Island Breeder Wins Many Prizes At St. John Show

(Special to The Guardian

ST. JOHN, Sept. 6.— Judging in the cattle division was begun yesterday, the Ayrshires and Shorthorns being the breeds passing under the judge's eye. Some excellent specimens of both breeds were shown and competition was very keen. In the Ayrshire class, McIntyre Bros., of Sussex had things practically their own way, George Boswell of French Fort, P. E. I., being the runner up in most cases. John Ritson of Truro, who was expected to furnish the principal opposition to McIntyre Bros., was unable to come this year. In the Shorthorn class the big winner was A. S. Etter of Amherst, but the herd of P. R. L. Fairweather, Rothesay ran him a close second

Mr. Boswell won the following prizes in the Ayrshire class:

More Trouble In Cape Breton

(Special to The Guardian.)

SYDNEY, Sept. 6.— The coal strike is no sooner over than the British Empire Steel Corporation has another difficulty on its hands. The strike of the railwaymen of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company and the Dominion Iron and Steele Co, which has now been in progress for over 22 months culminated this morning in a complete tie-up of the Scotia Collieries shipping piers and railways. When the coal strike was on, the twenty- five non-union men who, since the beginning of the rail strike two years ago have been taking the places of the regular railwaymen were sent out of town by coal strikers pickets. They were told never to return and they gave promises to this effect. This morning when the shippers and trimmers at the coal piers came to work they found that the same-non-union train crews, who had evidently kept under cover during the strike were back in charge of the trains. The shippers would not go back to work, refusing to handle any coal brought from the mines by non-union train crews. The shippers and trimmers taking the initiative, the miners followed.

Mrs. Mary Davis, of Cambridge had her right wrist fractured. Her daughter, Catherine, 12 and August himself escaped with bruises.

Look Now For World Disarmament

(Special to The Guardian.)

GENEVA, Sept 6—Sentiment for world wide disarmament is so strong among the nations attending the third general assembly of the League of Nations that the meeting might be considered a second armament conference seeking a way to extend the work begun in Washington nearly a year ago to every corner of the globe.

British Govt Makes Proposal

PARIS, Sept. 6.— The French Government today received through the British Embassy, a note from the British Government requesting consideration of the possibility of taking steps to bring about an armistice between the Greeks and Turks. The French replied in a note sent by the Foreign Office this afternoon.

Although the terms of the notes excanged were not disclosed, it is inferred from the promptness of the French reply that an agreement between the two Governments will rapidly be reached.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.— The Allies appear to be agreed that it is necessary for them to land naval and infantry forces in Asiatic Turkey for the protection of their nationals and to maintain order.

From the way operations are being conducted there is no expectation that the Turks will permit the Greeks time for a breathing spell.

An order of the day issued by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, which has just been received here, after congratulating the Turkish army on its spirit and sacrifices, concludes as follows:

"We must face other battles. You will show the traditional endurance and bravery in which the Nation takes pride. Your next move must be Smyrna."

With the arrival of reinforcements from Greece the Greeks are confident that they will be able to dispute the advance of the Turks.

Britain's Policy Toward India To Remain Unchanged

(Special to The Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept 6—The viceroy of India, the Earl of Reading, in opening the session of the council of state and the Indian legislative assembly, emphatically reiterated that there would be no change in the policy of his majesty's government towards India, according to a Reuter despatch from Simla.

If there was any shadow of doubt on that point, he reminded the members, it must surely have been dispelled by the statement which Premier Lloyd George had authorized him to make in reference to the former's recent speech in the House of Commons in which he said that India would require the services of the civil service staff for an indefinite period.

The Earl of Reading declared that certain events in Indian in the last eighteen months and malign influences which had been working to make proposed reforms a failure, had affected the British parliament and people. The viceroy appealed to both branches of the Indian legislature to continue to use their influence to guide the masses of the people in the right direction.

Saved From Being Cut to Pieces by Lumber Mill Saw

(Special to The Guardian)

NEWCASTLE, Sept 6—A fearful warning was given those who are tempted to stray from the straight course of sobriety in a narrowly averted accident at the Fraser mills on Saturday evening. The mills have been running night and day and were shut down for temporary repairs for two hours. In that interlude one of the workmen quenched his thirst with something stronger than a soft drink and when he returned to work he was drowsy. Not being particular where he took his slumbers he lay down on the chains which feed the main saw and was soon sound asleep. The mill machinery was started and the chains had carried the sleeper to within a bare inch or two of the saws when he was seen and snatched from certain death. So deep was his sleep that he did not waken when rescued and it was some time before he was informed of how close he had been to a horrible death.

