THE ESKIMO.

He is an industrious Chap Who Deserves a Helping Hand.

The natives of Alaska are a fast dwindling race. Their sun is setting.

Most of the Eskimos in Alaska are gathered at the missions, but the traveler will find a few in villages of two or three or half a dozen igloos in places convenient for fishing.

But the higher race is not responsible for all this. The missionary state in which they live is not conducive to longevity.

The Eskimo has some qualities of character to be admired. He has often shared his last bit of food with starving people.

A New Machine Gun. A new machine gun, invented by a young soldier named Eugene Dumortier of the One Hundred and Forty-fifth Infantry Regiment.

HE WASN'T JEALOUS.

But From What He Said There Was Something Wrong.

Characters: Guy Fenton, engaged to Miss Grey. Mrs. Grey (her mother).

Scene: Inside a carriage, driving home from a dance.

Time: 2:30 a. m. Miss Grey sits opposite Fenton with a bouquet of flowers on her knee.

Mrs. Grey leans back in the corner asleep.

Guy—Delightful, was it not? Good floor, excellent supper and any number of pretty girls.

Ethel—I didn't enjoy it. Guy (sarcastically)—Indeed! Not even while dancing with Captain Hill?

Appearances are sometimes deceptive. Ethel—I was bored more than you can guess.

Guy—And yet you seem to have found his conversation sufficiently engaging to keep him by your side most of the evening.

Ethel (flushing)—I never wish to see or speak to Captain Hill again.

Guy (wildly)—Even supposing Captain Hill proved unsatisfactory, you didn't appear to be in want of partners.

Ethel (dolefully)—The man I wished to dance with forgot to ask me, and (passionately) surely one has a right to expect one's fiancé to claim at least one dance.

That was why—Guy (interrupting savagely)—Your engagement sits so lightly on you that I am not at all surprised.

You insisted on carrying another man's flowers. I therefore gave you the opportunity of enjoying his society as well as his gift.

(The flowers fall to the ground and Fenton, handing them to Miss Grey, says ironically.)

"I hope they are not hurt, as you prize them so highly."

Ethel (defiantly)—I didn't value them. You can throw them out of the window if you wish.

Guy (interrupting savagely)—Your enworld. You must keep them as a souvenir of happy hours spent.

Ethel (tearfully)—Oh, won't you understand that I only insisted on carrying them because they matched this gown you are so fond of?

(Tableau.) —Bottle Newgass in New Orleans Picayune.

Asks Pardon. Warden—He was the coolest and most thoughtful convict that ever broke jail.

Jonkins—That so? Warden—Yes. He left behind him a note to the governor of the state beginning, "I hope you will pardon me for the liberty I'm taking."

The Dentist Was Kind. "Did the dentist hurt you much, Elsie?" asked the mother solicitously.

"Yes, mamma," replied the small girl. "But he was very nice every time he did."

"Very nice? How do you mean?" "Why, he always said 'Ouch!' before I could."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Sunshine Furnace Flues Easily Cleaned. Cleaning out the flues of most furnaces is so difficult and complicated that only an expert can do it, and experts' services usually come high. The flues in the Sunshine Furnace can be cleaned from two different clean-out doors and from the feed-door, so that there is no part of the flues which is not easily reached. A special brush for this purpose is always supplied, and the operation is so simple that a boy can perform it. The whole Sunshine Furnace construction is on the same plan of simplicity. Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for booklet. McClary's LONDON, TORONTO, MONTREAL, WINNIPEG, VANCOUVER, ST. JOHN, N. B.
