

Heart Palpitation
Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Domatville, Alta., writes: "Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down."

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS

AUDIENCE IMPRISONED WHILE FIRE RAGES

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 29. — Several hundred patrons of the Victoria Theatre, a motion-picture house in the business district of this city, were imprisoned in the place tonight for more than an hour while fire was raging in the Conlon Block, next door. The fire caused a loss estimated at $250,000.

As the feature picture on the evening bill was nearing the end, an excited passer-by rushed into the theatre shouting "Fire." The manager of the place, George Woods, went on the stage and calmed the 500 patrons who then began to file in orderly manner to the exit. They were turned back, however, because of the fire raging next door, and remained in the place until the "all out" was sounded.

Although the heat in the building was extreme, there was no smoke, and the audience suffered little discomfort.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. FREDERICK H. HORNE

The passing of another old and highly respected resident, was chronicled yesterday, in the death of Mr. Frederick Holley Horne, at his home, 257 Queen Street, Sunday night at eleven o'clock.

Mr. Horne had reached the advanced age of 83, he having been born at Winsloe Dec. 18th 1844, the son of the late Edmund Horne. Deceased was one of the leading progressive farmers of the Province, always interested in the advancement of his community, and working for its welfare, in church and state. He was an ardent Conservative and did faithful work for his party, at all times taking a keen interest in political life. He was on several occasions High Sheriff of Queens County and conducted his office with integrity. He was the very soul of honor and died respected by all classes and creeds. And "after 123 years fitful fever he sleeps well."

He will be greatly missed in the home circle for although in ill health for the past ten years his interest in his family never waned and at the last he was surrounded by his loved ones.

He was a member of St. Johns Episcopal Church, Milton, and St. Paul's Church, Charlottetown, and will be laid to rest in the Milton cemetery on Wednesday, funeral leaving the house at 1:45 p. m. for St. Paul's Church, where service will be held, commencing at 2 p. m.

The late Mr. Horne, whose wife (Elizabeth Jane Heartz) predeceased him fourteen years ago, leaves to mourn the loss of a loving father, three daughters, Mrs. Isaac Holman, Mrs. Charles Taper, Mrs. Jonathan West, all of Charlottetown; two brothers, John Horne in Charlottetown, and Henry Horne on the homestead at Winsloe; also two sisters, Mrs. John Burrows, Transvaal, South Africa, and Mrs. John Coles, Strasburg, Sask.

The Guardian joins in sincerest sympathy to the bereaved.

Presentation To Miss Carrie Haslam

A very pleasant social gathering took place in Prince Street School yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a farewell in honor of Miss Carrie Haslam who is retiring from the staff after a long and valued service.

Quite a number of invited guests were present including the members of the School Board and their wives, who were received by the guest of honor, Miss Haslam, Miss Vickerson and Miss Irving and Principal Rogers.

The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and an impromptu program was presided over by Mr. Rogers consisting of an instrumental duet by Misses Watson and Sterns, Reading, Miss Jacqueline Macdonald, solo, Mrs. Lawson, accompanied by Miss Tait, piano solo Miss L. McKenzie.

Principal Rogers after some very complimentary remarks on the fine work done by Miss Haslam and expressing the deep regret of all in losing her as a fellow teacher, presented her on behalf of the staff, with a beautiful Bridge lamp, speeches were also made by Mr. Henry Smith, Mr. L. L. Shaw, Mr. James Paton, Supt. H. H. Shaw, Mr. J. P. Gordon, Mr. C. H. B. Longworth and Major McNutt.

Miss Haslam gracefully acknowledged the gift and spoke most feelingly of the pleasant relations which had always existed between herself and the other teachers.

Regret was generally expressed over the departure of Miss Haslam, whose successful work has been much appreciated by the Principal and School Board. Miss Stewart leaves Thursday for Montreal where she has accepted a position.

Refreshments were then served by the teachers, Mrs. R. H. Rogers cutting the ices, Miss Helen Jamieson and Miss Dorothy Hutcheson were welcomed to the staff.

After the singing of "They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne" farewells were said and good wishes extended.

"Oh, Baby!" Opens At Prince Edward Theatre

Funny, amusing, gay, rollicking! These and any other adjectives at the critic's command must be summoned to describe the mirth-provoking elements that go to make up the side-splitting comedy, "Oh, Baby!" which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward.