Aged Guide and Trapper Confessed To Murder Of His Housekeeper

Omar Roberts, Now Held at Yarmouth to Answer Charge of Murder, Hideous in Its Detail, Admits the Act and Sets Forth How He Sprinkled the Girl With Gasoline and Set Fire to Her Clothing—Gives Jealousy as Cause of His Rash Deed.

(Special to The Guardian.)

YARMOUTH, N. S. Sept. 6. — Omar Roberts has confessed to the murder of Flora Grey. The aged guide and trapper admitted, as early as Thursday of last week, that, following the attempted assault of his nineteen year old housekeeper at his hunting lodge in Kemptville, a week ago last Monday night, he sprinkled her bed and room with gasoline and then set them afire. His statements were made to Arthur Sims, the keeper of the county jail This morning, upon the return of the crown prosecutor, R. S. McKay, from Boston, Roberts, McKay and the sheriff of the county, were closeted together for several hours and it is believed that the law officers of the crown obtained at this interview, a full statement of the crime.

Tonight, according to the jailor, the prisoner having made a clean breast of the whole affair, is resting more easily than he has at any time since his incarceration following the tragedy on Tuesday morning last. For the first few days of his imprisonment the old man neither ate nor slept and gave the appearance of being in a stupor. Wednesday evening two of his daughters came to see him and he broke down completely. The following day he attempted to say something whenever the jailor went near him, but not being encouraged to talk he held himself quiet until the evening, when, unable to contain himself any longer, he blurted out on the jailor's last round: Oh I wish someone would take me out and shoot me," and followed this up with the statement that he had committed the crime with which he was charged.

Roberts' Story.

Roberts' story, according to the statements made by the jailor tonight, differs very little from the story as pieced together at the inquest. The main facts are that Roberts was infatuated with his housekeeper, that he had proposed marriage to her and had been refused; that on the night of the tragedy, while the two were spending the evening at their neighbor's, the William Randall's, he asked her to go home with him; that she declined and walked home instead with young Ransom Randall. The old man had preceded the pair to his home and after young Randall had left the house, went to the girl's room and attempted to assault her. Having failed in his purpose, and being told by the girl that she intended telling her father, he left the room, went downstairs and got gasoline. Returning, he poured it about the room and then touched a match. The young girl thinking to escape the flames, climbed under the bed where she was found terribly burned when Roberts returned with the neighbors he had aroused.

The jailor believes, from what the prisoner told him, that Roberts twice set fire to the house. The original fire, he says, was out when help arrived. "Jealousy," is the old man's explanation of the motive which impelled him to commit the crime.

The following account of the statements made by Roberts, as published in a local newspaper this afternoon was read to the jail or this evening and he said that it constituted an accurate account of what had actually passed between the prisoner and himself.

"Omar Roberts on Thursday night said: "Oh, I wish some one would take me out and shoot me" To this his listener said, 'Oh, get out with your nonsense,' and then followed up with the statement that Clarence was all broken up. Roberts replied 'I suppose so, poor Clarence, I pity him.'

"Roberts states that Flora Grey was a good girl and that he loved her.

He had asked Flora Grey to marry him and she said she would not. He (Roberts) said he did not blame her for not wanting to marry an old man like him, but he had a good home for her.

"Roberts, asked if he went to Flora's room that night with intent to make improper advances to her, answered in the affirmative, but said he did not accomplish his purpose. Roberts said he was not going to have counsel as they would not do him any good.

Asked if he intended to plead guilty, Roberts answered 'yes, and I am guilty'

"The prisoner states that only himself and the girl were in the house on the night of the crime.

"The question was asked 'you would not try to put it on an innocent man if you could?' and he said 'no I would not for I done it myself."

"Roberts admits that his daughter was not home on Monday night. He said his daughter was jealous about a month ago and left home. He states that the crime would not have been committed if she had remained at home.

"The accused, asked if he was friendly with the Greys, said he was. 'How did you come to do this?' was asked of the aged guide, and he replied: 'it was jealousy.'

"It is known that these statements and others constituting a full confession were later communicated to the proper officials."

Tonight, upon the eve of his preliminary investigation, he was again visited by his daughters, all three being present. On this occasion, together with a grand child, a wee kiddie of three or four years, the tragedy was not referred to. The old man, fondled the child, while he told his daughters how he wished his property to be divided. Roberts' pyhsical condition has rapidly improved during the past few days, according to the jailor, although his foot, which was somewhat badly burned, is still bothering him.

