House Approves Family Allowances Bill

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—By a recorded vote of 136 to none, the Commons passed the family allowances bill on second reading late today.

There was no demand for a vote from the opposition but Mr. King and the government insisted on a recorded division.

"When Gordon Graydon Progressive Conservative house leader, voted for the bill there was a burst of applause from the Liberal benches.

"And that goes for John Bracken, too," said Mr. Graydon.

Yanks Opening Road To Inland France

By JAMES M. LONG

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, July 28 (AP)—Two evening U. S. tank columns smashed into the northern edge of Coutances today and a third launched southwestward to within 18 miles of Avranches at the western base of the Cotentin Peninsula in a drive threatening to cave in all the enemy's western Normandy defences and open a route to inland France.

As suicide squads fought back from doomed Coutances—once the western Normandy transport hub of the enemy—squadrons of dive-bombers hammered columns of the fleeing enemy on the road south, littering it with burning hulks of wrecked equipment.

Mount Carmel Man Is Fatally Injured On Road

Mr. Joseph Gallant, 68-year-old man from Mount Carmel died at the Prince County Hospital at St. James' last night from injuries received when he fell from a road grading machine earlier in the day.

It was believed that the man's neck was fractured. Few details of the accident were available immediately.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police are investigating and an inquest will be held this morning.

From information available it appeared that the accident occurred when Mr. Gallant was a member of a road working crew and fell from the rear of a road grading machine as it moved along the road. He was conscious when picked up but died after an operation in hospital.

His wife is dead. Surviving are a son and three daughters. The son is Gus Gallant at home with two daughters, Bernice and Madeline are also at home and the daughter Mrs. D. Arsenault lives at Skemont Bay—S

Howe Warns Against Anthracite Shortage

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP)—Minister of National Health and Welfare, James G. Gardiner, today warned in a statement that unless householders co-operate by placing orders immediately they run a "serious risk" of being without fuel when cold weather begins, and said "substantially less" United States and Welsh anthracite has been received in Canada since the beginning of April as compared with the corresponding period of last year.

The Minister said it will be necessary for householders to burn substitute fuels, and to make up the shortage of anthracite, at least in part the government had arranged to provide additional supplies of coal for Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces.

Householders in these provinces should order "coke" for at least a portion of their class "A" fuel needs while the additional limited supplies of coke are still available, Mr. Howe said. For the balance of their requirements such householders will have to depend on soft coal.

(Class "A" fuel includes U. S. anthracite larger than No. 1 buck-wheat, Welsh anthracite larger than blower size, low volatile bituminous screened sizes larger than pea coke, and sizes larger than pea, bouillottes, and petroleum coke in household sizes)

Beer Ration In N. S. Is Reduced

HALIFAX, July 28 (CP)—The Nova Scotia liquor commission announced tonight that beginning Monday the beer ration in this province will be reduced for a four-week period from three ounces a month to two dozen cans. The commission's brief statement gave no reason for the reduction but presumably it was the result of the heavy demand for beer during the recent hot weather.

War Situation Last Night

By Kirk L. Simpson, Associated Press War Analyst

The American ground-air attack in Normandy has reached out to do more than snap shut the Cotentin pocket on remnants of a German army corps trapped against the sea. It is within sight of cracking open the Avranches gateway to Brittany, a logical next step in general Eisenhower's developing invasion offensive.

No Prosecutions Says St. Laurent

Hitler's Balkan Front May Collapse Soon

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today faced the growing possibility of a collapse on his Balkan front.

Heavy censured reports from Ankara indicate that Turkey may be about to break relations with the Nazis, a move which not only would cut off all Hitler's economic and spy activities in the near east, but which might quickly lead to war.

At the same time, Ankara said that Bulgaria is negotiating with the Allies to set out of the war.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., acting United States secretary of state, said he had no information on such talks, but expert observers here were not surprised at the dispatch. Bulgaria has been sitting shakily on the Axis side of the fence with one foot tossed over the top, by virtue of maintaining peaceful relations with Russia.

Now that the Red army has pushed into Rumania, a second Turkish move towards the United Nations camp would leave Bulgaria virtually encircled.

Reports that Turkey was considering new steps against the Axis have been current for several days, and declare that the Turkish Ambassador to Berlin has been recalled to Ankara made a break with the Nazis seem imminent.

The German Ambassador Fritz von Papen left his post in Ankara two weeks ago to report on the situation to Berlin.

How soon Turkey would be likely to enter hostilities after a break with the Nazis is a matter of conjecture, depending on Berlin's reaction. However, if Turkey clearly abandons strict neutrality, German forces in the whole Balkan Peninsula would be endangered.

Greece could be turned into a strategic trap for the Nazis, hemmed between the Allies in Italy and tottering Bulgaria.

Measure Is Supported By Whole House

In a long speech winding up the debate, Mr. King portrayed the enactment of the measure as the culmination of a campaign for social reform begun by himself as a young man, served notice that a general election will be held before the end of the war, if the war does not end soon, and lashed out at government critics who, he said, sought to stir up prejudice as between the rest of Canada and the Province of Quebec.

Maritime Convention Of Gyro Clubs Closes

The propagation of friendship, not only among individuals but among nations as well, was the keynote of International Gyro President Frank Nightingale's brief address given at the Gyro banquet last night in the Charlottetown Hotel.

This keynote was further amplified by Dr. J. A. MacMillan, President of the Charlottetown Gyro Club, who was the chief speaker at the dinner.

Dr. MacMillan devoted some time to answering the criticism that no social organization should waste either time or money in holding conventions while the world is at war. War, the speaker emphasized, is caused by misunderstandings developing into hatred and he asked the question: "If all persons in the world were good Gyros, could ever the seed of hate be sown in the world?"

Dr. MacMillan went on to state that all Gyros were under the solemn obligation to cultivate friendship with all "irrespective of race, colour, or creed."

His concluding remarks were greeted with warm applause.

The new slate of officers for Gyro District No. 4 are: David MacDonald, Halifax, President and Chairman of Executive Council; Frank Clark, Campbellton, N. B., Lieut.-Governor; and Frank Axworthy, Moncton, Secretary-Treasurer.

Several presentations were made at the dinner. The most notable trophy, given to the club which travels the most aggregate miles on its way to a Convention, was won by the Halifax Club. Charlottetown won last year at Digby, N. S. The presentation was responded to by Leslie Atkinson, President, Halifax Club.

The club bulletin was won by the Campbellton Club and the presentation responded to by Gordon MacMillan.
