WARSAW, July 20, (Special)—A veritable murder den has been discovered in the village of Kurdio, in the Novoye Ladoga Government. It was remarked that of a large number of men who visited a house on the outskirts of the village tenanted by a peasant woman named Ivanova Tamarin and her seventeen-year-old daughter Olga, not one was seen to return, and the discovery of corpses mutilated beyond recognition in a neighboring wood led to the house being surrounded by a force of gendarmes under Colonel Vassilief.

The woman and her daughter were secured after a violent resistance, and a search of the houses resulted in the gruesome discovery of twenty-seven corpses in a storehouse, as well as a great number of watches, purses, and other articles of value and a quantity of male garments.

The eating room of the house was furnished with a trap door through which the victims were precipitated into the cellar.

In the latter murderous instruments and fetters of all sorts were found.

The woman confessed to being at the head of a band which, during recent months, had robbed and murdered forty men who had been conveyed to the house by Olga, and mentioned thirty other peasants belonging to the band who were also arrested, while nine others escaped.