Crown Prosecutor R. S. McKay said tonight that the preliminary hearing, opening tomorrow morning before Magistrate Charles S. Pelton, would proceed as originally planned. The first witness to be called would probably to Mrs. William Randall, from whose home Roberts left to commit the crime to which he has confesesd. Following Mrs. Randall would be called the witnesses necessary to reconstruct the events of the fateful night in their order.

Large Attendance At W. M. S. Meeting In Summerside

The opening session of the Maritime Women's Foreign Missions Society conference was held very successfully yesterday at Summerside, with the president Mrs Moore, of Sydney in the chair. The attendance which numbered 125, was well representative of each of the three provinces. The chief business of the morning was in receiving the reports of the different presbyterials which were upon the whole, highly encouraging.

In the afternoon formal greetings were extended to the visitors and the report of the president, the financial report and the secretary's report were read.

The work of the year was very ably reviewed and the opportunities for future missionary activities emphasized.

Corner Stone Impressively Laid

The morning of Aug 29th was an anxious time for the Presbyterians of O'Leary for on that day the Lieut Governor was to formally lay the corner stone of their new church. Not until midday did there seem to be any possibility of the ceremony taking place. However shortly before twelve the rain which had been falling in torrents all forenoon let up, the clouds broke away, the sun peeped out and the question came ringing over the phone, "Will it be or will it not?" And it was decided to proceed with the ceremony. By 2.30 o'clock, a goodly number had gathered at the church grounds and shortly before three all the requisites were ready to hand the silver trowel, suitably engraved; the corner stone, squared, polished, and dated, the little box with it's coins, papers, and records. At 3 o'clock His Honor the Lieut. Governor, with Rev. G. P. Tattrie, chairman, Rev. G. A. Christie of Alberton and Rev. H Smith of Springfield ascended the platform.

The ceremony began with the singing of "Christ is our Corner Stone on Him Alone we Build" by the choir. The scripture lesson: 1 Chron. 29: 10-18 was then read and the Apostles' creed recited. The Lieut Governor then laid the corner stone with all due formality according to the rule and custom of the Presbyterian Church. An offering was received in aid of the building fund and Miss Hunter of Alberton, favored the gathering with a solo which was much appreciated. The Lieut Governor gave a short address in which he urged a whole hearted consecration of time and money to the church and all that it stands for, because of the glorious heritage of the past, the bright prospects of the future and the deep and abiding place which the church holds in the future prosperity of our country.

Rev. Mr. Christie brought greetings and good wishes from the Presbytery, and Rev Mr Smith did the same for the Methodist Church of which he is the honoured minister at Springfield. The ceremony was then brought to a close by the choir singing "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation," and the Benediction by the chairman.

Tried To End Life In Jail

BRIDGEWATER, Sept 6— Bud Labrador, a young Indian in Bridgewater jail for drunkenness on Saturday afternoon, made two unsuccessful attempts to end his life by hanging. Only the prompt arrival of medical help saved the man's life.

Early in the afternoon he was drunk and disorderly on King street, and was promptly arrested by Constable Allison Snyder and taken to the lockup. About five o'clock a passer-by noticed him hanging from the top of the cell by his suspenders. Dr. Marshall was at once summoned, finding the man was revived and everything that he might again use to attempt his life removed from the cell.

The doctor was just on the floor above giving instructions that someone be left with the prisoner, when the young man, crazed with drink, had torn the quilt to pieces and had again tried to hang himself. He was quickly frustrated, however, and well guarded until he had sobered up and regained his proper senses at 10 o'clock, when he was allowed out on bail to appear before the magistrate Tuesday.

Labrador, a young chap about 22 years old, living in that part of the town known at Riverview, lost a leg in the war

Disaster For The Turks

(Special to The Guardian)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept 6 — A Turkish cavalry division has met disaster near the Bilejik-Brusa front. Caught between two Greek forces, it was totally wiped out.

The Turks, made careless by their successes, did not reckon with the third army corps, which had retreated unhampered in the direction of Brusa. This corps, extremely well led, was attacked by a division of Turkish cavalry west of Bilejik. The division was driven between the Greek wings and completely annihilated. The Greek military mission here made public today the following official communication:

The French cruiser Ernest Ronan has arrived here. United States destroyers are expected from Constantinople.
