REPORT MRS. HETTY GREEN CONFIRMED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Hetty Green, according to a report here today, was confirmed by Bishop Edwin Lines of the Newark diocese in the rectory of the Holy Cross Protestant Episcopal Church, Claremont and Arlington avenues, Jersey City, Sunday. It was said the ceremony had been performed privately because of the publicity Mrs. Green received when she was baptised in the same church last July. Mrs. Green could not be found.

STRIKING GARMENT WORKERS SEEK TO CALL OUT 200,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Drenched by a rain which soaked through their clothing, 7,000 pickets from the ranks of the striking garment workers took up their stations to-day around the garment factories. At some of the plants private detectives employed by the owners attempted to drive off the sentries, but the pickets stuck to their posts. "Emisaries are at work among the operatives in the women's garment industry urging a strike, which, if called, would swell the ranks of the idle men and women to 200,000 and tie up for the first time the white goods industry in this city. Ballotting on a strike in the women's garment industry will begin Wednesday, and leaders declared to-day that they look for an overwhelming majority in favor of a strike. One hundred and ten thousand operatives were idle to-day.

FIFTH AVENUE'S HOMES BESIEGED BY SUFFRAGISTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Suffragist history was made here when the embattled butlers of upper Fifth avenue were besieged by suffragist bellies who sought to carry to the unregenerate masters and mistresses of the twenty-ninth assembly district the suffragist gospel.

There were suffragists to the right of the butlers, suffragists to the left of them and suffragists before them.

But of one thing they made sure. No suffragist got behind them into the sacred society of their masters and mistresses.

It was Mrs. Clifford Brokaw's butler who had the greatest shock. He had informed Miss Klatschen that Mrs. Brokaw was out, and had accepted one of the 39-cent-per-hundred cards without showing signs of apology. But when the caller tried to give him a suffrage leaflet he cried out: "Oh, Caesar, if I did that I'd lose my place!"

"MONTAGUE IN DARKNESS.—Owing to ice in the water-wheel at the electric light station Montague was in darkness last night. This darkness has reigned several times during the last few months and is everything else but agreeable to the light patrons. It is to be hoped that a remedy will be found soon. The recent snowstorm has put the wheel out of commission at least for a while.—B.

"PARIS, Jan. 8.—Although it is officially denied that the young Czarevitch, whose illness has caused worldwide concern, has reached Mentone on the Riviera, preparations to receive him have been made. He is coming to the Riviera to complete his convalescence.

His arrival at Mentone has been delayed by the necessity to take every precaution for his safety. It is known that about 150 police are now on duty at Mentone. Of this number the St. Petersburg authorities sent forty of their best detectives and the Russian department of the Paris police twenty. The others were supplied by the prince of Monaco's French special Riviera police and the Italian police.

The supervision and expenses of watching over the Czarevitch are estimated at 38,000 francs—$3,600 per day.

BOSTON MERGED IN DARKNESS AN HOUR.

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—Boston had a weird hour of darkness this morning from 8.30 to 9.40. It was caused by a combination of heavy clouds, fog, smoke, high temperature and absence of wind.

Clouds, dark and thick, swept over the city, completely obscuring the sun. Lights in all business houses were turned on at Washington and Tremont street, with the stores aglow, looked as though it were 5 or 6 o'clock in the evening.

In a drug store on Tremont street "Who was it that predicted the world would come to an end in 1913?"

The question started several women but their fright was only temporary. "Good evening," was the common salutation on the street.

Down the harbor the atmosphere was so dense one could not see more than fifty feet. Vessels made their way slowly, constantly blowing their whistles.

The weather man in the Federal building was asked what the matter was. He replied: "Oh, it is simply a combination of clouds, fog and smoke. There hasn't been wind enough to clear it away. Don't be frightened. It will not last long. It will be somewhat cloudy all day, but not as bad as it was shortly before 9 o'clock."

With reference to the food furnished, Mr. Doutré investigated the matter yesterday. "I tell you frankly," he said, "they have a greater variety of food than I have at home and a better service than that of any firemen in the Merchant Marine."

The demand for additional men was made by the firemen, backed up by the Firemen's Union, Mr. Doutré said, because of the conditions existing on the Minto, "but," he continued, "if the Minto is overmanned through an oversight, that is no reason why we should fill all the government steamers with firemen."

Mr. Doutré, Commander Thompson and Mr. Ferguson, were quite frank in their discussion of the whole situation. Many misleading statements had been made, they contended, with reference to the matter and they were therefore all the more anxious that the situation should be thoroughly understood by the people. "The Department had no desire to use the men unfairly and for that reason had ordered a thorough investigation. The result of this investigation will be submitted on their return to Ottawa and the matter adjusted in the best interests of all concerned."

INVESTIGATION OF FIREMEN'S STRIKE

To investigate the matter within a few days, he being then away from Ottawa on other business. Just on the eve of his coming the Department was notified that if the demand was not granted immediately the men would go out on strike. Letters were also received at the same time from the Agent, and from Messrs. Nicholson and McLean urging an immediate adjustment of the matter.

