At the Rotary luncheon yesterday the speaker was Mr. W. Reagh Tinney, Secretary of the Prince Edward Island Tourist Association. He gave an interesting address on Some Phases of the Tourist work on Prince Edward Island. At the outset he spoke of the circumstances leading to the formation of such an association. He said that the financial returns of the tourist traffic, in other provinces (for example Nova Scotia and New Brunswick) reported a combined revenue of ten million dollars, whilst not a cent of revenue had been reported from the Island aroused our people to need of action. In 1923 Canada reported $13,600,000 revenue from tourist revenue with the amount figuring at a minus quantity. In the face of this, steps were taken to secure some of the revenue, and accordingly the Island tourist association was formed in November, 1923. It is not expected to reap golden returns in the matter of a few months, but to lay a solid foundation for future success.

"We have succeeded this year both beyond our expectations, said Mr. Tinney.

The speaker dwelt on the value of tourist traffic in the way of a business proposition. A small exultive and a permanent secretary can manage a business running into millions of dollars. The stock and trade cost nothing. The tourist business is the only one that cannot go bankrupt. We are merely selling the idea and improve on customers that no province in Canada is so ideally situated as a tourist resort as Prince Edward Island. This country we are selling is a restful holiday and our supply is inexhaustible.

He enumerated the aims of the association, first to bring tourists here, and to care for them during their stay. He referred to the criticism of the association for encouraging old home travel. He believed that the old home travel is worth just as much to the province and more, and more, to the city, than the average guest who has never visited before. As a rule he leaves far more money, and equivalent of his board with his relatives, and in many cases takes several of the family to the city merchant for a complete outfit of clothing.

Oregon now and, believe me, it's one of the best little spots on God's green footstool."
