendid things this Society is doing. It was strongly felt that had it been customary to take up a collection at these meetings it would have had a large response after hearing this splendid address of Dr. Johnson. The second speaker was Dr. J. Whitfield Larabee, who is home visiting friends and relatives at Eldon. His subject was on Preventive Medicine and was followed by an address by Dr. Goddard of Connecticut U. S. A. who is on his first visit to P. E. I. in company with Dr. Larabee. Keeping who told of his trip to the Coronation and was very much enjoyed by all present. His description of the Queen Mary was particularly interesting to those who are fond of the sea and which was many in the audience. The last speaker was Red Wallace Wadland who spoke on the "Origin of the Women's Institute Movement at Soney Creek Ontario". This address was particularly interesting to Institute members as he gave his impressions of the Women's Institute as (a) a child in the home (b) a pupil in the school and (c) as a man seeing the vast amount of work done by the Women's Institute from Coast to Coast.

Rev. W. B. MacPhail was listed also as a speaker for the evening but when called upon asked to be excused on account of the lateness of the hour and the very warm evening.

In releasing him from his engagement the President said that the Convention would hold him in reserve for a later date. A few remarks followed by Mrs. F. W. West when that speaker was complimented in turn and thanked for their help in making a successful meeting on behalf of the Women's Institutes. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.—J.

District Convention At Belfast

One of the best meetings that have been held in the Belfast hall for a long time that is from both an entertaining and educational point of view was attended by many on Tuesday evening August 10th when the 10th annual District Convention of the Belfast Women's Institute was held. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the Eldon ladies and different kinds of handicraft were on display. The night was one of the hottest of the summer and although the hall was crowded each member on the programme was received with the best attention Mrs. C. H. Johnson District President, presided, the meeting opened with O Canada followed by a sing-song. The evening musical numbers of the Institute members also a duet by two of the Legion members and a solo by one of them also. The first guest speaker was Dr. E. D. John-

MIGRATORY BIRD REGULATIONS

Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper appeared a letter signed "Sportsman" wondering who was responsible for the new regulations. I cannot say just who it is but it was certainly some one who knew the need or they would not have been made. The less than one per cent of our population who call themselves sportsmen have had their ininnings and have decimated the game population long enough. We are glad that our authorities are beginning to recognize the fact that our game belongs to all hands in equal shares and not to a few greedy individuals. We believe that a large majority of our people are well satisfied that at last there is a movement on foot, to save a remnant of our bird population. I am Sir, etc., NON-SHOOTER.

Free Legal Aid

of the community is a mockery of justice," declared Mr. Brewin. "It is the obligation of the junior bar to make an effort to meet the needs of poorer people and, with the support of the bar as a whole, we may hope to achieve a workable scheme of providing such free legal aid."

The difficulty of the scheme was to distinguish between poor persons, between those really deserving of assistance and those who able to pay or who, while unable to pay, would waste the time of lawyers with imaginary or trifling grievances.

The association heard a paper on corporate law in France from Maitre Jacques Charpenier of Paris, who represents the French Bar at the convention. Mr. Charpenier outlined various features of this branch of French law which differed from the laws of other countries.

At the end of his address Maitre Charpenier was made an honorary member of the association on motion of Arthur Vallee, K. C. of Montreal, seconded by Hon. Newton W. Rowell, Chief Justice of Ontario.

The committee on administration of criminal justice discussed a number of proposed amendments to the criminal code. One of those approved for submission to the Minister of Justice was a proposal that waiver of the right of appeal in criminal cases be abolished.

In some cases, it was pointed out, accused persons waived their right to appeal without realizing the consequences and found themselves sentenced to long terms in prison with no chance of appeal where they had real grounds for appeal.

The committee on the administration of civil justice approved a report recommending changes in the judges act to enable judges with long service to retire voluntarily on adequate pensions but after retirement to be barred from active practice of law and to remain on call, if competent and willing, for service on the bench in case of need.