"Oh, Baby!" is released by Universal. It marks the screen debut of little Billy, diminutive vaudeville star who is supported by Madge Kennedy, Creighton Hale, Ethel Shannon, Flora Finch and David Butler. The story was written and directed by Harley Knoles with the screen adaptation credited to Arthur Hoerl.

The tiny actor is a born comedian who might well earn the pseudonym of the miniature Chaplin. His performance sparkles with wit and pep from opening scene to final fade-out within the boundaries of which he is before the camera most of the time.

At the outset we see him as a prize-fight manager who when viewed with his gigantic and muscular boxers, appears as the reincarnation of Tom Thumb. Charley, one of his sporting friends, comes to him with a hard luck story. He needs a wife and an eight-year-old daughter, immediately, to win the million dollar inheritance of a wealthy old aunt who has demanded that he bring his family to visit her.

To carry out the hoax Charley persuades Little Billy to impersonate his daughter, Evangeline, while a magazine writer who is interviewing the prize-fight manager consents to pose as wife to his worried friend.

From this point the complications descend upon Billy thick and fast. Luring little curls and the arena in a little pink silk dress and wig of chief enters the home of Aunt Phoebe. Her beautiful companion, Miss Bond, cuddles and pets him and insists on arranging a child's party. This and other embarrassing moments rain swiftly upon the head of Little Billy who is dying to smoke a long black cigar and is worried sick for fear he will not be back at Madison Square Garden to coach his fighter to victory.

The entire development of the story is one that will delight all lovers of laughter. It is a screaming success every inch of the way. Madge Kennedy as the interviewer, Creighton Hale as distressed Charley, Flora Finch as Aunt Phoebe, Ethel Shannon as her beautiful companion and David Butler as Jim Strong, the victorious fighter, all give excellent accounts of their parts.

In respect to story, treatment and acting, "Oh, Baby!" is the last word in corking entertainment.

Lloyd Hamilton in "Jolly Tars" also provided many laughs. Same program today afternoon and evening.

McTigue Wants to Fight Sharkey

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. —Mike McTigue has moved to capitalize his sensational four round triumph over Paul Berlenbach by offering to fight Jack Sharkey of Boston in Tex Rickard's heavyweight championship tournament. Rickard's efforts to clinch the match for February 25, the date on which the Boston heavyweight has contracted to meet Berlenbach, struck a snag, however, when Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, demurred.

Rickard said that he considered McTigue had established himself as a strong heavyweight contender in spite of the fact that he scaled only 169 pounds.

McTigue made complimentary remarks on the fine work done by Miss Haslam and expressing the deep regret of all in losing her as a fellow teacher, presented her on behalf of the staff, with a beautiful Bridge lamp, speeches were also made by Mr. Henry Smith, Mr. L. L. Shaw, Mr. James Paton, Supt. H. H. Shaw, Mr. J. P. Gordon, Mr. C. H. B. Longworth and Major McNutt.

Miss Haslam gracefully acknowledged the gift and spoke most feelingly of the pleasant relations which had always existed between herself and the other teachers.

Regret was generally expressed over the departure of Miss Haslam, whose successful work has been much appreciated by the Principal and School Board. Miss Stewart leaves Thursday for Montreal where she has accepted a position.

Refreshments were then served by the teachers, Mrs. R. H. Rogers cutting the ices, Miss Helen Jamieson and Miss Dorothy Hutcheson were welcomed to the staff.

If You Feed For Beef

You want to shorten your feeding period. You want to crowd the cattle, keeping their appetites keen, so they will make the most gain possible on every bushel of feed.

You want them to have a finish and a "bloom" that will bring top prices. You can accomplish these results by feeding Dried Beet Pulp.

A great feed for FATTENING HOGS quickly for market.

The Value of Dried Beet Pulp

The great value of Dried Beet Pulp lies in the fact that it is the only practical feed that meets fully the vital necessity we have seen for a bulky, palatable and succulent feed.

You have only to watch the cattle eat Dried Beet Pulp just once to appreciate how palatable it is. They take it ravenously. The like it because it is a natural vegetable food. Even while in the pasture, they will eat Dried Beet Pulp with great relish and when deprived of green food, they do not suffer in health or fall off in milk production, if a suitable proportion of Dried Beet Pulp is included in their ration. In fact, surprising though it may seem, cows often shrink in their milk when deprived of their Dried Beet Pulp and turned out to pasture.

TURNIPS will be high in price this Spring. Sell your Turnips and Feed an excellent substitute which is Beet Pulp and you will save money.