In view of the urgency of the case the Agent at this juncture, on his own responsibility, agreed to put on the extra men demanded, temporarily, until the arrival of Mr. Ferguson. This, however, the men refused to accept. They demanded a permanent arrangement.

What followed this Guardian readers already know. The men struck on Saturday and remained in port till Sunday at 2 p. m. when the trouble was fixed up, temporarily at least.

Next as to the justice of the firemen's demand. "As a matter of fact," said Mr. Doutré, they are not entitled to the extra help demanded. From a memorandum he gave the following figures: In January 1912 the total time steamed by the Earl Grey was 101 7/8 hours 42 minutes, making in all 27 trips, or an average steaming per day of 3 hours and 20 minutes. In February she steamed 37 hours, 35 minutes, in March 11 hours, 35 minutes and in April 72 hours till she went aground.

Now as to comparisons. The Northumberland, with 12 furnaces has five firemen; the Empress has the same, 12 furnaces and five firemen; the Minto has 12 furnaces and 13 firemen; the Earl Grey has 18 furnaces and, before the strike, 24 firemen. They demand 9 additional men making 33 in all, or nearly two men for every furnace while the Minto has a little over one man to a furnace and the Northumberland and Empress have over two furnaces to be attended by each fireman. "The Department," continued Mr. Doutré, "naturally considering the firemen's demand unreasonable wanted to make a thorough investigation; hence our present visit."

Mr. Doutré, continuing, said that the taking on of the nine additional firemen necessitated the taking of the steamer's second class passengers' quarters to provide sleeping accommodation for the firemen, the former contingent of 24 men occupying even more space than had been set apart for that purpose. "As a matter of fact," he remarked, "the steamer is now so full of firemen that one set of men must get out of bed to let the next ones in."

As a result of the overcrowding by firemen the second-class passengers have now to be accommodated in the quarters reserved for first-class passengers to the great discomfort of both.

With reference to the food furnished, Mr. Doutré investigated the matter yesterday. "I tell you frankly," he said, "they have a greater variety of food than I have at home and a better service than that of any firemen in the Merchant Marine."

WILSON HAS SPENT $1000 IN POSTAGE SINCE NOMINATION.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 8.—Woodrow Wilson has spent more than $1,000 in postage on letters he has sent out since his nomination for the Presidency, according to figures compiled today by his secretary, Joseph Tully. This compilation was made following the suggestion in Washington that the postal franking privilege be extended to the President-elect. Mr. Wilson has replied to every letter he has received, save those obviously from cranks, and it is estimated he has signed his name to correspondence about 50,321 times. When he was in Bermuda the President-elect was compelled both to write and sign his letters, as his secretary was not with him. The President-elect's correspondence is increasing daily.

AUTOS KILL 221 IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Five hundred and thirty-two persons were killed in accidents in the streets of New York during 1912, according to the report of the National Highways Protective Society. Two hundred and thirty of the victims were children. Of the children killed 108 were run over by automobiles. Of the total number killed 221 were killed by automobiles. Trolleys killed thirty-eight children and ninety-eight adults.

The total number of injured during the same period was 2,363. Of those injured, autos were responsible for 1,342; trolleys caused injury to 704, and wagons seriously injured 1317. Slight injuries due to wagons frequently are not reported, whereas all accidents are reported when due to automobiles and trolleys.

The report of accidents in the State of New York in the streets and highways for the year of 1912 shows that 234 persons met their deaths outside of the city of New York. Autos caused the death of 127; wagons caused twenty-eight, and trolleys seventy-nine.

The railroad grade crossing accidents on Long Island shows a decrease of 50 per cent., but throughout the state now show an increase. One hundred and seven are killed and 127 injured, as against eighty-eight and 108 seriously injured in 1911.

The comparison of 1912 as against 1911 for the accidents shows that 423 persons were killed in 1911, as against 532 in 1912. Of the increase the automobile accidents increased 38 per cent.

HELEN FRICK GIVES PARTY TO 200.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Miss Helen Clay Frick, daughter of Henry Clay Frick, was hostess at the biggest theatre party ever given by an individual in Pittsburgh. Two hundred debutants, escorts and chaperones filled all the boxes and some of the parquets at the Alvin tonight and witnessed "When Buntly Pulls the Strings."

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 7.—The Russian imperial crown prince Alexis and his father, the Emperor Nicholas, attended this afternoon the distribution of gifts from the Christmas tree of the Cosacks of the body-guard at the palace of Tsarskoe-Selo. This was the crown prince's first public appearance since his illness and disposed of the reports that he had been sent to the south of France.

The crown prince, who is eight years old displayed complete satisfaction in the distribution of the gifts to the soldiers, who also were greatly delighted.

The little prince's four sisters and his aunt, the Grand duchess Olga, assisted him, but the empress was absent from the celebration.

The crown prince was driven from the palace to the barracks a journey of ten minutes, in bleak weather and a drizzling rain, and this is taken as indicating that the convalescence of the heir to the throne has reached such an advanced stage that exposure is no longer feared.
